Snipers' Bullet Hail Perils Four Children As Prober Escapes

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 9.—Shippen Lewis, head of Gov. Pinchot's committee investigating disorders in the Fayette coal fields, was fired on by snipers at Smock, Pa., early today.

Accompanied by State Trooper John Calhoun, the investigator had driven in an automobile to Smock about 4:30 a. m., to get first hand information about a small strike in progress there.

As the car drew near the mine plant a fusillade of shots rang out. Lewis and Calhoun turned out the lights of the car, jumped out and took refuge behind a steel garage while a hail of bullets rained nearby.

Bullets pierced two miners' homes and endangered the lives of three children in one and of a mother and baby in the other.

During a lull in the firing, Lewis and Calhoun dashed from behind the garage and took refuge in the mine office. This office was penetrated by eight or nine bullets.

Lewis and Calhoun remained there until daylight, when the bombardment ceased, and they were able to leave in safety.

The home of Charles Williams was struck by high-powered bullets, which barely missed a bed occupied by three small children. The home of Angelo Paul was also struck and Mrs. Paul and an infant barely escaped being hit.

Five suspects were taken into custody in connection with the sniping. They were Albert Sepovich, charged with carrying concealed weapons, and Steve Zrable, Patsy Pervicores, Fred Nehoke and Raymond White, charged with disorderly conduct.

Labor Quiz Dodged by Johnson

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP.) Public hearings on the controversial Wagner labor bill were closed today after Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, failed for the second time to appear to give his views on the legislation to the Senate Labor Committee.

Hearings on the legislation—to outlaw employer-dominated company unions and make permanent the National Labor Board—ended with some members of the committee expressing doubt that it would be approved at all and others predicting drastic revisions.

Senator Wagner, author of the bill, who arranged for Johnson's appearance, said he did not know why the Administrator did not show up, but expressed the opinion it was not because of reluctance to testify.

Wagner said Johnson himself had suggested the appearance and called him up last week to deny he was "dodging" the appearance.

Wagner added that he understood Johnson would support the creation of a permanent labor board, would criticise the company union movement, but would suggest some modifications in the bill.

There had been speculation as to whether Johnson would take the opportunity to testify today to answer the caustic charges of Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Governor of Pennsylvania.

She told the committee Saturday that she was for the bill because she thought it might do the NRA some good. She said:

"Gen. Johnson, eager to build up the power and wealth of Wall street, has done so at the expense of the worker and the consumer."

She called Johnson "this doughty general" and contended he had "made up his mind to make a dead letter of all the provisions in the law that protected the workers."

BANK PAYOFF MEASURE SPEEDED

Congressmen Demand Quick Action to Free Billions

(Poll bares strong sentiment for McLeod Bill in Congress. See Page 2.)

By JOHN P. COWAN
Sun-Telegraph Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Brooking no further delay by the House Banking and Currency Committee, steps were taken today to force immediate action in the McLeod bill for the 100 per cent payoff of depositors in closed banks.

Representative Carl M. Weidman (Dem.), of Michigan, circulated a petition among members of the House for the immediate discharge of the committee in the handling of the measure.

Representative Jesse P. Wolcott (Rep.), of the Seventh District, Michigan, was the first signer as the petition was placed on the Speaker's desk. Other proponents of the bill crowded to the well of the House to affix their signatures.

33 SIGN PETITION

In less than an hour 33 members had signed the proposal.

Upon obtaining 145 signers it will devolve upon the Speaker to discharge the commtitee and the bill will be brought before the House.

IRKED AT DELAY

Those who have been fighting for the McLeod bill for several days have not concealed their impatience with the repeated delays of Representative Anning S. Prail (Dem.), of New York, chairman of the sub-committee which has been holding hearings.

He promised from day to day to make a report to the Banking and Currency Committee but no action was taken, and colleagues of Representative Clarence J. McLeod (Rep.), of Michigan, au-

McLeod Measure Sound, Will Promote Justice

NOT ONLY FROM the standpoint of sound economics is the McLeod bill, now before Congress, a good bill, but there are other and perhaps more compelling reasons for its enactment into law.

The bill applies to closed banks which were members of the Federal Reserve System.

It is designed to pay these depositors the sums owed them, without putting upon the innocent depositor the burden and loss of waiting for the liquidation of the locked-up assets.

The assets, it is proposed, shall be taken over by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for orderly and unforced liquidation and thus be made to realize something approaching their true value.

Debtors to the banks will be given ample time in which to pay up, and in the meantime interest on their debts will be reduced to four per cent.

THIS IS a true reflationary step and a very sensible one.

It will restore to a great section of our people the proceeds of their labor and thrift, of which they have been deprived through no fault of their own.

It will immediately enlarge consumer demand and purchasing power, and thus broaden the recovery now under way by an immediate improvement in the credit position of the closed institutions.

But there is another viewpoint to which this bill makes strong appeal.

It is a measure of SIMPLE JUSTICE to the depositors in the closed Federal Reserve member banks of the country. It contemplates the performance by the government of what is only a PLAIN DUTY.

THE CREDIT and the ultimate financial strength of the country rest upon the money deposited in the country's banks.

If taxes are to be paid, they can only be paid from the proceeds of the labor and thrift of our people.

If the national government decides to spend money on a huge scale for national defense, or national recovery, or for the relief of the unemployed, the ONLY MONEY it can command is the money which the people have earned and saved, and hold on deposit, waiting and available for the needs and uses of the government.

The laws relating to the establishment and conduct of national banks have been written by the national government.

They are presumably enforced by the national government. They are presumably adequate to provide for the safety of deposits which are made pursuant to such laws.

The government has accepted responsibility for the safety of such deposits by the creation of departments entrusted with the supervision of banks, and by the enactment of laws for the punishment of bank officers whose conduct is incompatible with the duty of safe custodianship which the government has undertaken to enforce as well as to perform.

SUCCESSIVE Presidents by their utterances, successive Congresses by their resolutions and enactments, have taught the people to believe it UNPATRIOTIC TO HOARD their money or to WITHHOLD IT FROM DEPOSIT in the banks of the country.

The actual withdrawal of money from deposit in times of depression or diffieulty has been pictured as an offense against the common good.

The government has even sanctioned restrictions upon the right of withdrawal and has not hesitated to prohibit the owner from reclaiming what he owned.

Can it be said that such facts as these cast NO DUTY upon the government—no duty to MAKE GOOD ON ITS REPRESENTATIONS, no duty to INDEMNIFY THE INNOCENT and helpless DEPOSITOR WHO HAS RELIED UPON THESE REPRESENTATIONS, both expressed and implied, and suffered GRIEVOUS LOSS thereby.

The government is under even a broader responsibility to the depositors in the failed banks which were Federal Reserve members.

THE THOUSANDS of our closed banking institutions constitute a hideous fact to contemplate. It is in no degree mitigated by the acute business depression through which we are passing.

The collapse of the nation's fiduciary institu

BISHOP CANNON, AIDE ON TRIAL

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP.)—The religious, political and prohibition issues of the turbulent 1928 Hoover-Smith Presidential campaign became the focal point of interest today when Bishop James Cannon, Jr., went on trial on charges growing out of his efforts to defeat Alfred E. Smith.

The Southern Methodist churchman and Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of the Virginia Anti-Smith Committee, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in District of Columbia Criminal Court.

Questions immediately were prepared to be put to prospective jurors, to insure that their views on the trio of controversial subjects would not prejudice their decisions.

Cannon and Miss Burroughs are charged with violating the Corrupt Practices Act through alleged failure to report to the Clerk of the House all the contributions received for their political activities.

Third National Bank Stock Deal Held Void

High Court Orders $10,000 Be Repaid To Client

William McK. Reed, County Commissioner C. C. McGovern's successful candidate last week for the Allegheny County Authority, had no right as president of the Third National Bank to persuade a customer to mortgage his home to invest in a decrepit coffee concern, the State Supreme Court decided today.

Justice George W. Maxey wrote the decision which marked the suit's fourth appearance in court.

The court upheld the verdict of a jury in Common Pleas Court, April 1, 1933, deciding against Reed and the former Third National in the suit of Robert Emery of Dormont, for recovery of $10,000 Emery invested in the Highland Coffee Company on, he says, Reed's advice.

Reed was president of the Third National until the Mellon National Bank took it over in 1931.

VERDICT FOR EMERY

In the Common Pleas Court trial, a jury brought in a verdict of $11,587 for Emery. Emery alleged that on advice of Reed that the company was prosperous, he and his wife mortgaged their home to buy $10,000 worth of stock of the coffee company.

The company failed in 1927, although Emery says Reed had guaranteed the investment.

Representing Emery, Attorney O. K. Eaton told the jurymen:

"That the officials of this bank, knowing the company utterly worthless, knowing that they had written off $30,000 of its bonds as uncollectable, would permit a man and a woman to mortgage their home to put more money into an already defunct company is unthinkably wrong."

The bank appealed.

BANK'S DEFENSE

When he bought the stock, Emery claimed, officers of the bank, among them Reed, represented the coffee company as prosperous and self sustaining, as showing $76,000 as assets, and as owning two valuable and exclusive trademarks.

These representations, he declared, were false and known to be false by Reed and a cashier, W. W. Hamilton. They were made, Emery claimed, for the purpose of fraudulently inducing him to purchase the 500 shares of stock.

The bank presented a double defense. It claimed that the trans-

HOTEL UPHELD IN STRIKE

Receivers of the William Penn Hotel are not bound by the findings of the Regional Labor Board Federal Judge R. M. Gibson ruled today in ending the hearings on the hotel strike situation.

The Federal Court ruled that it would be up to the discretion of the receivers to rehire the hotel's striking employes.

However, Judge Gibson suggested that the receivers should rehire the hotel's former employes where possible.

William S. Moorhead, counsel for the receivers, said the hotel is willing to re-employ the strikers as rapidly as business permits, provided that the picketing ceases. The lawyer also said the receivers reserved the right to not rehire any employes who had participated in acts of violence.

Seven men and two women pickets were arrested in a parade of about a hundred strikers outside the hotel this afternoon. Police said the marchers were shouting and interfering with hotel guests.

Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall said the strikers were allowed by the court to picket with the understanding that they would be orderly.

Clash With Counsel For Alabama Group Disrupts Hearing

WASHINGTON April 9.—(AP.)—A heated dispute between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Forney Johnston, representative of Alabama commercial coal operators, caused a brief recess today in the NRA hearing on increased wages and shorter hours for miners.

Johnston, after calling the NRA order for the wage and hour changes a violation of the Recovery Act, said union representatives, during conferences with the operators leading to a wage contract, had assured the operators they had no intention of initiating another wage increase.

Lewis interrupted with the question of whether Johnston meant to imply the union had a secret understanding, apart from the contract, with the operators.

VERBAL CLASH

Johnston denied making such an implication.

Lewis persisted. Johnston repeated:

"I made no such statement."

Lewis countered:

"You implied it."

"I did not."

"Then withdraw it."

"I implied nothing and withdraw nothing."

At this point Blackwell Smith, of the NRA legal division, interrupted the debate and asked the witnesses to confine themselves to direct statements of fact.

Lewis then asked the chair to instruct the witness not to make any "nasty, foul implications." The recess then was ordered.

Johnston led the attack on NRA's order raising miners' wages and cutting their hours with an assertion the order threw the Alabama situation into "inextricable chaos."

The first to testify at the public hearings on the order, Johnston said the temporary injunction obtained in Alabama last week restraining NRA from enforcing the new wage and hour scale was in no sense "defiant or hypercritical of the administration." He declared:

"The question is, whether the mistake we contend has been made can be remedied in time to prevent chaos or whether the militaristic idea of imposing these changes regardless will prevail."

SEVEN-HOUR DAY

Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, arranged the public hearing to give operators a chance to file objections to the amendment to the bituminous coal code which, approved March 31 by Johnson, established a seven-hour day and a higher wage scale throughout the industry.

Just prior to Johnson's action, a majority of the operators in the Appalachian fields had negotiated a new wage agreement for one year with the United Mine Workers of America, providing for the seven-hour day and a $5 basic daily wage.

Operators from at least a half dozen states were in attendance when the hearing opened today.

The recovery administrator did not appear.

Attorney Johnston accused the recovery administration of violating the recovery act and the soft coal code in imposing new wage and hour scales without giving the industry a hearing before so doing.

The NRA order Johnston added had increased Alabama wages $1.20 a day, had closed mines and thrown 15,000 miners out of work in that state.

BANK PAYOFF BILL SPEEDED

thor of the bill suspected that the bill was being purposely held up.

The climax came today when Representative Prentiss Brown (Dem.) of Michigan, issued a lengthy statement in which he said he opposed many of the features of the McLeod bill and gave notice that he would introduce a measure with Democratic sponsorship which would provide for a 100 per cent payoff only up to $2,500 and offer a plan for depositors' loans up to $10,000.

BACKS MEASURE

Congressman Weideman jumped into the lists as champion of the McLeod bill as it stands and today addressed letters to all the Representatives and Senators declaring that the original bill is a non-partisan measure and deserves the support of every member of Congress who has the interests of his constituency at heart, and pleads especially for the smaller depositors.

April 23 is the first date on which the bill can come up for consideration after the necessary 145 signatures have been obtained, Congressman McLeod explained.

Representative Weideman is endeavoring to win the support of Democratic members; Representative Wolcott (Rep.) of Michigan the Republican and Representative Kvale, of Minneapolis, the Farmer-Labor bloc, he added. McLeod said he hoped to obtain the required signatures within a very short time.

STRIKE CLOSES HUDSON PLANT

DETROIT, April 9.—(AP.)—The Hudson Motor Car Company announced a shutdown, effective at 1 p. m. today, because of inability to obtain parts, particularly those manufactured by the Motor Products Company, where a strike is in progress.

The shutdown was announced by J. Edward Schipper, public relations representative of the company, who said:

"The plant will remain shut until we get a new source of supply or the strike at Motor Products is settled."

Approximately 1,000 workers of the Motor Products Company went on strike last week, their walkout resulting in a suspension of work by about 4,600 other employes of the company.

Edward F. McGrady, assistant to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA head who is sitting with the Federal Automobile Labor Board here, said today that the Motor Products strike is considered the key problem confronting the labor tribunal and added that the strike in that plant "must be halted" unless the booming automobile industry is to be paralyzed at the height of the production season.

Citizens' Bank Payments Net Depositors $343,727

Disbursement Made Possible by Loan From RFC

Depositors of the closed Citizens' Trust Company of Bellevue today will receive checks totalling $343,727.32 and representing a 32 per cent disbursement, according to announcement of Dr. William D. Gordon, State Secretary of Banking.

Payment is made possible as the result of a Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan.

The payment recalls a controversy between depositors and Dr. Gordon over methods of liquidating closed state banks. On November 16, 1933, Judge Elder W. Marshall in Common Pleas court here handed down a decision branding the Department of Banking methods illegal.

FIXES SURCHARGE

He surcharged Dr. Gordon with $2,260.35 which he had charged against the Citizens' Trust Company for the support of the division of closed banks in Philadelphia.

On March 8, 1934, however, depositors of the Citizens' Trust Company dropped their exceptions to Gordon's methods. Park H. Martin, of Bellevue, who headed the depositors' committee, said at that time that withdrawal of the exceptions was contingent upon payment of the 32 per cent dividend. Concerning the RFC loan, he added:

"It was on our initiative that they went after it. It was sort of a mutual affair—we were anxious to get our money and they were anxious to settle."

DENY RUMORED 'DEAL'

Deputy State Attorney General David Glick denied there was any semblance of a "deal" whereby the depositors were to drop their exceptions.

Payment of the 32 per cent dividend today brings to 62 per cent the amount restored to depositors since the bank closed, freezing $1,074,137.38.

The balance still due depositors is $408,279.98, Dr. Gordon said. To meet this sum he placed the assets at an appraised value of $199,952.77.

MEMBERS HERE VIEW BANK BILL

Members of the Allegheny County Congressional delegation regardless of their political affiliations are giving close study to the McLeod bill which would provide 100 per cent payoff to all closed banks through assumption of the frozen assets by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Representative Henry Ellenbogen said:

"As far as the bill would result in lightening the burden of the smaller depositors I am heartily in favor of it. I am studying all aspects of the measure, but have not reached a conclusion as to its application in the case of all depositors."

Many doubts as to the practical working of the legislation proposed by Representative Clarence J. McLeod (Rep.), of Michigan, were answered in a statement today by Senator Elbert Thomas, of Utah, who said:

"Like all proposals for extending the government credit, the government is lending nothing but its good name. If, by lending that good name, it may restore confidence I know of no better or cheaper way to do it.

"Here the risk to the government is small compared with the good that will come from restoration of national confidence, and I believe that it is a reasonable investment. Ultimately those assets of the banks which the government will take over will be restored to their former values. The theory of this bill is right, and it is the best kind of a theory to work on in times like these."

Red Revolt Forecast Laid to Dr. Wirt

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP.)—Speaker Rainey today made public an article attributed to Dr. William A. Wirt in which the statement was made that "if a revolution is necessary (to assure the citizen the right to live) the proletariat will give us that."

Copies of four mimeographed articles, all bearing the line "copyright 1932 by William A. Wirt," were given to newspapermen shortly after the speaker said "there isn't anything we are doing now that he (Wirt) didn't favor in 1932."

Dr. Wirt is to appear before a special House committee tomorrow to testify about a "brain truster" who he says told him a "revolution" was in process in which President Roosevelt, a "Kerensky" at present, was to be replaced later by a "Stalin."

In the first of the four articles—the one entitled "Shall We Save Debtors, Creditors or Both?"—these remarks are made:

"Has the citizen in America the right to live while he is trying to get a job? Must the citizen in America starve when he is not able to work?

"If American property owners cannot pay for the protection of their property, soon they will not have any property. Neither creditors nor debtors can be saved. Both will perish and other property owners as well.

"In America, as in Russia, the proletariat will take the responsibility and the property. If a revolution is necessary the proletariat will give us that, too. There will not be any gravy."

THIRD NATIONAL STOCK DEAL HELD VOID

High Court Orders Bank to Refund Client's $10,000

It claimed that Emery had been conducted through the company plant, had had access to the books and was in a position to know the true financial state of the company of his own knowledge before buying the stock.

TELLS OF OFFER

When, two months after purchasing the bonds, Emery said, he discovered the company was not as represented, he testified he offered to return the stock and take his money back.

Reed then told him, he testified:

"The bank is back of it. You have nothing to lose at all. You stay and work it out, whether the assets are there or not."

"Now if you go in there we will guarantee your $10,000 and you cannot lose a penny. The bank owns and controls it."

Emery testified that Hamilton, treasurer of the company as well as cashier of the bank, told him the assets were as "good as gold."

DEBT BARED

Meanwhile the company owed the bank $64,200, which the bank held in debenture bonds of the coffee firm, testimony disclosed.

But before the sale of the stock was made to Emery, the bank had "charged off" $30,000 of these bonds as uncollectable in its opinion, it was testified.

Emery, according to testimony, did not know the bank held the firm in such poor esteem.

The company was purchased for the bank at a sheriff's sale in 1923 for $11,400. A new corporation was then formed to which the assets of the first were transferred with all the company's stock, 1,000 shares at no par value, for $11,400. The stock was distributed among bank employes.

QUESTIONS REED

Questioning Reed about the stock, Eaton said:

"You kept 200 shares and gave 800 shares away, and of the 800 shares you gave away for nothing, 500 shares of that ultimately came into Mr. Emery's possession, but he paid $10,000 for it, didn't he?"

Reed:

"And in the meantime the company had lost money?"

Reed:

"Well, I would say yes to that."

Eaton, after several intervening questions:

"Sure, and you knew that it (the company) was in such bad financial shape that your company would not loan it a dollar?"

"Yes."

NAMED TO BOARD

Until recently a deputy secretary of banking in charge of several closed banks, Reed was nominated for the authority by County Commissioner C. C. McGovern.

He will be one of three men having entire charge of a self-liquidating highway, bridge and tunnel projects for which a $29,400,000 PWA loan is sought.

The other authority members are Joseph C. Trees and Press C. Dowler.

Their salaries will be between $5,000 and $10,000.

McGovern, nominating Reed, said:

"I move that William McK. Reed, who is one of the outstanding businessmen of the County of Allegheny over a period of years and an absolutely non-political appointment, be nominated.

"I believe in every way he is qualified to fill the duties that will be required of him as a member of this commission."

The nomination was seconded by Commissioner Cadwallader M. Barr.

tions, upon such a scale, is a black reproach to our government—in fact to any state of society which claims to be civilized.

It convicts the government of an inexcusable lack of vision and want of capacity, that it should have tolerated a set of laws under which such a breakdown of the nation's banks was a possibility.

The final resting place of accountability for the collapse of our banks rests with the GOVERNMENT and OUR LAW MAKERS.

NOW—overtaken by conditions which many clearly foresaw, and have for years predicted—it is straining the people's patience too much for the government to coolly wash its hands of all duty and obligation, and expect its victims to bear the unshared burden of losses for which their government has so clear a responsibility.

THE McLEOD BILL FACES these facts!

It assumes, with simple honesty, that they impose a duty upon the government to pay the depositors of all closed banks which belonged to the Federal Reserve System. Who will attempt to deny the justice and the duty of such payment—in the light of all the facts?

THE McLEOD BILL SHOULD PASS.

DEMAND GROWS FOR PASSAGE OF MEASURE

Most Legislators For 100 Per Cent Payoff For Depositors

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—An overwhelming demand in Congress for legislation at this session to release the 1,815 million dollars of deposits frozen in closed Federal Reserve System banks was revealed today.

Tabulation of results of a poll of both houses of Congress on the bill of Representative McLeod (Rep.) of Michigan, and the companion measure by Senator Thomas (Dem.), of Oklahoma, in the Senate, showed only 20 of the 431 House members and 12 of the 96 Senators committed against the bills. Four House seats are vacant by death or resignation.

Demanding passage of the McLeod measure for 100 per cent liquidation of closed bank deposit accounts were 149 members of the House.

SUPPORT PLEDGED

Another 144 were unwilling to go on record at this time. Many declared, however, they were for some such relief legislation, but wanted further time to study the question.

Still others asked to be excused until they could read the testimony given before a sub-committee of the House Banking and Currency Committee and see the form in which the full committee might report the measure to the House.

In the senate 21 members unreservedly committed themselves to the bill; 20 gave their conditional endorsement, while 36 were non-committal at this time.

WOULD FREE ASSETS

The McLeod bill provides that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation purchase from the receivers or conservators of closed banks that at the time of closing were members of the federal reserve system, all remaining assets of the banks.

The RFC upon delivery of the assets would make available to the receivers or conservators in payment therefor, funds sufficient to pay in full the balance due on the deposits liability of these banks, whereupon the receivers or conservators would disburse these funds to the depositors.

The bill contains a provision however, that if a majority of the depositors desire, the funds may be used to re-open the bank and resume normal business operations.

10 YEARS GRANTED

In any event the deposits now frozen would be released to be put to active work again as an aid to business recovery and to relieve financial distress of persons of limited means who have felt the pinch during the last few years.

The RFC would undertake to liquidate the assets it would take over in an orderly manner, the bill providing debtors with a 10 year period in which to wipe out their obligations. High interest rates on these bonds, notes, mortgages and other obligations would be scaled down to 4 per cent during this period of liquidation.

REP. M'SWAIN (Dem.), South Carolina, chairman of the House Military Committee—I am supporting this legislation enthusiastically. It is a very necessary recovery measure.

REP. RAMSAY (Dem.), of West Virginia—I am absolutely in favor of the McLeod Bill. I originally advocated such legislation in my campaign in 1932.

REP. MAY (Dem), of Kentucky—Yes, I am in favor of the McLeod Bill. It ought to be reported out by the committee and passed at once. It provides jus the expansion of currency we need now.

REP. DINGELL (Dem.), of Michigan—I favor the McLeod Bill and any bill providing for the maximum pay-off to depositors in closed banks.

REP. BOLTON (Rep.), of Ohio—I favor the McLeod Bill and helped draft it. I offered the amendment including all Federal Reserve member banks, not just the national bank members alone, to share in the benefits provided in the bill.

WORK FOR M'LEOD BILL!

A complete poll of Congress, showing the attitude of each Senator and Representative on the McLeod bill to pay depositors of all closed banks which belonged to the Federal Reserve system, appears on this page.

See how YOUR Congressman or Senator is listed. If he is recorded against the bill, or as non-committal, or if his stand has not been learned, write or telegraph to him and urge him to vote FOR the McLeod bill.

Impress upon him that passage of the measure will provide only simple justice for you and others whose savings are tied up in closed Federal Peserve members banks.

Emphasize that you see no reason why any depositor should be penalized for his thrift or for his belief in the soundness and integrity of banks whose creation was authorized by the national government.

Stress also that the governmeent itself appealed to you to deposit your money in the banks of the country and preached it was un-American to hoard your savings.

Point out also that the adoption of the McLeod bill would give positive stimulus to business by converting frozen, idle and useless bank deposits into immediately available purchasing power.

WRITE OR WIRE YOUR SENATOR OR CONGRESSMAN TODAY.

GUY VOLPE, BROTHER OF THREE GANG WAR VICTIMS, DIES

ONCE POWERFUL CLAN HIT BY FIFTH DEATH

Stroke, Reported Due To Alcoholism, Proves Fatal

The once powerful Wilmerding Volpes prepared today to bury another of their clan, this time Guy Volpe, who died yesterday in Mercy Hospital following a paralytic stroke that was reported to have been caused by alcoholism.

Guy is the fifth of the Volpe brothers to die within the past two years, but he was he only one of the five to die from causes that were anyway near natural.

One flare of gang war wiped out three of his brothers—John, Arthur and James—in their Wylie avenue coffee shop in July, 1932, and an automobile accident took the life of another brother, Chester.

Guy, police have it, wasn't as deeply involved in the rackets as John, James and Arthur, but it was said he lived in fear that the guns that did for his brothers, might be turned on him.

Little has been known of the Volpe activity in recent months. The decline began when the clan took a decided beating at the polls a few years back, and ended with the slaying of the three brothers.

The end came peacefully for Guy. He lapsed into a coma shortly after his admittance to the hospital Saturday, and he died without regaining consciousness. Around his bedside when he died were his wife and other members of the family.

His physician rushed him to the hospital when Guy failed to respond to treatment for alcoholism, according to the report.

He will be buried from his home in Middle street, Wilmerding. He was 38.

Show Went On!

JANE THURSTON

INSULL RETURN TO U. S. NEAR

International News Service.

ISTANBUL, April 9.—American and Turkish authorities were confident today that Samuel Insull's "zero hour" was near at hand, with the indicted Chicagoan's return to the United States scheduled to start within a few hours.

There were many indications that Insull would be started on his homeward journey on the American Merchant Line's cargo steamer Executive, touching here tomorrow, in the custody of Burton Y. Berry, young third secretary of the American embassy, who has been appointed to accompany him.

The fact that there is no doctor aboard this ship was considered the only drawback to its use. The steamer Excelsior, of the same line, and having a doctor, was due to leave here April 20, but this was considered too far away.

In any event, American Ambassador Robert P. Skinner, here from Angora, presumably to supervise Insull's departure, declared a decision on the route will be made within 24 hours.

WIFE OF FAMED MAGICIAN DIES

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The tradition that the show must go on is one of the oldest and most highly respected in the theater.

Howard Thurston, magician, and his daughter, Jane, veteran troupers both, remembered it last night when they insisted upon going through with their performance despite their grief over the sudden death of Mrs. Nina Thurston, the magician's wife, in her home in Queens.

Word of her collapse was sent to the theater, where the Thurstons, true to the tradition that "the play must go on," finished their act and returned home. Mrs. Thurston was dead when they arrived.

Mrs. Thurston was born in Nova Scotia and came as a girl to Weehauken, N. J., where she met and married Thurston. A sister and brother are living in Canada.

Asks for Matches, Then Shoots Woman

NEWARK, O., April 9.—Mrs. Irvin Mahard, 34, is believed dying from a .38-caliber bullet fired from a rifle by an unidentified man at her home at Dudgeon's Corners today

Mrs. Mahard reported the man asked for some matches which she procured for him and when she came out of the house he raised his rifle and shot her in the abdomen. He fled.

SCREEN BEAUTY SUES WEALTHY BRITISH PEER

Angela Joyce, Now in Hollywood, Seeking $500,000 Balm

International News Service.

LONDON, Aril 9.—Lord Revelstoke, scion of one of Britain's wealthiest banking families, has been served with a writ asking 100,000 pounds (about $518,000) damages for breach of promise filed by attorneys acting for Miss Angela Joyce, former "Miss England" beauty now in Hollywood, the lawyers announced today.

Mourice Arram, a partner of the London legal firm of Arram, Fairfield & Co., made the announcement. Arram said:

"The writ has been issued and served, and we have retained the services of Sir Patrick Hastings, one of the most eminent king's counsellors, who will be instructed to ask the jury for 100,000 pounds damages for Miss Joyce."

Arram pointed out that legal figures published today revealed that Lord Revelstroke's father, who died recently, left an estate of more than $2,000,000 in England alone.

As a result of parential objection he ceased his attentions to her after promising marriage, Miss Joyce has claimed. Since then he has married someone else.

The late Lord Revelstoke was a director of Baring Brothers, Ltd., a leading London banking firm. Lord Revelstoke is 23 and succeeded to his title on the death of his father in January.

'Goddess in Clouds" to Peer, Says Angela

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—(INS.)—"He adored me like a goddess in the clouds."

This was the declaration made today by Angela Joyce, golden-haired, blue-eyed British actress, in commenting on her $518,000 breach of promise suit in London against Lord Revelstoke, 73-year-old English peer. She said:

"I met Lord Revelstoke in a London night club in February, 1931, and we fell violently in love. I knew him then as Rupert Baring, his family name. The name meant nothing to me, because I loved him.

"We kept company one month and planned a secret elopement. I received 59 letters from him. Imagine my heartbreak to learn that he had married another woman."

Lord Revelstoke, Miss Joyce said, "liked to be called Robin." She added:

"I was not some common little chorus girl. I've been a bright star in London. I left England so I could attain international stardom through Hollywood pictures. Winning the title of beauty queen of England in 1929 was just one step on the path. Some beauty queens have brains."

FLEET LEAVES FOR ATLANTIC

International News Service.

ABOARD U. S. S. CHICAGO, with United States Fleet, April 9.—Nosing through a gray fog, the United States fleet weighed anchors today and headed for open sea in a series of maneuvers that two months from now will bring the floating fortresses to New York City in the first visit to the Atlantic in several years.

First to start were 15 seaplanes that left San Diego on a four-day hop to the Canal Zone. The U. S. S. Vestal led the parade out of Los Angeles harbor.

From San Diego came submarines and destroyers swelling the total to well over 100 vessels under the command of Admiral David F. Sellers aboard his flagship, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania.

MOUNTAIN SLIDE KILLS THREE

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 9.—(AP.)—A crashing rock slide down the precipitous Storm King Mountain onto a scenic highway left three motorists dead today and three others injured.

The avalanche of loosed rocks ripped down the mountain side without warning late yesterday, killing Mrs. Otto Seilheimer, 28, and her 8-year-old son, Otto, Jr., of East Paterson, N. J., in their automobile, and fatally injuring Lambert Shacknis, 27, of Brooklyn.

Shacknis and his wife were struck by a boulder which tore through the top of their car. Mrs. Shacknis was not seriously hurt.

Another boulder hurtled into a third car just after its occupants, Dr. Francis E. Lehman, a dentist, and Miss Mary Wolff, both of Long Island, had leaped from it. The Seilheimer car was demolished by rock weighing more than a ton.

DRUG CODE SETS RETAIL PRICES

The drug code authority of Allegheny County has announced that beginning today retail druggists' prices in this district will have as their minimum the manufacturers' list prices.

According to C. G. Judge, vice chairman of the local code authority, articles affected by the regulation are drugs, medicines, cosmetics, toilet preparations and drug sundries.

Provisions of the NRA drug code had previously required that no goods be sold "below cost." A communication received here yesterday from the national code authority at Washington defined cost as the manufacturers' list price.

2 Couples Stab Rabbi On Way to Synagogue

One Pair Nabbed With Cash After Hill Holdup

An aged Hill district Rabbi was slashed and robbed early today by two Negro couples whom he had asked for directions to his congregation when he became lost nearby, police reported.

The victim, Rabbi F. Gross, 59, of The Gates of Wisdom Congregation, 34 Townsend street, battled with his assailants and received cuts on the face and neck. A piece of knife was removed from his neck at Passavant Hospital.

A half hour later, police arrested William Harris, 35, of 35 Boone way and his wife, Mattie, 28. In their home police said they found the broken knife used in the holdup and $39 in bills. Charged with robbery and assault and battery, the prisoners gave no information as to their alleged companions' identity, police said.

In Morals Court, where he appeared with hands and head bandaged, Rabbi Gross testified the Negroes escorted him to the Boone way address, where they shoved him inside the hall.

They knocked him down with a lamp, tore buttons from his clothing, and held a knife across his throat, while looting his pockets of $45, he said.

On the rabbi's testimony, Harris and his wife were held over, to permit police to find the other couple.

Private Debt Delay Sought by Schacht

BASEL, Switzerland, April 9.—(AP.)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, today expressed the hope that Germany's creditors would accept a moratorium on the transfer out of Germany of funds for the amortization and interest payments on long-term private debts.

On arriving here for a conference with creditors, he denied that he asked new loans.

PRIEST NAMES DRUGGIST

The church bulletin of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, of which the Rev. Thomas F. Coakley is pastor, yesterday contained the name of an East End druggist accused by the priest of dealing in birth control devices.

Father Coakley said the druggist was the only one who refused to reply to his letter of complaint and who failed to take down a card advertising the devices.

The druggist named said he had removed the sign because of adverse publicity. He said he had been advised by several physicians to continue the sales, and he said other druggists told him they did not intend to reply to Father Coakley's letter of complaint.

GIRL KIDNAPING VICTIM SOUGHT

Police scoured the city today for trace of Marie Dayton, 18, of 243 Baldwin street, Hays, believed to have been forced into an automobile at Second avenue and Elizabeth street.

Radio cars sped to Chartiers avenue, near Corliss street, early today to investigate a car parked there, from which a passing motorist said he saw a girl jump and run, pursued by a man. When the motorist stopped to investigate, he told police, a third man in the automobile, drawing a gun from a shoulder holster, told him:

"Better move on!"

When police arrived, no trace of the car or its occupants could be found.

ALICE AND RUDY 'STEP OUT'

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Alice Faye, the dancing blonde who deserted Rudy Vallee's orchestra to sign a five-year film contract, was having a grand time in New York today—stepping out with Rudy.

Meanwhile, Nicky Foran, a newcomer to films, pondered the choice between continuing his courtship of Miss Faye and being disinherited by his father, or forgetting all about Miss Faye and following his screen career as his father dictates.

The father is Col. Arthur W. Foran, political and financial power in New Jersey.

Alice, who would say nothing anent Nicky or his father, had this to say about Rudy:

"I think Mr. Vallee's the grandest man in the world. Whatever success I have achieved I owe to him."

In the divorce suit pending between Rudy and Mrs. Fay Webb Vallee, Miss Faye's name was mentioned.

STATE CANCELS ADLER SHOW

Celia Adler, Yiddish stage star, had her performance at the Y. M. and W. H. A., Bellefield avenue, canceled last night, because the State Bureau of Professional Licensing would not grant a permit—apparently because the program called for dramatic performances.

W. M. Denison, director of the bureau in Harrisburg, in a letter to Max Kreshover, manager of the show, stated that he would not give a permit, because it was "not a public musical concert." His letter said further:

"It apparently involves more than musical numbers. We cannot approve the program and issue a permit."

DILLINGER, PAL 'PAY VISIT' TO CITY

Desperado and Women Reported Seen on Auto Tour

Among the visitors reported in Pittsburgh over the week-end was John Dillinger, the killer, who escaped from jail at Crown Point, Ind.

Prisoner Younger

Dillinger and his pal, John Hamilton, and two women were riding about the city in an auto, according to reports received by the police, who broadcast a statewide alarm.

But the reports seemed vague. And if Dillinger was in the city apparently he did not care to verify these reports.

He was listed as Joseph Younger, 49. The police quoted him as admitting he had just been released from the Indiana State Prison, after serving 17 years for grand larceny. They said, too, that he had claimed a casual acquaintance with John Dillinger.

A check of the prison records at Crown Point today failed to indicate the presence of anybody named Younger this year.

Cold Trail Crossed By Dillinger Hunters

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 9.—(AP.)—The untiring hunters of John Dillinger, America's No. 1 bad man, had come today across his elusive trail, and found it cold.

By their abandonment last night of a vigil at a Mankato (Minn.) garage, officers disclosed that they had discovered the automobile used by Dillinger and his woman companion, Evelyn Frechetti, when they fled from the Twin Cities March 31 after narrowly escaping capture.

For a week the garage has been closely watched in the hope that Dillinger or one of his gang would return for the automobile. The car was left there shortly after the escape from the Twin Cities, with orders that it be painted a different color and the name plates filed off.

When told the job would require several days, the man who left the car there—believed to be a Dillinger aide named Tommy Carroll—bought another machine and said he would return for the other. The police set a trap, but he did not come back.

Discovery of the car at Mankato, together with other evidence uncovered in recent days, led police to cling to their belief that Dillinger is still in this section.

ACCUSES SONS IN LOTTERY

Implicating his own sons in the numbers racket and denying his guilt failed today to win immunity for Joseph Lewandoski, known in police circles as "Hunky Joe," a South Side big shot.

Lewandoski appeared in Central Police Court with his two sons, Walter, 22, and George, 21, to answer charges of operating a lottery. They had been arrested Saturday night after detectives trailed George from downtown to 6416 Forward avenue, Squirrel Hill.

Declaring his innocence, Joe told Magistrate W. McGowan:

Walter admitted writing numbers and George denied the charges, but Magistrate McGowan fined the three $100 each or 60 days in jail, said to be the highest lottery fines in Central Police Court. On request of Detective Capt. Frank Boyd, who made the raid, they were warned that they must stop writing numbers.

SNIPER PERILS FATHER, GIRL

KANSAS CITY, April 9.—(AP.)—Renewed threats on the life of City Manager Henry F. McElroy, political storm center, stirred Kansas City today on the eve of the inauguration of officials chosen at the recent turbulent city election.

Twice within less than 24 hours the McElroy home was menaced—first by a sniper's bullet, and secondly, by a mysterious telephone threat, "we never miss twice." Several weeks ago McElroy's life was threatened in an extortion note.

The bullet crashed through a window of a room adjoining one occupied at the time by McElroy and his daughter, Mary, for whose freedom kidnapers were paid $30,000 last year.

The attack on McElroy's home came as demands were being made that he be ousted as city manager. Tomorrow the newly elected city council will fill the post. It was considered certain he would be retained.

N. Y. EXCHANGE WINS VICTORY IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—The New York Stock Exchange scored a smashing victory in the Senate Banking Committee today by a 10 to 8 vote to create a new commission to regulate the exchanges instead of giving jurisdiction to the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Trade Commission.

The committee adopted an amendment to the stock market bill offered by Senator Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, upsetting plans of the bill's authors and President Roosevelt to have the exchanges regulated by the two existing governmental agencies.

COMMISSION PROPOSED

As it now stands, a commission of three members appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, would be set up to exercise all the powers the bill originally proposed to turn over to the Reserve Board and the Trade Commission.

Friends of the original legislation planned to carry their fight to the Senate floor, and with President Roosevelt's expressed support, were hopeful of final victory.

Opponents of the bill as originally drafted also scored an important victory by the same margin in adopting a motion by Senator Adams (Dem.) of Colorado, to eliminate the vital introductory section of the bill outlining its purposes for constitutional reasons.

RECONSIDER ACTION

Senator Glass, who voted to strikeout this section, immediately entered a motion to reconsider the action, however, on the ground that some substitute wording should be adopted.

No vote was taken by the committee today on the troublessome marginal section, but Chairman Fletcher predicted the committee would eliminate the fixed minimum margin requirements and turn the entire power over to the administrative agency.

CHANGES FORECAST

Gov. Eugene Black of the Federal Reserve Board told reporters today he expected some drastic modifications in the securities act.

After a two-hour conference with the House Interstate Commerce Committee, Black said he thought the stocks regulation bill "is going to be modified a lot before it reaches the House."

As for the securities act, he said "it is interfering with the flow of capital," and having a bad psychological effect on business.

PLAN TAX RAISE OF HALF BILLION

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Two new tax increases, one a 10 per cent super-income tax affecting all brackets, and the other a big lift in inheritance levies, today awaited final Senate action with the leaders predicting both would be approved.

These anticipated increases will bring the total of additional taxes in the revenue bill, as amended by the Senate, up to approximately a half billion dollars.

Bothe the Couzens proposal to assess all income taxpayers next year for an extra 10 per cent, and th L Follette proposal to whittle down exemptions and boost rates on inheritances, have been accepted by the Democratic leadership of the Senate.

Some of the more conservative Democrats were uneasy, however, at the possible political effects of these two increases. They pointed out that estimated new revenue in the bill as it came from the House was $258,000,000. They were puzzled to understand why the ante should be doubled by the Senate.

When the issue of overriding President Roosevelt's veto of the independent offices bill was up spokesmen warned that its passage would make heavy tax increases necessary.

Although these warnings were stiffled, additional levies approximating the estimated increase now have been approved by the leaders.

G. O. P. SUBMITS AIR MAIL BILL

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A Republican plan for restoring all canceled air mail contracts, until the government proves fraud in their negotiations, was introduced in the Senate this afternoon by Senators Austin (Rep.) of Vermont; Davis (Rep.) of Pennsylvania, and Barbour (Rep.) of New Jersey, as a substitute for the administration's new air mail bill.

Senator Austin issued a statement explaining the bill. It would pay the carriers on a mileage basis, plus a subsidy to be determined by the government for aiding the companies in expanding their aerial operations.

Denies Huey's Story Of Job Dictation

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Col. John P. Sullivan, New Orleans lawyer, denied before the Senate Finance Committee today that he dictated the nomination of D. B. Moore, internal revenue collector of Louisiana, as asserted by Senator Huey Long.

Sullivan also said he had never in his life been connected with gambling.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS :-:

By PAUL MALLON

Kingfish Tactics Win Immunity In Senate

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The reason behind Huey Long's current antics is not hard to find.

Mr. Roosevelt decided some time ago that Huey was a bad man to mix up with, either as a friend or an enemy. So he and Postmaster General Farley worked things quietly around so Senator Pat Harrison would be their chief consultant on Louisiana patronage. Harrison is from the adjoining state of Mississippi.

Nothing was said about the matter, but Huey began to catch on weeks ago, when more and more appointments went against him. One very important federal job went to a Mississippian. Long has received nothing.

SNUB

There is a cloak room understanding among Senate Democrats now to ignore Huey no matter what he says or does.

The agreement is the result of what happened to Harrison and Bennett Clark. The other day they undertook to chastize Huey and found out what every burned child already knows.

As one Democratic senator woefully explained to his colleagues in private:

"The trouble about debating with Huey is that you cannot call him anything he has not already been called."

Huey himself expressed something of the same idea when he publicly told Harrison and Clark not to get mixed up with porcupines, unless they wanted some quills in their hide. Other senators used other animals in the same metaphor.

The result is Huey is going to have immunity in congressional debeate hereafter. The boys are afraid of him.

RAILROADS

The inside on the rail strike situation is that the labor unions are engaging in tactical maneuvers.

They are holding out because they have nothing to lose.

It is three months yet before the 10 per cent wage cut agreement expires. They have all that time in which to hold out for better terms, without any serious consequences.

The reason Rail Administrator Eastman threw up the sponge was that he discovered that situation and became disgusted. He had the operators fairly well in line, but he could not budge the unions.

PROSPECTS

None of the manipulators believes there is going to be a strike. There cannot be. The law provides many steps yet before we even get up close to one.

The labor boys are acting as if they really meant it. By threats and grimacing they may be able to wheedle out a new agreement for, say, a 5 per cent cut. Most observers believe that what is really more important is a better wage for the low-paid employes outside the union.

What will happen is this: When Mr. Roosevelt comes back he will invite the labor boys in. He will have a difficult time with them. A swift agreement is hardly in prospect. Some concessions will have to be made by both sides.

UNEASINESS

The Republican Progressives are showing inner signs of mild discontent with the administration.

You can see it backstage in their Senate group.

With the exception of Senator Norris they have generally refrained from publicly joining the new deal. They have played a cagey game, co-operating quietly, but always leaving the gate open so they could get out if they wanted to.

Their mail lately has led them to believe their farm constituents are doing a lot of heavy thinking. Farm clubs have been organized in some districts to read the Congressional Record at night. Their business constituents are the little fellows, some of whom have been complaining about the NRA.

They are safe for the present, but some moderation of AAA policy may have to be made to keep them in line.

HARBINGER

When Senator Borah leaps to the attack, you know spring is nigh. Borah keeps his ear to the ground better than any other congressional tactician. His criticism of the NRA campaign was the first break away from the new deal. It led the way for this current wave of criticism.

The postman says Borah's mail is running 200 to 300 letters a day, which is more than he ever before received.

NOTES

Congressman Wadsworth's friends now believe he will not run for Governor of New York, because it is a needless chance to take, in view of his prospects for the Republican presidential nomination. . . . Democrats here concede privately that Gov. Lehman is not as strong a candidate as they would like to have. . . . Bankers are making life miserable for Jesse Jones by mail and telephone, because his National Bank of Commerce at Houston, Tex., is 80 per cent liquid. It will hurt his campaign to make other banks solidify their liquid condition by making commercial loans. Jones' excuse is that he had nothing to do with the management of the bank, but his name is signed to the 80 per cent liquid report. . . . Congressman J. Buell Snyder, from a Western Pennsylvania district, will try a novel campaigning idea. In a few weeks, before the primaries, he will get an airplane to take himself and several of his congressional colleagues up to his district. He will take them around the district in the airplane, making speeches. . . . A strong force behind the move to amend the securities act is Mrs. Roosevelt's good friend, Congresswoman Greenway, of Arizona. She is thinking about mining stock rather than the White House. . . . Speaker Rainey is adopting Garner tactics in the House, rushing bills through before the representatives have a chance to object. He got 100 minor bills through the other day.

REED CHARGES NATION BEING 'FED POISON'

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP.)—Warning that a little band of men in Washington is "seeking covertly to change our course as a nation," Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, enunciating his platform for re-election, charged today:

"America is being fed poisons from which it will take decades to recover."

"In the name of national recovery, the present administration has launched the country on a course which, unless soon checked, may well carry us over the brink of inflation to complete chaos."

One of the outstanding conservatives in Congress, Reed criticized what he described as the government's efforts to "increase the power of the central government, and to substitute for individual initiative a governmental control of agricultural production and of all business activity."

REITERATES STAND

He reiterated his determination to "support the President when he is right, and oppose him when he is wrong," adding:

"My decision to seek re-election has been reached in the belief that, in addition to advocating those policies to which I am committed, and which are expressed in my record, it is my duty to continue with all the force at my command to resist those experiments of the present Washington government which I regard as futile and fantastic.

"I do not believe that we can spend our way to prosperity. I am opposed to Fascism as strongly as to Communism.

"I am unwilling to see destroyed in four years a civilization which has been centuries in building.

"I believe that, given liberty of expression and action, and a chance to vote freely and honestly, the people can be depended on to find a solution for all of their problems. At all costs they must be told the truth.

"I believe that governments and men who cannot stand criticism are those who need it most."

POLICIES NOT NEW

Reed declared there is nothing new in the government's present experiments.

"There have been dragged out, dressed in modern garb and paraded before the people, the skeletons of most of the fallacies and failures of governments of the past. Deluded by promises of magic cures for ancient ills, America is being fed poisons from which it will take decades to recover.

"In announcing my candidacy for re-election, I call upon the people of Pennsylvania to join me in a stern and sincere protest against the wasteful policies, which, carried into effect with no warning, without submission to the people, threaten their happiness and security and invite disaster for the nation:"

4 BANDITS ROB MAN, TAKE CAR

Police throughout the county today were searching for the quartet of holdup men who slugged, robbed and took the automobile of D. L. Baker, 35, of 2101 Hampton avenue, Swissvale, at the approach of the McKeesport-Duquesne Bridge, last night, according to a police report.

Baker reported he was stopped at a traffic light when the armed men entered his car. They forced him to drive a mile away to a place known as Tin Plate Hill, where they took him out of the car, beat him, took his wallet and then escaped in the automobile.

LAWYERS SNUB N. Y. SENATE UTILITY QUIZ

International News Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 9.—Bewildered by the flood of criticism which followed its decision to confine the investigation of Senator Warren T. Thayer, Republican whip, to the latter's alleged 1927 correspondence with the Associated Gas and Electric Company, the Senate was to meet today to determine upon the next step in the inquiry, scheduled to start this afternoon.

The chief problem of the body is that two outstanding lawyers, Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., and Ferdinand Pecora, scourge of the banking interests, have refused to act as counsel to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

OBJECTIONS TOLD

Bennett said the investigation resolution was too confined in its scope and Pecora said the task would conflict in point of time with his present duties in Washington as counsel to the Senate Banking Committee.

Both Bennett and Pecora declared that a proper investigation should go into the entire field of public utility operations in legislative halls.

The Senate leaders insist however that the only charge against Thayer is that he made allegedly improper references to "campaign expenses" and "killing of detrimental bills" in letters he is said to have written the utility company, and that the inquiry cannot go beyond that charge.

BROAD INVESTIGATION

They argue further that the broader probe demanded by Bennett and Pecora, as well as by Gov. Lehman, is provided for under resolutions now pending before each House of the Legislature.

Senator William T. Byrne, of Albany, Democratic chairman of the Judiciary Committee, announced that the counselship has been offered to former Supreme Court Justice John E. Mack, of Poughkeepsie, who nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt for President at the Chicago convention. He intimated that a tentative acceptance has been received. Mack is considered one of the best of upstate attorneys.

Booping Today

HELEN KANE

'BOOP-A-DOOP' LEADS TO SUIT

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Mark Twain and Rudyard Kipling may have thought they hung up records when they asked—and got—$1 a word for their writing efforts, but Helen Kane makes them look like pikers.

Helen, claiming to be the sole authoress of that priceless phrase, "Boop-boop-a-doop," is going into Supreme Court today to demand $250,000 damages for the alleged theft of her idea. This amounts to exactly $62,500 each for the two boops, the doop and the connecting syllable.

Helen charges the Paramount-Publix Corporation and the Max Fleischer Studios with infringement. The Fleischer Studios produced an animated picture series called the "Betty Boop Cartoons," and Paramount has three girl singers, who according to Miss Kane, imitate her mannerisms.

DENY TWO-NAME MAN PERMIT

John G. Brown Love's desire to make himself a dual person involved the zoning board in a tangle of names today while Councilman P. J. McArdle and 25 other residents of Mt. Washington were waiting to protest.

Love appeared before the board to ask permission to build a double house at 1640 Grandview avenue, and explained he represented John G. Brown. He added that Mr. Brown was very busy today and couldn't appear himself.

After several minutes of questioning members of the board wrung from Mr. Love the reluctant admission that he was not only Love but also Brown.

The board denied Love's application until he proves his title to the property. Eugene L. Connelly, member of the board, said the property had been given the city street use in 1896 by the late Judge A. M. Brown.

ACID MURDERER TO LOSE HEAD

International News Service.

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France, April 8.—Georges Sarret, former reputable consulting lawyer of Marseilles, convicted of a series of spectacular murders, in which he disposed of his victims by a now-celebrated "acid bath," will be put to death upon the guillotine tomorrow morning, it was announced today.

Sarret, a student of chemistry as well as law, used both sciences to pursue his spectacular career of crime. Most of his victims were killed so that he could collect on insurance policies and wills.

The lawyer-murderer owed his exposure to a bit of carelessness, after achieving what nearly proved to be "the perfect crime." He left a tell-tale spot on the floor of a cellar in which he had committed one of his boldest murders, despite the fact he had disposed of the body by immersing it for days in a bathtub filled with devouring acids.

Barr's 'Spruce Up' Campaign Brings More Results

County Commissioner C. M. Barr's "spruce up" campaign bore further fruit today.

Chief Clerk Murray Snyder, of the Commissioners' office, and his assistants appeared wearing tan linen coats—this without suggestion from anyone higher up, it was said. The girl stenographers didn't change their makeup.

Last week Barr commented on the untidy appearance of some of the mechanics around the Court House. The Commissioners authorized bids for overalls.

ROOSEVELT AIDS CRIPPLE HERE.

Lawrence Kennedy, 18, of 510 Hilton street, West End, for 12 years a victim of a strange form of paralysis, is going to be placed in a home where he can receive proper treatment, thanks to the efforts of President Roosevelt.

Recently Mrs. John Kennedy, his mother, wrote a letter to the Chief Executive stating the case of her son, and asking advice as to where she should place him. The White House forwarded the letter to W. B. Robinson, chairman of the local children's committee, who Saturday took the boy to Allegheny General Hospital, where he was examined. A report of the examination will be sent to Washington.

JUDGE FREES 'QUEENFISH'

Katherine Day, "queenfish" of the Aquarium Faith Society, a Negro cult, was found not guilty of larceny but ordered to pay costs in a verdict read before Judge Thomas M. Marshall in Criminal Court today.

The "queenfish" was charged by two Negro women cooks for prominent East End families with taking $20 from each of them and wrapping the bills in a handkerchief in a supposed scheme to multiply the money by occult means. When they opened the handkerchief the money was gone, they said.

The defendant was given 60 days to pay the costs.

PITTSBURGHERS TO MEET ICKES

A delegation of Pittsburghers has been assured an audience with Public Works Administration officials Thursday, Col. C. C. McGovern, chairman of the county commissioners, says.

McGovern, who intends to invite leading citizens, representatives of county offices, members of the County Authority and others to go to Washington, asked for an appointment to meet Administrator Harold L. Ickes.

An assistant secretary of the administrator notified McGovern that April 12 was a satisfactory date.

The party will include about 20.

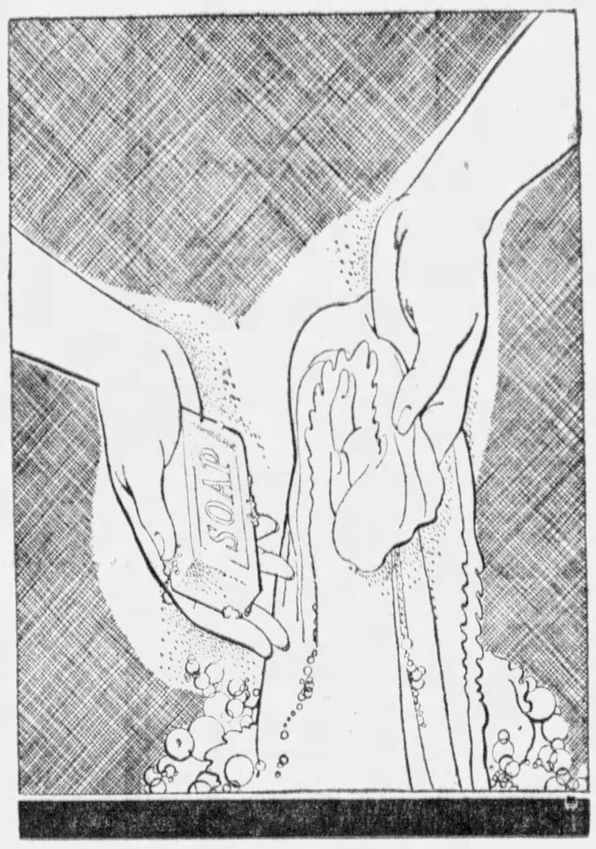
ISN'T IT WORTH a cake of soap?



Suppose you pay 5c for a cake of laundry soap . . . has it occurred to you that for such a small sum electricity . . . will operate a ¼ h. p. washing machine for 6½ hours? That's more than enough time to do two average family weekly washings! Only a nickel . . . still it brings a convenience, a relief from tiring rubbing and scrubbing to the modern housewife which her grandmother couldn't have had at any price. Only a nickel . . . yes, but that five cents will buy enough electricity to operate your electric iron (660 watts) for 1¾ hours, or your electric ironer for 1 hour and 8 minutes. These electric appliances save many hours of valuable time and a great deal of hard work . . . their small cost of operation is certainly money wisely spent.

The length of time the appliances named in this advertisement can be operated is based on the per kwh. in which classification a large percentage of our customers come. If your use of electricity entitles you to the advantages of a 3c rate you can operate the same appliances proportionately longer. However, those who pay 5c for electric energy can operate these appliances only four-fifths of the length of time stated.

TOMORROW . . . YOUR FIRST OPPORTUNITY TO SEE AMERICA'S GREATEST CONTRIBUTION TO FURNITURE ART

ALL-AMERICAN FURNITURE

A great forward movement in furniture design will be launched tomorrow with the presentation of All-American furniture—a definite, artistic achievement which is destined to do for our day what the craftsmen of the Eighteenth Century did for theirs.

Leaders of the furniture industry, together with experienced designers set about to produce furniture that would improve the status of comfort and artistry in the home and yet be definitely American. The design evolved shows the elements of American-made furniture of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries . . . the influence of traditional outlines . . . with very definite individual elements of ornamentation, the silaque leaf and the wheat ear. This design was applied to every type of furniture for every use in the home. It is unique, original, yet so flexible it will blend with practically anything of good design now in your home.

The invitation to see this striking new furniture development is extended to everyone. To homemakers interested in beautiful, comfortable homes . . . to Architects and Decorators, interested in new ideas . . . to Students of Art, interested in practical applications of aesthetic principles. Tomorrow at Horne's . . . and only at Horne's in Pittsburgh!

Two decorative motifs, the silaque leaf and the wheat ear, form the identifying ornamentation of this furniture. Of these two, the silaque leaf, illustrated left, is more repeated. It is an original motif, leaf-like in formation, but actually suggested by the outlines of an open pea pod. This versatile motif is used elongated or shortened, in plume formation, folded over corners or in classical linear form.

PONTIFF MEETS SCRIBES, LAUDS NEWSPAPERS

VATICAN CITY, April 9.—(AP)—Writing a new footnote to church history, Pope Pius XI received foreign correspondents this afternoon, the first time any Pope has received them in a body.

LAUDS PAPERS

Pope Pius first made a circle of the correspondents, speaking a word or two with each. Dressed in white, the Pontiff then ascended to the crimson throne chair. Speaking in French, he said he was happy to have made their acquaintance, that he himself had arranged the audience and that they were welcome in the house of "the common father of all."

The Pope said:

"Newspapers were a considerable element in creating the magnificent worldwide resonance which the holy year has had. The holy year has created a new, exalted religious spirit on earth. I am grateful, therefore."

ASK VATICAN BUREAU

The Pope praising the press, said he would call it a "loudspeaker with strength" and that it carried the thoughts and deeds of leaders to all corners of the world.

His Holiness acknowledged receipt of a written statement presented by Robert Hodel, of Switzerland, president of the Foreign Correspondents' Association, asking creation of a press bureau at the Vatican.

GIRLS WELCOME AID TO CUPID

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—Two girls, stenographer and society debutante, regard it as a gesture both fine and discreet this admission by Prof. Robert F. Rogers that his famous recipe for success wasn't so good.

In Rochester, N. Y., yesterday Prof. Rogers said he was "all wrong" five years ago when he issued this bit of advice for up-and-coming young men:

"Marry the boss's daughter, and don't bother with the stenographer if you expect to succeed."

Today, Miss Mildred Reilly, New York stenographer — and somewhat of a philosophical stenographer, too—had this comment:

"It is pretty nice of the professor to back-track. It sounds like he is emancipating the working girl."

A society debutante, who showed the traditional patrician aversion to lending her name to a statement, was pleased about Prof. Rogers, detrenchment. She said:

"It's very fine of him. I hope these business gigolos—rather an appropriate term, don't you think—heed the professor's advice. Society doesn't want them anyway."

KIN TO ASSIST MRS. MASSIE

International News Service.

GENOA, Italy, April 9.—Relatives of Mrs. Thalia Fortescue Massie today were believed to be planning to come here from the United States to assist her.

Mrs. Massie, central figure of the startling Honolulu attack and murder case of two years ago, was resting more peacefully in Dr. Emilio Borelli's clinic for nervous diseases following her suicide attempt aboard the liner Roma last week.

Certain of her relatives, in cable communication with American Consul John Putnam, intimated they would sail immediately to join Mrs. Massie, who recently was divorced in Reno from Lieut. Thomas Massie, U. S. N. It was not revealed which relatives planned the trip. Dr. Borelli said:

"Mrs. Massie had a nervous day yesterday, and it was partly my fault. I was wrong in permitting the American consul and his wife to see her. They brought her some cables from home, and this reacted on her badly."

Pseudo 'Pretty Boy' Disarmed by Girls

STROUD, Okla., April 9.—(AP)—A 19-year-old youth, who boasted he was "Pretty Boy" Floyd, was in jail here today, disarmed and captured by two high school girls. He gave his name as Raymond Boles.

The girls, Mildred Rudell, 16, and her sister, Lillian, 17, turned tables on the youth when he entered their home and at the point of a pistol demanded the keys to their father's car. When the mother entered, the man turned. Lillian lunged for his pistol, while Mildred grabbed his hair.

New Siamese Revolt Nipped; 100 Arrested

BANGKOK, Siam, April 9.—(AP.)—Capture of government heads and seizure of the army and communication lines were among plans of plotters whose revolutionary coup was frustrated last week, it was revealed today. The government arrested 100 persons.

Both the city and provinces were quiet today. Government spokesmen said the arrests completely nipped the plot.

Tanguay Sings 'I DO Care,' to Aid Blind

CHICAGO, April 9.—(Universal)—Eva Tanguay, the girl who sang her "I Don't Care" song into fame and fortune, today told of a new song which will not only start a new career for her, in behalf of the blind, but will supplement the old one. It is called "I Do Care."

Miss Tanguay, resting at the Sherman Hotel, plans to resume her stage work as a hostess at Chicago motion pictures theaters. She has recovered completely from the operation performed upon her eyes for cataracts by Dr. Harry Gradle, Chicago eye specialist.

The ailment which deprived her of her eyesight temporarily she said has deepened her sympathy for all in similar predicament, and it is her ambition to devote her future efforts to helping them.

KEENAN THREAT SUSPECT HELD

W. Walter Dolan, 45, of 1303 Denniston avenue, arrested March 30 as a suspect in an extortion plot against James F. Keenan, of the Schenley Apartments, was held for the Federal grand jury today by United States Commissioner Roger Knox.

Keenan, president of the Haugh & Keenan Storage and Transfer Company, testified to having received four letters threatening him with death unless he turned over $15,000.

Postal Inspector D. H. Stephens, who investigated the case, testified that in his opinion the handprinting in the letters resembled a sample done by Dolan when he was arrested. Stephens also said that stationery found in Dolan's room resembled that on which the letters were sent to Keenan.

Dolan, a former employe of Keenan, did not testify. His attorney, William H. Coleman, challenged Stephen's testimony as to Dolan's writing. Dolan is at liberty under $5,000 bond.

BRITAIN SCANS GERMAN ARMS

LONDON, April 9.—(AP.)—Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons today that the British government is giving "very serious" consideration to Germany's contemplated increased expenditures of her army, navy, and air forces.

Sir John was cheered by the legislators as he made the announcement. He declared:

"I have instructed our ambassador at Berlin to make inquiries of the German Government on the subject."

West Homestead Premium Row Up

Another attempt will be made tonight to adjust the differences between Burgess Richard H. Lawry, of West Homestead, and minority members of Council, over the raising of $30 to pay insurance of volunteer firemen and borough employes. The accident and life insurance premiums of borough employes were due March 30 and have not been paid.

Reports of a threatened strike were denied by leaders of the firemen, who added, however, that the firemen resented being called upon to risk lives unprotected by insurance.

U.S. to Dodge League Political Tangles

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(INS.)—Determination of the United States to remain out of discussions involving political aspects of European disarmament was reiterated today by Secretary of State Hull.

In response to questions concerning American representation at the meeting in Geneva tomorrow of the steering committee of the Disarmament Conference, Hull said American Minister Hugh R. Wilson had standing instructions to remain aloof from discussions involving local political problems.

Child, Diplomat, Arrives in Dublin

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, April 9.—(AP.)—Richard Washburn Child, diplomatic representative of President Roosevelt, arrived today with Mrs. Child.

He hopes to get in touch with the government concerning trade questions and to discover possible future openings.

Papers to Defend Fraud Charge Stolen

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 9.—(INS.)—Papers he proposed to use in his defense against embezzlement charges and cash and jewelry valued at $2,000 have been stolen from Fred A. LaBelle, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, it was disclosed today.

They were taken from a safe in the Chamber of Commerce offices some time Sunday.

SHUN LEAGUE, GERMAN ACE TELLS U. S.

Capt. Hans Stockmann, wartime aviator in the Imperial German army, now a prospective citizen of the United States, believes that this country can best avoid war by being prepared for war and at the same time keep out of any foreign entanglements such as the League of Nations and the World Court.

Stockmann lauded the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers for the campaign being waged against attempts to force this country into the League and he urged every loyal American to sign the monster protest petition being circulated in this territory by the Sun-Telegraph.

He said:

"I did not sign the petition myself. I am not a citizen. I will be a citizen next year. My wife is a good American. She signed and many of my friends also signed the petition."

CAN PREVENT WAR

Capt. Stockmann said:

"By being prepared for war and well prepared for war, you prevent war. By telling the people the real truth and horror of war you make them conscious of all its misery and thus warn them against it. This country is a continent by itself, with friendly neighbors. If you get into any foreign entanglements it will take money, strength and the lives of so many American citizens."

Thousands of other veterans who like Capt. Stockmann know the horrors of war, are busy circulating petitions against entrance to the league.

Veterans in every part of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia are circulating petitions. American Legion Post No. 113, of Bedford, Pa., sent in a petition today as did members of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 45, Follansbee, W. Va.

Commander C. M. Stripe of the Col. Emsworth Camp No. 87, Sons of Union Veterans of Middletown, Pa., sent in a long list of names for members of the camp and the auxiliary.

HOW TO AID DRIVE

Have you signed a petition? Have you gone on record as opposing the League of Nations and the World Court?

You can take an active part against the attempts to force this nation into foreign entanglements by sending to the League Court Editor for a petition, signing it and returning it immediately.

You can do even more by having members of your family, associates and friends sign the petition. Or, if you prefer, use the petition printed elsewhere in this newspaper.

League Foes Increasing In U. S., France Told

Paris Journalist Finds Sentiment Against Pacts

Universal Service.

PARIS, April 9.—Americans are now "more than ever opposed to the entry of the United States into the League of Nations," Pierre Denoyer, New York correspondent of the Petit Parisien states in a cable to his newspaper. His article published Wednesday follows:

"It was 17 years ago that the Congress of the United States voted its decision to enter the World War on the side of the allies.

"This anniversary has no more importance than many others; but the Associated Press, on this occasion, has interviewed the seven Congressmen remaining from 56 who in 1917 voted against the United States entrance into the war.

"All declare emphatically that, if they were presented the same question once more, they would vote 'no' again.

POPULAR ASPECT

"This inquiry of the large American news agency is indicative of the tendencies of public opinion: not the Congressmen who voted for entry into the war against Germany, but those who voted against it, are interviewed. It is apparently the popular aspect. It is not ignored that there are war menaces in Europe, but there is only one concern: To stay out of it.

"This passive neutrality before world events does not correspond to an absolutely unanimous opinion.

"Only today, Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war under President Wilson, publishes a significant declaration. It accompanies a petition which American internationalists propose to address to the present President, asking him to fix conditions under which the United States would accept entrance into the League of Nations. More than 20 organizations invite the public to sign this petition, Baker declares:

ON ROAD TO ARMS RACE

"There is no doubt that the world is on the road to an arms race which would serve nationalist designs. If this movement continues, another World War, as disastrous as the first, will inevitably result.

"A manifestation of co-operation on the part of the United States can turn the scale. It is of the highest importance that petitions of this type be made, requesting the United States to declare the conditions under which its entry into the League of Nations would be possible; it is necessary that our government should act with knowledge of what the American people wish its government to do.

"To know what the people wish is not always easy. Today, it would not be encouraging. There are numerous Americans who contend that, if the people of the United States had been consulted in 1917, they would NOT have entered the war.

URGE PLEBISCITE

"This is the formal opinion of Representative Harold Knutson, of Minnesota, one of the seven congressmen interrogated by the Associated Press. Also, it is not surprising that Representative James Frear, of Wisconsin, has proposed a resolution, according to which, except in the case of invasion, the United States could enter a war only after a plebiscite.

"His proposition actually has been referred to a sub-committee of the House of Representatives.

"What will be its lot is impossible to definie; but it appears likely that for the present, American public opinion is following definitely pacifist tendencies and does not understand very well European efforts to maintain peace and is more than ever opposed to the entry of the United States into the League of Nations."

JAPS CAUTIOUS ON ARMS DEALS

GENEVA, April 9.—(AP.)—As delegates gathered today for the forthcoming disarmament steering committee meeting, it was learned in responsible Japanese quarters that Japan awaits the decisions of Europe on the fundamentals of the disarmament problem before adopting any concrete attitude herself.

Japan, it was said, may or may not accept a limitation agreement, depending upon what the projected treaty contains—specifically in reference to penalties against nations which might violate the agreement.

Japan deems herself an infant as regards aviation and may not be able, it was understood, to accept her present status of air armaments as answering her defensive needs.

It was indicated Japan is giving more importance to the interdependence of armaments. With a naval conference on the horizon, the Japanese are interested in not only what land and air armaments Germany expects, but also in what Berlin seeks to obtain at sea.

Parsonage Looted As Pastor Preaches

LANCASTER, April 9.—(AP.)—Robbers stole a brooch, earrings and a gold pin from the parsonage of the United Brethren Church in West Willow while the Rev. Hervin U. Roop was conducting Sabbath services in the church, 20 feet away.

Bellevue Pastor Gets New Charge

Transfer of the Rev. Ralph B. Urmy, pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Chuch for the past seven years, to the Methodist Episcopal Church at Westfield, N. J., was announced to the Bellevue congregation yesteday.

The Rev. Roy E. Manne, pastor of the Westfield church, will succeed the Rev. Urmy here. The transfer is effective May 1.

DICK REYNOLDS' BRIDE BARES MONEY WOES

By HARVEY RIVKIN
International News Service.

BALTIMORE, April 9. — Poor little rich girl . . . wealth . . . millions—usually associated with an unalloyed joy, a carefree abandon—brought tears of generous misgiving to the eyes of a pretty society bride-of-a-year.

She is Elizabeth Dillard Reynolds, just turned 25, who told of the worries of wealth as she waited in a fashionable hotel lobby for "Dick" Reynolds, her husband and heir to a large share of the huge Reynolds tobacco fortune.

TOO MUCH A BURDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds came to Baltimore to effect the transfer of a $25,000,000 legacy from his father to "Dick" on the latter's twenty-eighth birthday. She pondered the question:

"Money? Money, too much money, can become a Frankenstein.

"It must be put to directed good."

Calling attention to a batch of 25 letters in her hand—penciled, penned, typewritten and printed, she said:

"See there . . . they are all appeals for money—all from strangers.

IN EVERY MAIL

"Every mail brings more appeals . . . more worry. I worry so about the plight of others less fortunate that I can't buy even the simplest dress without misgivings.

"Expensive clothes? I can't buy them because I take no pleasure in wearing them.

"Still, the woman who buys a $5,000 mink coat is giving employment to mink trappers and others all over the world. It makes one wonder."

The most poignant of the many appeals, she said, came from other girls whose hearts fluttered at the society page announcement of her engagement to Reynolds. She added:

"They were so pathetic, and all from girls.

"Girls who wrote telling me how lucky I was to be marrying money . . . Girls who wrote telling me they couldn't marry the men they loved because of the lack of it."

WANT SIX CHILDREN

"Blitz"—her nickname — smiled a bit shamefacedly through her tears, but there was sorrow in both the tears and the smile as she referred to "those poor girls."

"Some of the letters were really tragic."

The "tobacco heiress' " sense of humor was considerably tickled, she admitted, by solemn reiterated references to her as "the tobacco heiress." She said:

"Some of the newspapers were really comical—often they had Dick rolling on the floor in laughter."

The reporter hemmed and hawed a bit—the delicate question of children, other heirs to the fortune? Said Mrs. Reynolds:

"Why, we're crazy about children! We're going to have at least six!"

VILLAGERS FLEE FATED INLET

OSLO, Norway, April 9.—(AP.)—Survivors of the cliffside catastrophe in which more than 50 persons died on Norway's West Coast were reported fleeing the locality today.

No further rock falls were expected, but it was believed few residents of the fishing hamlets of Tafjord and Foraa would linger long at the dread spot turned into a death trap by rushing waters Saturday.

Sleeping residents of the two villages, on opposite sides of Korsnaes Fjord, were trapped by great waves which rolled up after a crag weighing thousands of tons fell into the sea.

Ships bearing relief supplies were en route from Aalesund to the scene of the disaster, Norway's worst in years.

Old-time residents recalled today that years ago there were predictions that some day the cliff would fall into the sea

U. S. Realty Dealer In Shanghai Suicide

SHANGHAI, China, April 9.—(AP.)—Thomas C. Britton, 42, prominent American real estate man and vice president of the Shanghai American Chamber of Commerce, killed himself last night.

Britton was a graduate of Wake Forest College, Wake Forest, N. C. He was born in Soochow, China, of missionary parents. Mrs. Britton was reared in Louisville, Ky.

Candidate Favors Utility Rate Cut

Al Tronzo, Democratic candidate for Legislature in the First District, favors a sharp slash in utility rates, child labor legislation with claws and abolition of slum districts. English editor of L'Unione, Tronzo is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, where he was a member of the Liberal Club.

Mt. Lebanon Girl Directing Play

Miss Virginia McCown, of 243 Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, will direct a one-act play, "Sparkin'," to be presented by the Thespians of Westminister College in the school community house Thursday evening. In the cast will be Miss May Smyth, also of Mt. Lebanon,

Two Byrd Aides Back, Report 'All's Well'

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP.)—Reporting "all's well" in the Antarctic, two members of the Byrd expedition returned to New York today.

Lindley will return to the Antarctic next fall; Czecaka won't because of ill health.

The morale of the members of the expedition has been high, Lindley reported. No one takes any baths in Antarctica, he said. It means pneumonia.

PARTY TO HONOR FATHER MURPHY

A testimonial card party and dance will be held Wednesday evening in Moose Temple for the Rev. Thomas J. Murphy, former assistant pastor at St. Richard's Catholic Church, Bedford avenue and Wandless street.

Miss Whalen

Committee chairman in charge of the testimonial are John Livingston, Rev. Thomas J. McCarty, Rev. Francis M. McCarter, Rev. Frank L. Martin, Mrs. W. S. Butler, Mrs. George A. Craft, Sr., and R. W. Howell. Music will be furnished by Ed Taylor and his orchestra. Among the aides are Miss Betty Keaney, Miss Mary Agnes Culhane, Miss Mary Whalen and Miss Estelle Prima.

SHIP'S SUCCESS SPURS WORKER

Ludwik Fieder, mechanic at Bettis Field, today was contemplating learning how to fly the ships he has been working on for years, so he can fly his own ship, built in spare time over a period of four years.

Out of parts collected at various points, Fieder built a tiny biplane, weighing 753 pounds, and Saturday wheeled it out of its hangar and looked it over. It looked good.

Yesterday Charles Curry, pilot, took the ship for a test, while hundreds visiting the field looked on. The ship behaved like a veteran, stood for looping, banking and other stunts, and was brought back to earth in excellent condition.

Curry pronounced it a good plane, and Fieder, for the first time, decided he ought to be a pilot.

'ANTIS' ACTIVE IN TIME POLL

Many of the ballots were on printed post card forms, apparently distributed by persons interested in defeating daylight savings.

One man, in a letter to the Mayor, charged this campaign was fostered by the motion picture industry. He said one theater he attended flashed a ballot notice on the screen, but when he went to cast a vote in favor of daylight savings, he said he was informed that only negative ballots were being received there.

The Mayor's clerks have not yet tabulated the new ballots, so the official count in the poll is not known.

COUGHLIN AIR TALKS TO END

Universal Service.

DETROIT, April 9.—The radio broadcasts of the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, of Detroit, will end next Sunday, the radio priest has announced.

He intimated that the radio feature was being discontinued for lack of funds, and admitted he did not know whether the addresses would ever be resumed.

Father Coughlin said:

"The depression and the cost of building our new church, the Shrine of the Little Flower, at Royal Oak, have wiped out our once-sizeable surplus, and after next Sunday there will be no more broadcasts—for this season, at least."

In the concluding program, Father Coughlin announced, he will discuss the Fletcher-Rayburn "Wall street" bill, with Dr. Raymond Moley, former "Brain Truster," and Ferdinand Pecora, special counsel to the Senate committee investigating banking.

SECLUDED NUN LEADER DEAD

Mother Hyacinth, whose only contact with the outside world for 24 years was the sight and sound of the roaring airplanes, is dead today in the convent of the Passionist Order of Sisters at2715 Churchview avenue.

Founder of the order in the United States, she had been cloistered in the convent since coming to this country from Italy 24 years ago.

Never had she left the inclosure, and even death will not part her from the plot of ground she knew so well; for tomrrow morning—the first of the nuns to pass away—she will be buried in the convent cemetery.

Living in almost medieval seclusion, the nuns have received through a turning whell, called "the Turn," al their food and even the needlework by which they earn funds for the maintenance of their property.

The mass tomorrow at 9 a. m. will be celebrated by the Very Rev. Father Benjamin, C. P., with the nuns in the private chapel and the public permitted in another chapel, from which all they will be able to see through an iron grating in the mother superior's casket.

Sanders, Leader of G. O. P., Ill Here

Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican National Committee, has been seriously ill in the Allegheny General Hospital for three weeks, it became known today. His condition was said today to be much improved.

Stricken on board a train, he was taken to the hospital March 19. He since has been under the care of Dr. John H. Alexander, according to hospital authorities.

Lament of Misery Nothing But Pose With Many

"Sittin' on a log,
Pettin' my dog,"

We've all heard it. We all know the moaning, groaning tune of it. It comes to us over the radio. Played on orchestras in little cafes. Hummed by our little girl with light, flying hair. Or by our dark-faced maid as she mops linoleum.

Soap suds, and the blues. Dust cloths, and the blues. Black and white keys of pianos or typewriters and the blues. Just anywhere, they'll strike us. SITTIN' ON A LOG. And that log may be a Louis Quinze chair.

It may be a bench in a popular restaurant. An over-stuffed sofa. For happiness comes not at will. And memories and old dreams and faces gone beyond recall slide in on new faces, not half so dear. This happens often.

Yes, the gayest of the party can be swept under once in awhile. We can't always be on the UP and UP. Tears come even on the petals of flowers. Tear drops of dew. Raindrops. Maybe.

"You'd be happy anywhere," someone once said to me. "Sitting in a mud puddle. And you'd get along somehow."

And he meant it as a compliment. But I've been in that mud puddle more than once. Yet have tried to keep the stiff upper lip.

COURAGE. That's what we've got to have when things are vying to wipe us out.

Spirituals. They've gotten under our skins. And we like them.

Young people lick them up as if they were rich cream in a china dish. Everybody seems to like Helen Morgans.

But aren't these blues sort of a hang-over? We've gotten drunk on our troubles, that's it. We're jazzing the sorrows out of our systems. For there aren't any real clouds. It "aint rainin'." The robin is gathering straw on the lawn.

Yet we're sad. And let anybody try to stop us!

HAUNTING PAST

It is that great big, eerie, long legged thing called the past, that haunts us. We remember the day we sold out for a nickel. Or again, it is the lonely, mirky stretch ahead, that we name for lack of a better word the future. The time when we [illegible] and nobody'll care enough to sit down beside us.

Yet LIFE always presents just another OPENING. It's like spring in the department stores. And if we enter into it with a light heart, we'll be there with the crowd. "Make me over, Mother April," sung Dick Hovey. And the old lady who is the mother of all things living, will do a job on you and me, if we but give her a chance.

Beauty staticians are passing up crows' feet and lines about the mouth. These things give their clientele character, they are saying.

Wisdom seems to be going steady with Emily Post. And unless you are on speaking terms with it, you're likely to be shoddy.

Yet hasn't it always been so. Only the young dare disregard wisdom. Anyone the least bit past the heydey, has to look before the leap is taken.

"Sittin' on a Log, Pettin' My Dog." That reminds me of a picture of Albert Payson Terhune that stands on a dresser of mine. He gave it to me, himself. A big man, with a deep voice, and winnin' ways. The youngest son of Marion Harland. (Have you got her cook book?) And he isn't unhappy. Just oozes sunshine.

It may be artistic to be miserable. But it isn't comfortable.

It may seem to the casual acquaintance that we have more character if we but ring in plenty of the sob stuff. But is that SO?

SMILE WHEN BLUE

How about the character it takes to force the head up when we aren't feeling like it.

How about making the SMILE COME on a day when we are in the dumps.

Aren't we as a people, and right here in Pittsburgh, too, giving too much space to the down-and-out attitude. Aren't we allowing too many of the ring seats to be occupied by the weighted-with-woe crowd?

It's a pose with most of us. This lament of misery. And let us snap out of it.

To Unhappy B. A.:

I cannot print your letter. You say any number of things that do not come under my sanction as readable literature. Yet, my dear B. A., I can't see why you should give up going out with any young fellow who asks you. The days of your youth are fleeting. And the time may come when nobody asks you. Then will be your time to worry.

If this young man you write about keeps on [illegible] and find employment elsewhere. However do not give up your job, until you are sure of another.

Also, unhappy B. A., it wouldn't be a bad idea to improve the shining hours by bettering your English, and in learning to write with less errors. These are not the days in which careless people land BIG. The depression, if it has done nothing else for the business world, has at least done a lot of weeding out of undesirables. Don't let yourself be one of them.

Fay King Discusses Wardrobe Property Rights of Sisters

DRESSED ALIKE!
MOTHER, SIS WON'T LET ME WEAR HER BLUE SCARF!
MY SISTER IS DOING FINE ON THE STAGE BUT I PREFER WORKING IN THE STORE
FAY KING

By FAY KING

Sisters may be twins, or so near an age that they look so, but you will seldom see them dress exactly alike if they have a choice in the matter.

On the other hand, chums will love to choose wardrobes so much alike thay are often taken for twins or sisters.

Many needless quarrels between sisters could be avoided if the rights of each were respected. One should not "borrow" any of the other's wearing apparel without permission.

The difference in taste and temperament between twins, is often markedly dissimilar. I once knew attractive twins. One went on the stage, but the other remained behind to work in a store. Nothing could induce her to join her sister, though everyone thought they would have attained fame and fortune together.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Heartburn a Warning of Trouble

There is a great deal of confusion about a common symptom known as "heartburn." I call it a symptom and not a disease because it is merely one sign of disorder within the body. Many believe the symptom indicates heart disease; they worry about it. Others accept it as a trivial ailment and pay little attention to it.

Dr. Copeland

Heartburn is a peculiar sensation felt in the region around the heart. As a rule, it is the result of excessive gas formation in the stomach. This distends the stomach, causing it to press against the heart. There is gulping of gas and perhaps of sour fluid.

If you are subject to digestive disturbances, you are probably familiar with this annoying and really uncomfortable symptom. It is a common complaint with those who are careless about their eating habits. It may also be one of the effects of some disturbances elsewhere in the body. For example, it is sometimes traced to a disorder of the intestines, liver, gall bladder, pancreas, or other vital organ.

It is wise for the sufferer from heartburn to consult a physician. Do not neglect this disorder, because it may be a warning of some disturbance which demands attention. The continued presence of heartburn warrants a complete physical examination. The doctor may recommend the X-ray and other procedures in order to ascertain the cause and determine what is necessary for cure.

Do not resort habitually to the common practice of taking soda. I venture to say that tons of bicarbonate of soda are annually consumed for the relief of heartburn. It is true, relief is obtained in many cases, but it is only temporary.

Bear in mind that certain cases of heartburn are aggravated by taking an alkali like soda. You may require an acid or more radical treatment. I do not recommend the taking of soda except in special cases and when prescribed by a physician.

I cannot overstate the importance of not neglecting heartburn. Recently I overheard a lady remark that she suffered from heartburn, but her mother had been a victim of heartburn and that it was an "inherited" trouble. Such is an old-fashioned idea and not now accepted.

Take advantage of modern medical knowledge. Failure to heed nature's warning is a short-cut to chronic disease and premature old age. It may lead to some very serious affliction.

-:- -:- Correct Manners -:- -:-

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Man Pays

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The girls of my club have planned a roller skating party, and each girl is to invite a young man friend. I have already asked a friend to escort me, and now a discussion comes up when I want mother to give me the fare. She believes that I am making myself cheap by paying for this young man, whom I also asked to our prom.

If it is right to pay for this young man, shall I give him the money to pay for us both? This seems rather an embarrassing situation and I would like to do what is correct. MARY.

I agree with your mother that it would be less embarrassing if you leave it as the young man's responsibility to pay the fare to the party.

Given in Marriage :-: A Sequel to Heart Of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Veritzen Chides Madge on Absence of Husband and 'Ede'

There was a distinctly malicious note in Philip Veritzen's voice as he made his amused retort to Harry Underwood's sally concerning the romance in the air being contagious. I was conscious that his keen eyes were fixed upon my face, and that he was taking a Quilpish satisfaction in the resentful embarrassment which I was not able completely to hide from him, altough I struggled hard to appear perfectly nonchalant.

He considered, I knew, that he had discharged two barrels in my direction. To his mind, I had cause for pique not only in my husband's failure to return with Edith Fairfax at the same time as the majority of the party, but that Hugh Grantland, with Avis Arlen, was also not yet in evidence. I was infuriated at his sly quip, but I could not resent it without betraying recognition of his insinuation that I had cause for concern in the prolonged absence of either couple.

Fanny Arlen unexpectedly saved me the trouble of a reply, and I felt gratitude such as I never expected to feel toward this rather flighty woman, mother of the girl who has caused me so much trouble.

"Phil!" she exclaimed, half playfully, half in reproof. "How you talk! I'm sure I don't want my daughter to get moonstruck with a man as old as Maj. Grantland."

CHIDES FANNY

"My dear Fanny!" Mr. Veritzen's voice was playfully chiding. "It is positively disrespectful to speak in that fashion of a man so wealthy as Maj. Grantland."

"Wealthy?" Mrs. Arlen's voice held a shrilly incredulous note. "An army officer?"

"I know." Philip Veritzen's amused voice assented. "There are not many of them on the lists for hoarding gold. But Hugh Grantland is simply dripping with coin, and I don't believe he's been as affected as most people by the depression. Am I not right, Mrs. Graham?"

"I'm sorry, but I can't tell you." I said a bit frigidly. "I know nothing whatever of Maj. Grantland's affairs, financial or otherwise."

"How very odd!" Fanny Arlen murmured, and my gratitude to her fled abruptly. I realized that Avis, in the old wives' phrasing, "came honestly" by her cattiness. Mrs. Arlen's exclamation was as feline a remark as I had heard for a long time, and her tones told me that she meant to scratch.

"I can assure you, my dear Fanny,"—Philip Veritzen's tones were silky—"that even if I cannot get Mrs. Graham's corroboration upon our friend's financial status, I know enough about his affairs to tell you that he is the answer to a maiden's prayer, socially and financially."

FANNY POUTS

Fanny Arlen pouted, and I could not forbear the feline mental comment that she was both too old and too plump to pout successfully. But I have never been fortunate enough to know a woman who, having been complimented in her youth upon pouting prettily, could resist the temptation to display the accomplishment, even at a wrinkled and toothless 80.

"I think you're horrid, Phil!" she said. "You talk as if I'd want my precious little girl to marry a man 20 years older than herself, because he was rich. You know that all I live for is her happiness, and when my darling Avis marries, she must wed only for love."

I heard a cough, quickly and suspiciously suppressed, from Harry Underwood, and guessed that Lillian, sharing his amusement but with better control over herself, had effectually admonished him, either with fingers or heels.

Another surmise also was in my mind, called there by the suddenly speculative look upon Fanny Arlen's face.

Contract Bridge :-: HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Achieving the Impossible

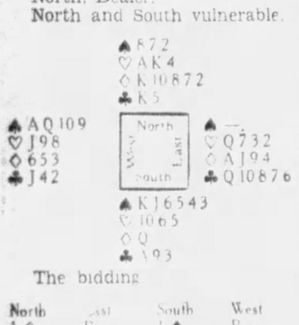
When one of the defending players holds what appear to be four sure trump tricks and the other holds a certain trick in a plain suit, it would appear that a contract to take 10 tricks was overambitious. Nevertheless such a contract was fulfilled by Mr. Alphonse Moyse, Jr., in one of the sessions of the team-of-four event during the recent Eastern Championship Tournament in New York. The hand which produced this remarkable result was:

North, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.



The bidding

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♢ | Pass | 1 ♠ | Pass |
| 1 NT | Pass | 3 ♠ (1) | Pass |
| 4 ♠ | Pass | Pass | Pass (2) |

1—This is a borderline three-spade bid but, after all, the suit has six cards and the South hand contains more than two honor-tricks.

2—Most amazing restraint. Apparently West has the contract beaten in his own hand as South's bidding clearly marks him with both the King and Knave of spades.

West's Opening lead was a heart, which was won in Dummy with the King. South now led a small diamond and East here made the play which permitted the eventual fulfillment of the contract. He played the nine of diamonds, and Mr. Moyse won the trick with the Queen. Dummy was now reentered by leading a small club to the King and the deuce of diamonds was led and ruffed in the closed hand. On this trick East played the Knave of diamonds. The Ace of clubs was then led, followed by a low club, which was ruffed in Dummy, and the King of diamonds was now led. East covered, and South again ruffed. South now led a small heart and won with the Ace in Dummy. He then led another round of diamonds, upon which he discarded his losing heart. West ruffed with the spade nine but his hopeless situation was now apparent. He returned his last heart, whereupon Mr. Moyse ruffed and fulfilled his apparently over-ambitious contract by means of an endplay.

At the table where the other part of the team-of-four played the same hand, South also contracted to make four spades, was doubled and went down 500 points.

Tomorrow's Hand

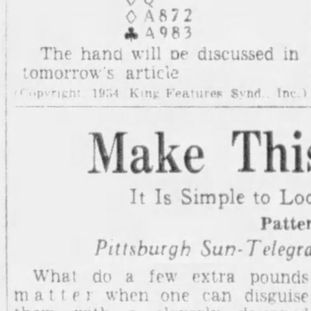
South, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

What do a few extra pounds matter when one can disguise them with a cleverly designed frock—like this, for example. It has a flattering version of the favorite jabot, to fall softly over a full bust; it has graceful sleeves to hide stout arms, and slenderizing skirt seamings to create an illusion of slimness over the hips. It adapts itself to any number of fabrics—the lovely sheers, crepes or silks. Solid colors are always good—grey, navy, beige, and apple green are in vogue. Prints, selected wisely with an eye to their size, might be used too.

Pattern 1822 is available in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 4¼ yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

Welsh, Judge Marion D. Patterson, Secretary of Agriculture John A. McSparran, Congressman Edward Lowber Stokes, Charles A. Dravo, Tilighman E. Hauseman and Benjamin G. Eynon.

On the Democratic ballot, the names will appear in this order:

GUFFEY NO. 1

oJseph F. Guffey, the organization candidate, drew first place on the Democratic senatorial ballot, followed by Robert Gray Taylor and Roland S. Morris, the latter the independent nominee.

Vincent A. Carroll, of Philadelphia, drew first place on the Republican ballot for Lieutenant Governor, and State Senator Henry L. Snyder, of Emaus, the independent candidate, drew the primary position on the Democratic ballot.

The names of the Republican candidates for Lieutenant Governor will appear on the ballot in this order after Carroll:

Speaker of the House Grover C. Talbot, David A. Kaufman, State Senator Leon C. Prince, Albert B. Davidson, Edwin R. Cox, Frank P. B. Thompson, William H. Hamilton, Jr., Thomas R. Aubrey, State Senator Harry B. Scott; State Senator Horace W. Schnatz, G. Ralph McQuiston, Warren C. Harer and Robert C. Shaw.

KENNEDY'S PRIZE

On the Democratic ballot Thomas Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, drew second place for Lieutenant Governor after Senator Snyder; Thompson drew third and Representative John E. Malina, fourth.

The Governor's position was drawn by Richard Heagy, chief clerk in his office. Margiotti drew his own position, while that of Phillips was drawn by his daughter, Margaret.

Under the system in effect, numbered slips from 1 to 5,000 were placed in an old mail bag hung from a coat rack. Positions were determined by the law numbers.

DEWEY HEADS LIST

Philip H. Dewey, the incumbent, drew first place on the Republican ballot for Secretary of Internal Affairs followed by Mayor Eddie McCloskey, of Johnstown; M. Harvey Taylor and Merle Coover.

Mayor McCloskey drew first place on the Democratic ballot followed by Thomas A. Logue, organization candidate, and Representative Norbert Fitzgerald, Independent nominee.

Justice Frank M. Trexler, the incumbent, drew last place on both the Republican and Democratic ballots for Superior Court while James J. Regan, Jr., drew first place on both. There were no other candidates on the Republican ballot but following Regan on the Democratic ballot were Representative Chester H. Rhodes, second, and George F. Douglas, third.

STONE BOY GETS BIRTHDAY GIFTS

International News Service.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 9.—New happiness brightened life today for Benny Hendricks, the "stone boy," as he celebrated his ninth birthday in a hospital ward, while science continued its battle against the strange disease that is hardening his body.

Benny gave his undivided attention to the scores of congratulatory letters and gifts that came for him at the hospital from all sections of the country. Despite the importance of the occasion, hospital authorities barred the doors against visitors, and only Benny's family were permitted to see him.

Betokening further hope for Benny, Mrs. Priscilla Wydallis revealed that, although physicians long ago gave up hope for her 6-year-old son, Francis, like Benny, a victim of "myositis ossificans progressiva," was responding to her own tender ministrations.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25c at drug stores.

Friends of Priest At Golden Jubilee

Celebrating his golden jubilee in the Carmelite Order, Father Gregory was greeted by hundreds of friends yesterday at the Holy Trinity Church. Among scores who grasped the 74-year-old priest by the hand were many middle-aged men whom years ago he had trained as altar boys at Holy Trinity Church.

The Rev. Anthony Dressel, who preached the sermon, was one of the "boys" Father Gregory taught. Father Gregory is now located at St. John's Church, New Baltimore, Pa.

NAZIS AND FOES RIOT IN N. Y.

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 9.—At least half a dozen Nazi and anti-Nazi sympathizers were in jail today and perhaps a score more were nursing battered heads and bruised knuckles as the result of a near riot at the Ridgewood Grove Arena in Brooklyn last night.

Violence broke out following a meeting of 4,000 Nazi sympathizers at the arena to protest the Jewish boycott on German-made goods. Anti-Nazis were stationed outside the arena and the trouble started as the pro-Hitlerites emerged from the hall.

JAPS CUT SHORT U. S. SHOW TOUR

TOKIO, April 9.—(AP.)—Police, cold to the beauty of 45 American showgirls whose charms have packed Japan's largest theater for the last six weeks, ordered their early departure today.

The company, known as the American Revue Troupe, headed by A. B. Marcus and including 75 members, was notified it must leave Japan on the first liner after completion of the Tokio engagement April 15.

The action will force cancellation of several weeks' booking in Nagoya and Osaka.

The troupe arrived in Tokio from San Francisco on February 23. Members' transit visas expired March 28. Police granted an extension until April 15, but further extension was refused.

Since the police move was in conformity with the law, the United States Embassy was unable to act officially. It was understood, however, that Embassy attaches had informally asked the foreign office to intercede.

Ground Broken for Lutheran Church

Ground was broken yesterday for the new Bethany Lutheran Church on Library road, across from the Bethel High School. George Scharfetter, chairman of the building committee, lifted the first spadeful of earth. Assisting in the service was the Rev. Lammert Redelf, pastor of the Montgomery Avenue Church, North Side.

CHICAGO WARD LEADER SLAIN

CHICAGO, April 9.—(AP.)—Illinois will have a primary election tomorrow but Joseph Tierno, politician in Chicago's "Bloody Twentieth" Ward, will take no part in it.

They found his body in the street yesterday, with bullets in his back. He was a precinct captain in a ward where there is bitter strife for control of the Democratic organization, but he was also seen walking with a young woman shortly before his death. Police are uncertain whether politics or jeasousy actuated the slayer.

They will keep their eye on the Twentieth tomorrow, nevertheless, for it is a ward with a history of bloodshed. In 1921, during a contest between Alderman John Powers and Anthony D'Andrea, several persons were killed. Later D'Andrea himself was shot to death.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get some plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (it won't cost you more than thirty-five cents, 35c), apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Made to Your Measure

Now . . from our New Collection of Fine Hollander Dyed

Nubian Seal* Coats . . . $98

If "custom made" fur coats have always seemed like a wild (but much-desired) extravagance, learn differently now! Right now we have just enough skins to make one hundred Nubian Seal* fur coats. These skins are priced lower than others of this quality will be when the time comes to wear a fur coat. Furriers have more time, can take more care with your custom made coat if you order it now!

Nubian seals* are made from selected quality coney skins—Only the fine, full-haired winter caught skins are used, from the pick of the Australian and New Zealand buck coneys.

Nubian seals* are dyed and guaranteed by A. Hollander & Sons—Nationally known as America's foremost dyers and dressers of furs. Every skin bears the "A. Hollander & Sons" stamp.

Nubian seals* are the next thing to Hudson seals—The process has been so improved and developed that these skins have all the lustre and rich color of fine Hudson Seal.

We will make your coat fit your figure—and your taste—An expert fitter makes a furrier's "canvas," the model on which your coat is made. In addition, we take careful and exact measurements . . . a double check that assures you a perfectly-fitted fur coat.

Nine styles to choose from—Swagger with Ascot, Swagger with Johnny collar, or full length coat with shawl collar, Johnny collar, notched Johnny, Ascot tie, rippled jabot collar. Linings are of kasha, silk crepe, or brocaded silk.

We will store your coat without cost in our storage vaults—on payment of a 25% deposit, till you're ready to wear it. Or, if you wish, we will finish and deliver your coat within two weeks.

With fur prices rising, as they are now, the fine skins at this remarkable "low" make these Nubian seals a particularly sound investment.

THE AMAZING 1934

"SOSNA" OIL

Permanent Wave!

Here's an amazing advance in hair waving that removes any objection you've ever had to a permanent wave! The Sosna Oil Permanent Wave hasn't an electric wire or harmful curling chemical to its name!

Tiny pads, steamed in beneficial "Sosna" oil, are set to the required heat for your hair, which is also steamed in oil. Then they are applied. It is this special oil that reconditions your hair, and gives it a rich, brilliant lustre. There's absolutely no discomfort—you can walk about, relax, shop about the store if you wish!

Try a Sosna Oil Wave. See how easily you can achieve magnificent results. You won't want to ever be without one. And while it costs a trifle more than regular permanents—it's worth it, in comfort, appearance and benefit to the hair! The price is only $15.

Here is the "magic machine" that heats the tiny pads that wave your hair. No wires, as you can see. Nothing can possibly burn you! Sosna gives you a soft, lustrous, natural wave of beauty—and without stretching the hair.

THROUGH THE SPYGLASS

Viewing the New

You little shoppers who want to learn the names of the shops whose items are listed in this column day by day . . . call GRANT 6500 . . . and ASK FOR THE SPYGLASS. Or send in a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply. THE SPYGLASS is always on the alert, peering out new "finds" . . . and you will be answered promptly!

* * *

The other day we opened a cupboard door and a moth leered nastily at us from a pocket of a coat . . . and did we gnash our teeth! And did that moth bite the dust! Because, you see, we had just found out about. . . .

This new thing called moth mist made by one of the best known companies of same. It's a spray that you squirt into closets and anywhere that moths may be romping 'round . . . and they simply turn up their toes to the daisies! Specially priced just now, too . . . 1 pint for 75c . . . used to be $1!

* * *

And if you go in for even more complete jobs of de-mothizing in your home . . . then we suggest that splendid fumigator business which plugs into the electric socket and fumigates merrily on, once every month (which some wise souls say is the ONLY to do!) It hangs in the closet . . . comes complete with 6 refills for its "innards" . . . and needs only to be plugged into the electricity to start working. $1 for the whole business.

* * *

We . . . as you may have guessed . . . are in the throes of housecleaning (sympathize with us, now do!) Which probably accounts for some of this mad desire to visit our latest discoveries on you all . . . or are you frightfully wise housekeepers who knew about them all the time?

Anyway . . . if you're doing over any pieces of furniture that need restaining and waxing just try this new combination stain and wax and we'll collect the credit! For it does the whole job at once . . . on unpainted surfaces remember. Excellent for refinishing or touching up worn spots on the floor. 75c the pint . . . $1.25 the quart.

* * *

For scratching around in nooks and corners of the various pots and kettles of the kitchen (they come in for their share too) try the new steel wool method. You get a metal cylinder with two refills of steel wool all for 25c. Saves your fingers . . . and unlike some we have seen . . . it LASTS!

* * *

Have your sheets, shirts and shorts ever come flapping down after you've had them hung out on the line all nicely propped up! With one of the new clothes props that has a slot in it, there's little danger of this happening. Equally beloved of housewives and laundresses! 25c each; painted green.

* * *

The goodly "sparrow grass" is in season (asparagus, if you can't take a joke and remember your younger days!) And an asparagus cooker is on the market. An aluminum one, something like a double boiler . . . with extra long toppage that allows the heavy part of the stalks to cook a long time whilst the tender tips merely steep gently 'way up at the top! Such a sensible idea . . . and good for broccoli, cauliflower and spinach as well. $1.95.

* * *

To put all your eggs in one basket these days has become quite the thing! Because these square wire mesh baskets allow the air to circulate freely and don't roll your eggs around . . . are easy to keep clean . . . and cost but 25c. How about it, little chickens?

K. Foust, Mrs. Frank Lanahan, Mrs. James R. Macfarlane, Mrs. Philip H. Rinehart and Mrs. Chester B. Story of the Drama League.

FORMAL SOPHISTICATION FOR THE EVENING MODE

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THE SHORTER skirt for evening gowns is well launched as a trend, but there is many a lovely model to be had which still clings to the carpet-sweeping elegance that has distinguished formal clothes for several seasons.

Whisper it gently, but there is no reason why a girl should not choose a trained model for the inner satisfaction it will give her for some special, bang-up occasion—and then have the whole embarrassing thing chopped off before she really gets into the gown to go places and do things of more hectic persuasion. The bridesmaid's dress, for instance, minus its train (which might be sadly missed on the church aisle) and with its hat left at home becomes the best friend of the prom trotter, and even the wedding gown itself can give up its luscious court train to make a jacket for itself after the honeymoon is over and the newly-wed entertainments begin.

* * *

BESIDES THE tenacious hold of long evening skirts, the two models sketched also show that we can still wear very high necklines by candlelight and be smart, though the perilously low decollete is back in high favor.

In a rough analysis, it is the tailored type of evening toilette which retains the higher front neckline—going, as usual, to great depths in back. Such a costume is awfully good, with its trig, elaborate little jacket, to wear for early dinners which start off an evening of about-town wanderings likely to end up with scrambled eggs in the gray dawn. It is pleasantly in step with the late cocktail crowd who collide with one at the smart caravansaries, and who are dressed for only that much formality, and it is just as harmonious when the numbers of the dressiest dinner and supper clubs come up later on in the revels.

* * *

THE FRILLIER type of gown is a lovely spring tonic, warranted to put zest into any dinner-and-dance date. So informal has city life become even in its formal moments, to put it in blarney, that very soon girls in frothy chiffons and such like will be tripping to dinner with no other wrap than a throw of silver or white fox. They have learned this trick in sunnier climes where it is not against the dictates of Mme. Grundy to appear unmuffled in the public eye.

Dark blue and dark brown net frocks over rustling taffeta make handsome soft gowns; daring colors in chiffon, such as citron with a scarlet ribbon sash, or mauve with cyclamen, offer another type. Flowered frocks, of course, are spring classics.

WOMEN ACTIVE IN RUSHMORE COMPETITION

90,000 in Allegheny County Have Part In National Work

When the Mount Rushmore National Memorial is completed and America's epic projected from the granite mountainside in South Dakota to inspire generations through a million years, the women of the nation will have played a glorious part in aiding in the historical project.

And more than 90,000 women in Allegheny County will know that through their own affiliated clubs they are represented in that glory. The members of 114 patriotic, civic and women's clubs are combined in active participation through the Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs.

That organization is conducting its own competition in conjunction with the Pittsburgh Memorial Committee.

The members are submitting their entries direct to Mrs. E. D. Harshbarger, at 239 Gladstone road, Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh, who has been named chairman of the federation's Rushmore committee. The nationwide competition is being conducted by the Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers for the national commission.

These thousands of women are numbered among the memberships of such organizations as the Allegheny County Women's Christian Temperance Union, Consumers League of Western Pennsylvania, Outlook Alliance, Business and Professional Women's Club of Pittsburgh and the Wimodausis Club of Pittsburgh. The Woman's Club of virtually every district in the city likewise is numbered among the group, while other organizations include the Pittsburgh Chapter, Council of Jewish Women, New Future Association and the Keystone Association for Historical Research.

Junior Birdmen of America

The Junior Birdmen of America, a new nation-wide organization sponsored by William Randolph Hearst, through the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers, for boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 is now ready to enroll membership.

Mr. Hearst originally sponsored the American organization of the Boy Scouts in collaboration with his friend, Sir Robert Baden-Powell. He believes the Junior Birdmen of America is now just as important and even more interesting to boys and girls of America.

This new nation wide youth movement will be conducted through the medium of a daily newspaper column to be published in the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers beginning next Sunday, April 15, appearing every week day and Sunday.

You can become a CHARTER MEMBER of the Junior Birdmen of America now by clipping the attached coupon and forwarding it to the Junior Birdmen of America, care of the Sun-Telegraph, giving your full name, age and address, and enclosing a dime (10 cents) in cash for your Junior Birdmen wing-pin and membership card. Be sure you state your age so that you can be placed in the proper age group, and, of course, don't forget your 10 cents in one coin, which covers the cost of your membership materials, including postage and mailing.

Full information will be given in this column about model plane building activities and competitions, aviation features, flying articles by prominent fliers, annual banquets, popular pilot polls, contests, trips to airports and airplane factories, and all sorts of live wire activities for the boys and girls, to be conducted under the sponsorship of the Junior Birdmen of America.

George Hearst, national commander of the Junior Birdmen of America, and Lawrence Shaw, national director and chief of staff, will explain these activities fully in the Junior Birdmen columns beginning on Sunday, April 15.

Boys and girls sending the attached coupon with their name, address, age and 10 cents in cash will have "charter membership" stamped across their membership cards. Wing-pins, gilt for the Group A members (16 to 21), and silvered pins for the Group B members (10 to 15), will be enameled in red, white and blue. Membership cards will be gold or silver, corresponding to the age group to which you belong.

Membership cards and Junior Birdmen wing-pins will not, however, be mailed to charter members until after the daily Junior Birdmen column begins in the Sun-Telegraph. But you must send for your membership—using the attached coupon—before the column starts next Sunday, April 15, if you want to become a CHARTER MEMBER.

The daily column, in addition to publishing Junior Birdmen news, feature articles and club activities, will tell you how every boy and girl will be able to organize a Junior Birdmen FLIGHT SQUADRON in his or her city, town or neighborhood.

JUNIOR PATROL

Some fellows we know aren't happy unless they have a lot of money to spend. They like to buy candy, and go to the the show, and buy expensive things to play with. And that's all right, too—we aren't finding fault with them.

But we want to say that you don't really need those things to have fun. We have noticed that children seem to have the best kind of a time when they have company to play with. And most games only need some little thing like a ball or a piece of chalk to play. And marbles aren't expensive.

Then, too, there is another kind of fun that doesn't cost anything, and that is looking at the beauty of the world. No fooling, fellows, you can enjoy walking down the street looking at things. Notice how the sunshine glows on the buildings. Look at the people as they go by. See the expression on their faces and how some of them are happy and contented and some are dull and hopeless. The world is a wonderful place, fellows, full of all kinds of things and feelings. There are millions of things to see and beauty without end to admire.

The paper told about how the doctors took a toy watch out of a little girl's stomach the other day, fellows. One of the best ways for our Junior Patrol members to help others is to be kind and helpful to children smaller than they are. Little children aren't as smart as you are, who read this. Guard and protect them, especially on the streets.

Heart Attacks Fatal to Five

Five persons died yesterday of heart ailments and cerebral hemorrhages, according to a morgue report. They were:

Morris Silverman, 45, an attorney, of 730 Kelly street, Wilkinsburg; Mrs. Ella M. Kurtz, 65, of 1244 West North avenue; Fred W. Grote, 50, of 2943 East street; Phillip Cooper, 64, of 311 Sackett street, and Joseph Kelchas, 34, of 3400 Penn avenue.

Dr. Damrosch Heads New Program

Dr. Walter Damrosch, dean of American conductors, brings a symphony orchestra to the air tonight at 10 o'clock, over KDKA, for a new series of spring concerts.

The veteran conductor and his musicians, playing the familiar music of Kern, Friml, Romberg and others, with brief talks by John B. Kennedy, narrator, are sponsorede by the "Ask the Man Who Owns One" Motor Car Co.

* * *

"Tired Eyes," a new slumber song, has its premiere on the air over WCAE tonight at 10, on the Contented Hour. The song was written by Reynolds Hunter, a radio operator, for his little son.

* * *

A tire manufacturer's program, heard over WCAE at 8:30 p. m., features the song "Wagon Wheels." Lawrence Tibbett sings it with William Daly's Orchestra.

* * *

Theodore Webb and the Pasternack Melody Moments orchestra are heard over KDKA at 9:30 this evening in a program of sugary music.

* * *

HELEN MENKEN

Helen Menken, of the Theater Guild, plays the leading role in a dramatic sketch in the Big Show broadcast, on WJAS tonight at 9:30.

* * *

"Smilin' Through" and "A Thousand Good Nights," a new song on the air, are sung by Frank Parker on the Gypsies' program, heard over WCAE at 9 p. m.

* * *

George Gershwin's personal narrative of people and incidents that have inspired his most popular songs, is continued over KDKA this evening at 7:30.

* * *

You'll hear Gunnar Johansen, Danish pianist, guest passenger on the Ship of Joy program, on WCAE at 9:30, if you can stand Capt. Dobbsie's commercial palaver.

* * *

LITTLE THEATER BILLS PLAYS

Two plays, "The Fifth Personality," and "Eleanora's Portrait," will be presented by the Experimental Theater tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday nights at the Little Theater on South Aiken avenue near Fifth avenue.

"Eleanor's Portrait," in one act, was written by Sarah C. Pettit. "The Fifth Personality" is a three-act play by Kilburn Blaisdell, who will appear in the cast. The plays are being directed by Freeman M. Hammond and Helen C. McFarland.

The casts of the two productions will include Mrs. R. B. Perry, Marjory Zoe Taylor, John B. Dwyer, Reid Jackson, Jean King, Robert Lee, Joseph Fetoko, Ferdinand Fillion and Bruce Smith.

GLOBE TROTTING

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I saw Chairman Jacob Frank of the Registration Commission the other day and asked him when he was coming up again to give information about the registration of voters in the City of Pittsburgh. He said that he would have something interesting to say himself in the near future, but right now he would like me to tell the citizens about registration in his office on the first floor of the new County Office Building.

He expects a tremendous rush at the polls on the succeeding registration days, and especially on the last day, the reason being that many voters have not made up their minds whether they are going to register as Republicans or Democrats and are taking as long as possible to decide.

To avoid the crush as much as possible, he has arranged to register voters of the city in his permanent registration book at any time.

It would be a good idea for the globe trotters as well as an aid to the registration commissioners if the voters availed themselves of the opportunity to register as soon as possible downtown at his office without waiting for the next prescribed registration day at the polls.

Whom do you think we are going to have for a speech? None other than Ray Sprigle, director of supplies and superintendent of buildings for Allegheny County. He is more famous probably as the great starling hunter.

His unerring accuracy with Roman candles has lately been a subject for front page discussion. When he comes, the time to be announced, he will tell us the whys and wherefores as well as his experiences on the hunt.

* * *

William R. Evans, Turtle Creek, sends in a letter and encloses a picture of his dog, Rex, smoking a cigaret in a most nonchalant manner. Mr. Evans says that Rex is the only dog in the United States that smokes a cigaret.

In addition, Rex walks the tight rope and jumps through hoops as well as sings at his master's command.

If he'll sing, maybe some of the younger Globe Trotters would like to hear him on the radio, so Mr. Evans, will you get in touch with me or Miss Bales?

Local Highlights on WJAS Tonight

Legionnaires' Commander On Air

Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, speaking over a coast-to-coast network next Thursday, will make a direct appeal to the nation in the interest of national defense.

His topic has been listed as "National Defense or the League Court?"

The broadcast will be heard over NBC-WCAE. Hayes' talk will be heard between 7 and 7:15 p. m.

Hundreds of thousands of legionnaires throughout the country, in addition to other radio listeners, are expected to tune in on the broadcast.

The subject is expected to interest many in view of the present agitation for greater national defense.

* * *

As has been the case practically ever since network broadcasting came into existence, there will be a broadcast on the chains of the Kentucky Derby from Churchill Downs this year, with NBC and CBS running neck-and-neck.

* * *

MYSTERY

Guy Lombardo and Burns and Allen will take a four-months' vacation from the air before spring merges into summer, and it will be the Lombardo's first fadeout in four and a half years.

* * *

Lee Wiley replaces the bleating mammy singer on the Whiteman show at WCAE April 19, with Nikita Balieff, the man with the inimitable dialect, following her in a few weeks.

Whiteman at that time will introduce a male mystery vocalist, whom I shall be glad to identify for you.

* * *

The newest child prodigy, like Mary Small, hails from Baltimore. She is Gladys Beck, 7, and sightless, who is shortly to make her debut on WEAF with Rudy Vallee.

* * *

STARTS AT BOTTOM

Maj Bowes introduced a new young singer on WCAE yesterday. He literally found the youthful artist in the cellar.

He is Gene Lester, a page boy at the Major's theater, whom Bowes found singing in the locker room last week . . . and was so impressed he gave the lad a test, and discovered unusual talent.

* * *

Roger Wolfe Kahn will not desert the musical field because of the death of his father . . . He says he will devote his life to orchestral work, and leave the handling of the fortune to advisors.

* * *

It's a fact that the fiddler in Freddy Martin's Orchestra is a brother of Zazu Pitts . . . name of Dave.

* * *

Next season's radio receivers will be known as "high fidelity" sets, which means, in plain English, they will faithfully (I hope), reproduce the true tones all the way up and down the gamut, from the grunt of a bull fiddle to the squeal of a piccolo.

Injured in Fall, City Employe Dies

Michael Sheehan, 31, of 900 Laxton street, an employe of the City Bureau of Recreation, died yesterday in Columbia Hospital from a skull fracture sustained a week ago in a fall in Beech avenue, North Side, according to a Coroner's report. Homicide detectives reported he had fallen after leaving the home of some friends.

Homestead Man Injured in Fall

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W, Toss a mess of scallions at Columbia University . . . Because it forced its night watchmen to work 13 hours a day at a wage of $75 per month—compelling them to buy out of that sum the batteries for the flashlight necessary in their labors . . . George Givot has a new problem. A man claiming to be his father has applied to the Chicago courts for support and it humiliates Givot, who says his father was killed in a massacre in Russia . . . At that meeting of radio stars to vote on studio audiences or do away with them, Groucho Marx suggested to keep the audiences and get rid of the comedians!

The town's newest and hotsiest-totsiest rendezvous, they say, is called the Ubangi, a new spot where Connie's Inn used to was . . . You titled Stoopnagle & Budd's paragraph "Dizzy Definitions," why not call the next batch "Daffynitions?" . . . I hear that Clara Bow threw 15 passes at a coast dice house and that she is bulging all over . . . And that John Gilbert is despondent over the bustup with his wife . . . The Merian Cooper-Dorothy Jordan blessed event is practically here—I mean in Honolulu . . . Neil Miller, recently divorced by Dorothy Mackaill, wishes she didn't . . . In Scranton, when Hoot Gibson and June Gale were making personal appearances, the screen featured "Three on a Honeymoon," starring Sally Eilers, his ex-wife. Of all coincidences!

Gordon Sinclair, the author, who is in Africa getting pieces for his paper, doesn't know that his two tots were struck by a truck. Jane is 2½ and Donald is 5. They are recovering . . . If Paul Sweinhart is in town, I have news for him from an old friend . . . Harold Seton thinks that Mae West is basking in the California Sinshine . . . This sounds silly to me . . . The Mark Twain Hotel in Elmira quotes a verse of Mackay on its wine list. Didn't Twain ever say a word about drinkin'?

The Joe Penner scripts for the air are written by Billy K. Wells' 24-year-old son . . . Jose Schorr has done a swell booklet of cocktail recipes . . . A friend of mine associated with a reputable fidelity firm tells me that the first year of the depresh 80,000 men in the U. S. committed suicide so that their families could collect the insurance . . . And in the ensuing years from 1929 to date 104,000 men did the same . . . Harry Richman is in dutch with the NBC officials, I think . . . Because he didn't even answer their cables for an offer of 52 weeks at $1,750 with increases. It was for once weekly on the new Continental Oil show . . . Sidney Blackmer was poorly advised when he publicly accused drama critics of this and that . . . I mean about his having to buy them drinks and gifts to get good notices . . . His ex-wife, Lenore Ulric, pulled the same stunt three years ago, but she later told the critics her lawyer did it.

The Gil Gabriels and the John Mason Browns, the dramatic critics, will nine-day cruise it to Venezuela to get away from first-night faces . . . But Robert Garland, another critic, is on the passenger list! . . . Lanny Ross is to be the "Prince Chomming" of the Cinderella Ball April 24th at the Waldorf. The lady with the prettiest tootsies at the ball will be presented with a pair of golden slippers designed by Vida Moore—valued at $250 . . . Oh, Miss Garbo! . . . Elsie Janis phoned. Said that there is no rift there, at all. She went to Chicago to see his kin. So many friends are writing their sympathy to Elsie she wishes you'd straighten it out.

Almira Sessions, playing in "One More Honeymoon" is the daughter of the late Supreme Court Justice Joseph Sessions, or the State of Wash., and a direct descendant of John Quincy Adams . . . Barney Gallant is up to something for the Hotel Men's Ass'n and cabaret czars, etc. . . . The plot is to stop entertainers from doubling on the air and at their hotels or clubs . . . The argument is that after the public gets so much of an orchestra or entertainer for nothing over their receiving sets at home—how can you expect them to pay a couvert charge in a dining room for the same thing? . . . Sounds futile to me, but Gallant is going to try to stop it . . . Speaking of hotels reminds me that one of the more famous hotels in town recently transformed a ballroom at the cost of $60,000 . . . And laid off enough employes for a period of time to make up the $60,000. Nice goings on.

Wilbur Morse, Jr., express agent and fan magger, is now teaching school in a coast business college . . . Thyra Samter Winslow, the author, is running a cocktail party for the Authors' Fund at the St. Moritz April 20th . . . A lot of listeners think the Greek dialectician on the Eddie Cantor program is Givot. It isn't, though. He is Harry Einstein, ad manager for a Boston furniture firm . . . The Tony Sarg marionette show is grand for kids—ask Walda . . . You got the Stinger mixed up. It is made of half white mint, half brandy and a dash of absinthe . . . Tom Carey says it took five of Pat Clayton's friends to slug him, but vengeance was his in court when they were fined $50 each—and that if he weren't held he could lick 'em all . . . Barbara Snyder of the Hollywood place has been secretly wed since October 29th to Eddie Moclair. They were married at the Church of the Good Shepherd . . . I think that this is very gay. H. Akst defines Hollywood as a place where everybody is your brother-in-law.

Mary Horan, a Cleveland girl, who danced in vaudeville (she says all I need do is mention her name and you'd know right away, whatever that means) will be married on April 14th at the Little Church Around the Corner to Chas. Webb, a rubber ball manufacturer of here . . . She was laughing hysterically over the phone. . . She says she always laughs that way when she gets married.—Your Girl Friday.

Gloria Stuart Cast With Cagney

By JIMMY STARR

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—Hello! Junior Laemmle, Universal's young boss, is doing his best to keep Gloria Stuart in a happy frame of mind as far as good roles go—and even if he hasn't them at his own studio, he tries elsewhere. Gloria has been loaned to Warners' for the femme lead with Jimmy Cagney in "Hey, Sailor." Production Headman Hal Wallis thought it would be a swell idea to have a different type for Mr. Cagney—and Gloria likes the idea. (Note: The script doesn't call for any grapefruit-in-the-face scenes!)

* * *

Such goings on! Just the other day I was chirping about how Betty Furness had swished out of an RKO contract because she didn't like the roles tossed her way. Funny thing, but since signing with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Betty has been loaned back to RKO—this time for the ingenue lead with Ann Harding in "The Life of Vergie Winters."

* * *

Wanderings around Hollywood . . . In the "The Merry Widow," Una Merkel does the queen and Edward Everett Horton clowns as the Ambassador . . Clarence Brown gave Wifey, Alice, the sparklingest diamond wrist watch to celebrate their wedding anniversary . . . Molly O'Day and Dougie Fowley are to the goo-goo eye stage . . . Taylor Holmes long-distance telephoned to daughter, Madeliene (well, that's the way she spells it) to rush eastward to do the ingenue in "Big-Hearted Herbert," behind the footlights with him . . . James K. McGuinness, the scribbler, got a new contract from M-G-M . . . Sally Blane copped the lead in "City Park." . . . Shirley Ross and Bert Roach have featured roles in "100 Per Cent Pure," the Jean Harlow cinema at M-G-M.

* * *

George E. Stone was swatting a moth on a Universal set the other day when a jealous actor cracked:

* * *

Movietown mutterings. . . . Since Leon Gordon bounced behind the footlights for a short run of "White Cargo," he has had a couple of nibbles to turn in his script-writing typewriter for a makeup kit. Universal is definitely interested in signing him to do dirty villians. . . . Arthur Rankin says the surest way to make your telephone ring is to climb into the bathtub! . . . Carole Lombard is trying to buy a bed from the Columbia Studios. The bed she wants has a history—it was created by Gaby Deslys at the order of King Emmanuel of Portugal and is now considered one of Hollywood's most famous props. . . . Zelma O'Neal writes from deah ole London that she will next appear in "Give Me a Ring," a British international flicker. . . . Victor Schertzinger, the megaphonist, is pounding the piano and actually composing a new song for Grace Moore to warble in her Columbia picture.

* * *

But a few days old, the Wamps baby stars have already managed to get in a jam—two studios, Paramount and Warners got the bright idea to use the 13 cuties in special scenes.

After being promised to Warners, the retiring Wamps pres, signed them up for the Paramount flicker, claiming it was a better break for the girls.

There are plenty of glares going the rounds and it may even result into a couple of sneers!

Film Based on Novel

Players and Plays

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

What likely will prove to be the last touring play of the season will open in the Nixon tonight, when Dennis King will be seen as the star of "Richard of Bordeaux." We are best acquainted with Mr. King as a singing hero of operettas, hence it will be interesting to see him in a conventional dramatic lead. His appearance as Mercutio in "Romeo and Juliet" some years ago gave us something of an idea, but the life of Mercutio is extremely short. Among the support of Mr. King in this new play from England is Henry Mollison, from the original London Company. Also Montague Love, who was a movie star in silent films some years ago. The costumes, armor and accessories used in the play have the stamp of authenticity, having been copied from originals and prints in the National Museum in London. Besides those mentioned the cast includes Hugh Buckler, Charles Bryant, A. G. Andrews, Alexander Frank, John Emery, Wilfrid Seagram, Andrew Cruikshanks, Lionel Ince, Beatrice De Neergaard, Olive Reeves-Smith and Elizabeth Cerf.

Mystery Woman Aids Jobless Fund

BOSTON, April 9.—(AP.)—Ten thousand dollars in one dollar notes went into the coffers of the Boston emergency campaign, listed as a donation from a woman in a heavy black veil.

The woman walked into campaign headquarters with a large bundle, asked for the treasurer and handed him the contribution. He asked for her name but she turned and was gone.

Miss Davies Plays Spy

Twenty-one years ago, was born a motion picture destined to become one of the immortals of the screen, "The Birth of a Nation." A tense, romantic story of the Civil War, "The Birth of a Nation" has never died. But many changes have come in motion pictures, notably sound, making the masterpieces of yesterday as old-fashioned as a tin-type.

Reminiscent of the interest aroused by Griffith's martial masterpiece, is that centered upon the first great Civil War drama to be made since, with all the advantages of modern motion pictures.

The story is the last and greatest from the prolific pen of the late Robert W. Chambers. It was first published serially in Cosmopolitan Magazine and later in Hearst newspapers, including the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

With the Civil War as the background, the story deals with the intriguing spy systems of both the Northern and Southern armies.

For the production, an entire Virginia village was constructed, identically as it existed in the early sixties. Two historic Southern mansions, complete with ballrooms and banquet halls, have been reproduced, as have many more impressive spots.

Famous historic characters have been perpetuated in the unraveling of the screen story. Pauline Cushman, most famous of the Northern women spies; Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, one of the greatest cavalry commanders in military history; Capt. Vespasian Chancellor, noted head of Gen. Stuart's secret service; Allan Pinkerton, founder of the Union's Secret Service, and famous to this day as one of the greatest detective, with brief glimpses of Lincoln, Grant, Lee and others.

Within this web grows the colorful romance between Gail Loveless, an actress who becomes a Northern spy, impersonated by Miss Davies, and Capt. Jack Gaillard, a dashing scout for the Southern forces, impersonated by Gary Cooper.

War Pictured In Fulton

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Another series of motion pictures of World War scenes similar in charactor to those presented under the title "The Big Drive," is showing in the Fulton, where it opened Saturday with large attendance at all shows.

This presentation, titled "Forgotten Men," has some semblance to the routine talkie because it opens with a staged scene in a clubhouse of veteran soldiers, with one commenting on the fact that they are "forgotten men." His conversation becomes the narrative whereby the actual war scenes are described.

There are frequent cut-backs to this scene to introduce actual heroes of the war, all wearing decorations for bravery, Belgian, French, British, Italian, German and American soldiers, who are introduced to tell their modest stories as the scenes pertaining to the forces with which they were allied are shown on the screen.

The general idea carried through the presentation of the pictures is that war is aptly defined by the reply to the German veteran when he is asked if he thinks his service had been marked by bravery. He answers:

"I do not know whether it was bravery or desperation, but I do know it was hell!"

Incidentally he pays tribute to the British for giving military honors at their burial of the great German ace, Richthofen, who is seen in action in the pictures.

There are scenes on all fronts including the Alps and Palestine, on land, on the water and in the air, with assaults of men, under terrific bombardment, bombing of towns from the air, shooting down of airplanes, sinking of ships by gunfire and torpedoes, the spattering of troops from machine guns fired from low-flying airplanes, etc., with many sanguinary details to prove that war really is hell.

Also on the program are short features including a comedy in which Buster Keaton, as a sheriff, spoils the plans of some mine-claim jumpers.

No Romance For Year

Thelma Todd's explanation of why she snubbed Nevada and divorced Pasquale de Cicco in a California court is original.

"I didn't go to Reno to get my freedom," the blonde comedienne said, "because I want romance insurance for at least one year. The California law, requiring 12 months to get a final decree, guarantees me this."

She added there is no particular swain in the offing.

"But you know how it is," she continued. "A full moon and a charming man are dangerous to one's resolutions. I decided to protect myself against myself."

Moor Revolt On Screen

Fierce Moorish tribes in Morocco, reported in a new uprising and ready for a general revolt, are pictured in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. Spain is seen rushing reinforcements for her Foreign Legion. The Globe Trotter describes the situation.

Rome celebrates the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the Fascisti and makes it a double celebration in honor of Mussolini's latest diplomatic triumph in pooling economic interests with Austria and Hungary.

There are going to be many thrills at the World's Fair in Chicago when it reopens for 1934. Included will be 33 lions and tigers in one cage which are seen rehearsing their act under the direction of Allen King.

Using a captive balloon anchored 3,000 feet up, the Navy tests new parachutes and there are thrills galore.

For the first time since the revolution, Holy Week is celebrated in Seville, Spain. Gorgeous floats bearing images of Christ and the Virgin Mary are borne through the streets.

British speed demons open the auto racing season in Yorkshire, England, with a thrilling road contest.

Note: Because of the necessity upon theater managers to arrange programs to time schedules, it is possible that some of the subjects in the above issue of Hearst Metrotone News may not be shown in your theater.

All In A Day

By MARK HELLINGER

Evidence in the Case.

TO ALL outward appearances, Lucifer Lorimer was a genial gentleman, open-hearted and generous. Towards casual friends and acquaintances, he displayed a jovialty that was nothing short of remarkable. In his home, however, such admirable qualities were sadly missing. He might have been a different individual. He was totally disagreeable, tight-fisted, unpleasant. And the woman who had married Lucifer was the unhappiest of females.

Florence had thought that it would be different. She, too, had been deceived by the man's surface qualities. When they first met, she had been friendless and broke. And the ingratiating Mr. Lorimer was well endowed with worldly goods.

It wasn't long before she was completely disillusioned. Lucifer's tenderness disappeared with the honeymoon. He might have been penniless for all the good his money did his wife.

Florence could never decide whether the man was actually stingy or whether he enjoyed keeping her dependent upon him. She suspected that it was the latter. She was sure of it when she suggested a divorce.

"Hah, so that's it!" he muttered. "You thought you were smart to grab me because I had some money, didn't you? You think I'll let you divorce me, and soak me for alimony, but I'm wise to that racket. Go ahead and try it! You'll see how far you'll get when you haven't got a cent."

Florence sighed. What Lucifer said was true. She hadn't a cent. She wouldn't mind being poor if she could be free again. Anything was better than going on like this, but if he were determined that there should be no divorce, there would be none. He would take pleasure in thwarting her, she knew.

Lucifer had already had a few little affairs, even during the brief space of their marriage. However, he felt no uneasiness on that score. It required money to hire a detective. When he remembered that, he grinned with satisfaction. He derived plenty of pleasure from the knowledge that his wife was helpless . . .

He was, therefore, totally unprepared for the shock when it came. He returned home in the small hours one morning to find Florence waiting up for him. There was something different about the woman upon this occasion. She was smiling confidently, and that smile went a long way toward shattering Lucifer's poise.

"I waited to tell you," Florence said, "that I'm not going on with this any longer. I'm leaving in the morning."

Lucifer essayed his usual lordly poise.

"Indeed!" he sneered. "You think you can get away with it, huh? Well, let me tell you, you can't do it. If you think you're going to get any money out of me, you're sadly mistaken."

"You're wrong, Lucifer." She spoke quietly. "I can surely get a divorce with the evidence I have. If you want to settle without any publicity or scandal, I'm willing to listen to reason.

Lucifer saw then that she was fingering a sheet of paper. He gazed at it with some discomfort and recognized his handwriting over it.

"This letter," Florence went on. "Shall I read it to you? It starts off, 'My own loving baby: I can hardly wait to see you again,' and then it goes on to say—"

"That's enough!" the man interrupted.

He clenched his hands in helpless rage. Letters! They had always been his weak spot. For some reason or other, he had never been able to exercise any amount of self-control when he had a pen in his hand and a sheet of paper before him. Angry as he was, he knew that he was licked.

"Okay," he growled. "Go ahead and do whatever you want to do. I'll see my lawyer in the morning and make arrangements for a lump sum of alimony. You can have your divorce."

The details were arranged with little trouble. Before noon of the following day, she had tucked into her purse a large stack of crips, new bills.

Lucifer's lawyer bade her a hearty good-morning. He wished her luck politely, and held the door open for her.

"There's a little message you may deliver to my husband the next time you see him," she instructed. "You may tell him for me that I have had very good luck in my first gambling venture."

The man scratched his head in bewilderment, but Florence was still grinning as she went down the hall. Some day she would enjoy telling Lucifer the truth. He would be angrier than ever when he knew.

For Florence had remembered that one little weakness of his. And the letter that she had threatened to use as evidence was one that he had sent to her a few weeks before their marriage! . . .

CAKE RECIPE WINS PRUDENCE PENNY PRIZE

'Nut Quarter Moons' Formula Given By Housewife

Want something different in the cake line with an expensive taste that will cost you very little to make? Something that will get you plenty of "Do you mind if I take another one?" exclamations from your friends and enemies, alike. Nut Quarter Moons, Mrs. Thomas Vuletich's $5 prize winner, provides this delectable recipe, one which she guarantees as a sure road to cooking popularity.

Prudence Penny has other good recipes for you today, varying from a Lunch Loaf to Brown Nut Bread with Lemon Sauce. Through her readers, she offers them to you, hoping that at the same time you will make your recipes available to other housewives by sending your favorites to her at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. No recipes are returned.

Five Dollar Prize Winner

MRS. THOMAS VULETICH,
318 Bothwell Street.
NUT QUARTER MOONS.

Two cups flour.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
Four tablespoons shortening.
One egg.
One-half cup milk.
One-half pound ground nuts (any kind you desire).

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat egg slightly, add milk to it. Add to first mixture to make dough. Roll out thin on floured board. Cut in 3-inch triangles.

Moisten nuts with milk and sugar to taste. Heat slightly. Put a teaspoonful of nut mixture on each triangle, roll, and press edges together, forming a quarter moon shape. Brush top with egg yolk which has been beaten with one tablespoon of water. Bake on cooky sheet in moderate oven for from 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 25 cakes.

MRS. MILDRED KORINSKI,
1714 Leishman avenue, Arnold.
LUNCH LOAF

Mix to a paste:
Three teaspoons dry mustard.
Two teaspoons flour.
Three teaspoons milk.
Grate:
One pound American cheese.
One pound thin sliced baked or boiled ham.
To build loaf:
One layer of grated cheese.
One slice ham spread with paste.
One layer of cheese.
Tie loaf well to prevent sliding. Bake in hot oven for 30 minutes. Serve cold.

MRS. S. J. LOUGHMAN,
Lark Inn Fields, Leetsdale.
APRICOT COOKIES

Wash one cup dried apricots put through food chopper, blend with one and one-half cups sweetened condensed milk, fold in three cups shelled peanuts, chopped, and two tablespoons lemon juice. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven for 20 minutes.

MRS. WM. L. McCOY,
75 Schley avenue, Ingram.
MATZOTH BALLS WITH CHICKEN BROTH

Break six or more matzoth and soak in water. Squeeze as dry as possible. Chop onion fine and mix with matzoth. Season with salt unless the broth is salty. Add three or four eggs and enough matzoth meal to make the mixture stick together. Form in small balls and rub a little of the meal on the outside. Let stand a while then drop in hot chicken broth. Cover and cook as you would drop dumplings.

MRS. L. H. KRAEUTER,
4018 Lanmor avenue, Brentwood.
DELICIOUS RICE PUDDING

One cup uncooked rice.
Three cups hot milk.
Four eggs, beaten.
One-half cup sugar.
One teaspoon salt.
One tablespoon vanilla.
One-half cup raisins.
One-half cup shredded cocoanut.

Boil rice in two quarts boiling water for five minutes and strain. Add three cups hot milk and replace on very low flame to boil slowly for three-quarters of an hour. Let cool and add ingredients in order given above. Place in a greased baking dish that has been sprinkled with bread crumbs and bake at 375 degrees fahrenheit for three-quarters of an hour. The raisins or cocoanut, or both, may be omitted if desired.

MRS. EARL S. HARTLEY,
212 Broadway Street, Meyersdale.
BROWN NUT BREAD AND LEMON SAUCE SANDWICHES

Two eggs.
One cup sugar.
One cup sour milk.
Two-third cup baking molasses.
One and one-half cups white flour.
One and one-half cups graham flour.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon soda.
One cup each of chopped nuts and raisins.

Beat together sugar, shortening and eggs. Add soda and molasses mixed with milk, sifted flour, raisins and nuts.

LEMON SAUCE

One cup sugar.
Grated rind of one lemon.
Juice of one and one-half lemons.
Two eggs.
Two tablespoons water.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out thru the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

"Two things I wanted-

"I found out my trouble—

"... more strength and a clear skin."

It is well to remember that a probable reason why you do not have red lips, rosy cheeks, a clear skin, good health, energy and cheerfulness is that your blood is in a run-down condition. Lack of hemo-glo-bin, the red-coloring of the blood, may also cause a weakened condition of the body ... loss of strength ... poor appetite.

Neglect of diet, worry, overwork, colds or sickness, frequently break down and retard the natural development of the red-blood-cells and their oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin.

Why not set in motion the rebuilding of these precious blood-cells instead of procrastinating and sacrificing your appearance and the feeling of being well and fit?

If your condition suggests a tonic of this kind, try S.S.S. It is not just a so-called tonic but a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also having the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon notice a pick-up in your appetite ... your color and skin should improve with increased strength and energy.

S.S.S. is truly a blood and body tonic. Its value has been proven by generations of use, as well as by modern scientific appraisal.

You will find S.S.S. at all drug stores in two sizes ... the larger is more economical. © The S.S.S. Co.

"... and it was all so simple ... my physician said I had no organic disease, but I did have what is so commonly and truthfully called a low percentage of hemo-glo-bin in the blood. It didn't take S.S.S. very long to get my blood back up to normal ... and as my strength and energy returned my skin cleared up."

TRACTION BOARD MOVE DELAYED BY COUNCIL

McNair Expected to Name Another Smith For Position

Action by City Council on the appointment of Safety Director Ralph E. Smith as a member of the Traction Conference Board was deferred today until tomorrow afternoon.

Well substantiated reports at City Hall, meanwhile, had it that Mayor McNair will withdraw the name of Director Smith and substitute for it that of Attorney Andrew G. Smith, who has been active in behalf of a five-cent trolley fare.

Council deferred action on Director Smith's appointment at the request of Councilman Walter R. Demmler, who has acted as spokesman for the Mayor.

The position for which Director Smith was named is that held by W. Edgar Reed.

Meanwhile, a hearing on the proposed two-year extension of the Traction Board agreement has been set by the Public Service Commission for Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. in the City-County Building.

The Commission will have before it at that time only the petition of the old city council to renew the railways pact. The new council failed by a close vote to add a number of reservations to the contract.

ACT ON SMITH

Council, while they may be willing to remove Reed, are ready to balk at voting Director Smith two jobs.

While Council turned down Demmler's resolution to put some reservations in the traction agreement, including a $250,000 cash payment to the city and a three-month cancellation clause, there is evidence that they intend to pay increasing attention to traction affairs.

BUNDLE DRIVE ORGANIZED

During the five-day bundle drive of the Goodwill Industries, which opens April 16, receiving stations for clothing that is collected will be set up in the city's schools, according to J. C. McQuiston, Goodwill president. The stations will be managed by student committees that are to be appoined.

Asking for support from the women of Pittsburgh, Mr. McQuiston said all wearing apparel discarded during spring housecleaning will be gladly accepted. Garments will be repaired and distributed among the poor of the district.

Fire From Furnace Causes $2,000 Damage

Fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, caused $2,000 damage to the home of Jack Sigal, 6335 Alderson street, last night. The blaze, which started during the absence of the family, was confined to the cellar and first floor of the two-story brick residence.

Patrolman Named Wilmerding Captain

Let's Have New Currency So We Can Zinc or Swim

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

Or have the cherry blossoms on the Potomac aroused the sleeping brute in our wide-awake legislators.

All we know is that the lads are choosing up sides on every question.

There was a time when a bill was treated like a smuggled Oriental—rushed through without a debate.

This week there will be a terrific drive by the silver bloc. But we advise Senator Thomas not to mention silver too often.

We may decide to hide it like we did the gold.

How about a zinc currency? It polishes very nicely.

Manor Assailed By McArdle as Private 'Stunt'

McNair Manor was assailed as a private promotion project by Councilman P. J. McArdle today.

McArdle was ready to present a resolution in Council, this afternoon, disavowing any interest of the city in the small model dwelling constructed on a city-owned lot near the jail.

The resolution sets forth that Council go on record as refusing to enter into "the proposed construction program of Kivie Wolfe," and directs the City Solicitor to notify the Biltwell Construction Company to discontinue distribution of "any printed matter or verbal statements which would tend to lead to the belief that the city is committed to the program."

ASSAILS 'STUNT'

McArdle said:

"The Biltwell Construction Company is using the model house on city property to promote the sale of its own product.

"When a temporary permit was given for the house it was with the idea of displaying the dwelling as an example of what could be done in the field of low-cost housing to clear slum areas. The Biltwell people have no more right than any other private business concern to use city property to display their product."

Attorney Wolfe was interested in the proposed project as offering low cost homes to the needy.

Edward J. Steeb, manager of the Biltwell company, asked why his company had built McNair Manor, said:

"Why for advertising, of course. Eighteen thousand people have gone through the place already."

SENATORS INTERESTED

Steeb asserted that the Biltwell Construction Company was financed by the Recovery Finance Company and that the latter was described by Steeb:

"It's a big New York Corporation with millions of dollars behind it. There are two Senators in Washington interested."

Steeb said he didn't know who the Senators were.

Explaining how the company operated, Steeb said:

"We build the house and give the buyer 10 years to pay for it in easy payments. We take a $1,000 mortgage on the house and turn the mortgage over to the Recovery Finance Agency. The Finance Agency in turn supplies us with building materials and fixtures."

REALTORS SEEK RENT RELIEF

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board today was preparing to seek aid from Washington unless a definite decision of the board's demand for relief is given at once by Relief Administrator Eric H. Biddle.

At a meeting Saturday, President Herbert Gilig, of the board, reported Biddle was in sympathy with the proposal for aid in insurance, current taxes and maintenance on dwellings occupied rent-free by welfare tenants, but that he had pointed out there was no fund for that purpose.

Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of the Governor, told J. Roland Brady, secretary of the board, that she would attempt to have the Governor obtain funds in Washington for the proposal.

M'NAIR PROBES 'CONSCIENCE' OF PINCHOT

Governor Reminded by Mayor of Raises During Term

Mayor McNair today responeded to Gov. Pinchot's letter, received last week, in which the Governor expressed his condolences to the Mayor for his inability to find a way to cut his salary.

The letter to Mr. Pinchot, which speaks for itself, reads:

"You letter, in which you state that you have never had any trouble about reducing your salary, gives me very little help because, a sI have never had my salary raised during my term of office, I might encounter difficulties which would not apply in your case, since, when you were State Forester, your salary was raised during your term of office.

"As to the conscience fund you suggested, my conscience is not bothering, as I made no promises during my campaign. I remember one promise that you made, dear Governor, that you would cut the costs of automobile licenses, and, as you failed to carry this promise into effect, no doubt you conscience is troublingf you, but as far as I am concerned, I can sleep nights very soundly.

"Respectfully yours,

"WILLIAM N. McNAIR, Mayor."

In another letter, the Mayor wrote to Charles A. Martin, State Treasurer at Harrisburg, as follows:

"I have a communication from Gov. Pinchot, in which he states that at various times he has contributed to the conscience fund of the state. Will you kindly give me the amounts and dates of these contributions, and also the reasons these payments were made by the Governor, which would lead him to have a troubled conscience and turn money over to the state?"

MORE WORKERS ADDED BY RWD

James Lysle Stuart, county administrator of the Relief Works Division, today was assigning several hundred additional men to augment 9,500 now at work on relief work projects in the county. He said he expected the work to be slow, because of the ruling requiring those seeking jobs to be certified by the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board.

The assignments will be given through the Federal-State Employment Bureau at 108 Smithfield street.

By next Saturday, Stuart said, a quota of 23,000 permitted Allegheny County under the RWD will have been placed on jobs.

Representative Joseph A. Rectenwald's proposals for a reorganization of the county relief set-up today brought plans for a movement to call state senators and representatives into a meeting Tuesday to consider the proposed change. It was expected that the caucus would be held in the City-County Building, when charges of mismanagement of the county relief board made by Rectenwald to Douglas P. Falconer Friday would be taken up.

THE OUTLET GATES AT THE GREAT PYMATUNING DAM, SLOWLY FILLING WITH WATER TO MAKE A SPREADING LAKE

Spring Rains Turn Proposed Highway Into Mud Lane

By NORMAN L. PARK

JAMESTOWN, Pa., April 7.—Slowly spreading over a basin of several thousand acres, the water in the Pymatuming Reservoir today measured three-quarters of a mile in width at one point, and 16 feet in depth at the dam gates.

At the present time the huge dam and lower part of the lake are virtually inaccessible by automobile. The only way to reach the dam, except by airplane, is to drive to the end of the paved road at Jamestown and hike overland two miles.

Actual construction work on Route No. 322 hasn't yet been started, but the preliminary grading and spring rains have turned the road into a sea of mud which defies even the bravest drivers.

Since January 23, when the gates were closed, it hasn't been necessary to release any water from the reservoir. Streams flowing into the Shenango River below the dam have kept it at sufficient level to operate industries and municipal water plants at Greenville, Sharon and other towns to the south.

Several stenographers are kept busy at the field office of Ralph J. Ferris, supervisor for the Pennsylvania Water and Power Resources Board, answering mail that comes in every day.

Hundreds are asking for information about camp sites, boating permits, fishing regulations and hunting data.

There are the usual number of requests for jobs and attempts to sell everything from steam tractors to park benches.

No fishing is to be allowed for at least a year to permit the stock to multiply and become well established, according to Fish Commissioner Oliver M. Deibler.

LABOR GROUPS BACK LAWYER

Attorney A. Morris Ginsberg, of Dinwiddie street, today announced his candidacy for Legislature in the First District.

Seven years a staff member of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, Ginsberg is indorsed by Pittsburgh Typographical Union No. 7, the Electrical Workers' Political Association and the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union.

HOSPITAL BODY TO MEET HERE

Hospital officials from many sections of the country will attend the convention of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania, which opens in the William Penn Hotel tomorrow. Principal speakers will be Michael M. Davis, director of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, of Chicago; Dr. George W. Grier, president of the Allegheny County Medical Society; Homer Wickenden, general director of the United Hospital Fund, New York; Mrs. Alice F. Liveright, secretary of the State Department of Welfare, and Robert W. Smith, of Greensburg.

One of the main questions to be discussed at the convention will be group hospitalization, proposed to provide hospital care at a more reasonable price to the "white-collar" class.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 9.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

We haven't heard of our President now in days, we haven't heard of Dillinger in days, you don't recoken he could be on there with 'em? I will say one thing about a Democratic President fishing (maybe he hasn't caught anything), but we don't have to look at pictures in the papers of him dragging some poor little trained perch in. The Republicans would get a camera man before they did their bait. One summer here one poor little fish got so he would get his picture taken, then take the hook out of his own mouth, and go back and wait for the President the next day with a new photographer.

Yours, WILL.

EDUCATOR HERE FOR TALKS

Dr. Charles L. Durham, Cornell University Latin professor, today was to commence a two-day series of talks to high school students and conferences with them and their parents. Usefulness of a college education and the opportunities provided by modern universities will be his subjects.

Dr. Durham was to talk at Shady Side Academy and Bellevue High School today and to the Cornell Alumni at a dinner in the University Club tonight. Tomorrow he will talk at Union High School, Turtle Creek, at the Arnold School and at the Kiskiminetas Springs School, in Saltsburg, Pa. From 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. today and from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m. tomorrow he will hold individual conferences with students and their parents in the University Club.

Father and Son Attend Same Pitt Class

A Schenley High School English teacher and his son, a member of the Pitt faculty, both attend a University of Pittsburgh psychology class. They are Chester B. Story and his son, Chester, Jr.

They own but one textbook for the course, "Intelligence Testing," so they take turns reading it.

Story, Sr., has taught at Schenley High School for five years. Before that he was at Fifth Avenue High School for 15. He has served several terms as president of the Pittsburgh Drama League and has written and directed plays and pageants.

Story, Jr., is in his first year as an assistant instructor in psychology at Pitt. Meanwhile he works for his master's degree.

The father says the son knows more psychology than he.

Youth Hit by Car On Trestle, injured

A 19-year-old youth, who lay unconscious in St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday after being struck by a street car on the Pittsburgh Railways Company trestle over Saw Mill Run was identified last night as George Miller, Jr., of 1922 Baldauf street. He was walking over the trestle at the time, police said.

SCORE INJURED IN WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

Man Loses Left Arm As Two Cars Collide

A North Braddock girl was killed and nearly a score of persons were injured in automobile accidents over the week-end.

Anna Pinigis, 23, of 1010 Cliff street, North Braddock, was fatally, and five others were seriously injured, when two automobiles crashed on the Lincoln highway near the Westmoreland County line, early today. Miss Pinigis was dead on arrival at a hospital in Greensburg.

Two of the injured, Betty Grayzer, 24, of 324 Plum street, Carnegie and Angela Tapane, 25, of 135 Roosevelt way, Greensburg, were taken to the Greensburg Hospital. Tapane had his left arm amputated and his condition is fair.

THREE IN HOSPITAL

Three others, George Nowak, 2323 Hawthorne avenue, Swissvale, Martin McTiernan, 17, of 2411 Woodstock avenue, Swissvale, and Alex O'Machel, 21, of Forbes road, Greensburg, were taken to the McKeesport Hospital.

Two automobiles were damaged by fire that broke out after they had crashed in North Homewood avenue late yesterday. Three of the occupants of one of them were injured in the collision.

The accident occurred when Cochran's machine collided with the parked car of Dr. W. D. Moffitt, of 304 Bevington avenue, Forest Hills, police said.

SEEK HIT-RUNNER

Joseph Bukowski, 40, of Brownsville avenue, and William Dugan, of 82 South Fifteenth street, were injured when their machine was struck in Saw Mill Run boulevard, near Edgebrook street, by another machine that did not stop after the accident, according to a police report.

Pearl Sabitosko, 8, of 1102 Bingham street, was struck near her home by an automobile driven by Ray Smith, 25, of 97 Hawthorne street, Crafton, according to a police report yesterday.

Joseph Halovick, 22, of 402 Pine street; Michael Tomko, 23, of 422 Pacific avenue; Stephen Lemack, 20, of 208 Rivera street, and Stephen Berletic, of 418 Arctic avenue, all McKeesport, were injured yesterday when an automobile driven by Halovick crashed into a pole in White street, McKeesport, according to a police report.

SMALL GIRL HURT

Florence Bennett, 4, of 1200 Voskamp street, was injured near her home yesterday when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mabel Beuchele, 23, of 1247 Voskamp street, according to police.

Olive Pietz, 25, of 1214 Federal street, was injured when she was struck by the automobile of Alonzo Walton, 914 Federal street, according to a police report. The accident occurred in Federal street.

One Killed, 2 Hurt, As Car Hits Pole

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., April 9.—(AP.)—An automobile swerved off the Marion Hill road and ploughed into a telephone pole, killing one youth and injuring two other persons.

James Rushton, 18, of Beaver Falls, died en route to the Beaver Valley Hospital late yesterday. Miss Ruth Wilson and Edward Hays, 18, both of Beaver Falls, are in serious condition today.

School Head Defends Desks Used Here

Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of Pittsburgh schools today said desks used by the school children in Pittsburgh are fitted to them.

Dr. Graham's statement followed an attack by Dr. Harold A. Miller, director of the state medical relief program at the regional meeting of the Pennsylvania Conference on Social Welfare at Webster Hall, Saturday, that children were forced to sit at seats which they are physically unfitted to occupy.

Dr. Graham in his statement said the desks used in the Pittsburgh schools are "adjustable" to the child's physical requirements.

UNCERTAIN HURLING PLAYS HAVOC WITH PIRATES

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

Young Strong Infielder. Gives Bucs Able Reserve. Youth May Hurt Yanks.

Giant Slide Predicted. Proper Golf Club Weight. Cannot Force McLarnin.

While speculation as to the indentity of Pittsburgh's regular second baseman for this year has centered around Cookie Lavagetto and Tommy Thevenow, those two do not represent all of the material available for the position. In the background there is another Pirate who can, when called upon, play that bag just about as well as anybody. As far as defensive ability is concerned, there are few better infielders anywhere than Floyd (Pep) Young. What sort of hitting mark this capable young reserve would make if used regularly is a question, but in a fielding way he is as good as they come.

Floyd Young

Nor is Young's value confined to second base. Pep is a natural ball hawk who can do a neat job at any of the infield posts. He is pretty close to being as fast as Arky Vaughan on his feet and an exceptionally accurate thrower whose pegs, like those of Thevenow, are practically all strikes. Subbing for Vaughan in some of the spring games, Young has looked like a great shortstop, better than Arky, in fact, in a defensive sense, and while he is no Vaughan at the plate, his .300 average as a pinch-hitter last year indicates he is far from being a weakling with the stick. Young's consistently fine work has been one of the pleasing features of the spring trip, and assures that the Bucs will be well fortified against any breaks that may occur in the infield.

KIDS AT MIDWAY CLOUD YANKEE CHANCES

Red Rolfe and Don Heffner, Yankee recruits at shortstop and second base, respectively, may deserve all the nice things that are being said of them for the brilliant spring showing that has prompted Manager Joe McCarthy to install both as regulars in the lineup. But New York fans may be taking a little too much for granted in hailing the discovery of two regulars among the rookies as giving the Yankees a better pennant chance than they appeared to have on paper originally.

Playing two first-year men side by side in the important midway sector is risky business. Pittsburgh fans saw evidence of it when Arky Vaughan and Tony Piet were starting out together and making many costly slips through unsteadiness in the pinches, and other clubs taking a chance with such green combinations have had the same experience. Many games are decided around second base, and it's an old saying that no team can be a pennant winner without having a steady and well-balanced pair at short and second. It takes experience to bring steadiness, and two green hands breaking in together are apt to cause many a defeat by messing up plays at critical moments. Usually an older head is required as part of the combination in order to steady and balance the youngster.

O'FARRELL RATES GIANTS ONE-YEAR TEAM

Manager Bob O'Farrell does not claim anything for his Cincinnati Reds except that they will beat out the Phillies, at least, but one other pennant race development of which he feels pretty sure is that the National League flag will not go back to New York. O'Farrell can't see the Giants repeating. He terms them a one-year club, and thinks their only chance to win again vanished when Watson Clark failed to regain his old pitching form this spring. The new ball will hurt the other New York pitchers, Bob opines, and he predicts the Giants will lose a lot of those 1-to-0 and 2-to-1 decisions they scored with the dead ball of 1933.

Bob O'Farrell

The Cubs are O'Farrell's choice for the pennant, with the Pirates second, the Giants third, and the Cardinals fourth. The Red pilot bases his Chicago prediction on both the new ball and Chuck Klein, principally on Klein. The dope about Klein's being a Philadelphia star and nothing else is ridiculous, according to O'Farrell, who holds that Chuck is a great ball player, with plenty of power, in any park, and will hit plenty at Wrigley Field, incidentally lifting the mental burden off Cuyler, Herman and a few other Cubs who did not fare so well last season.

CLUBS USED BY MANY GOLFERS TOO HEAVY

Some golf teachers express the opinion that many players use clubs that are too heavy to bring the best results. It is held that novices, in particular, attain easier hand and wrist action with the lighter clubs. There is not the same tendency to tighten up in an effort to maintain the needed speed as when they swing heavier ones. The hands, wrists, arms and body are more relaxed.

Among the stars, the weight of clubs is a matter of personal preference. Gene Sarazen likes heavy clubs and during the winter was swinging a driver weighing 15¾ ounces, but may change to one half an ounce lighter for the summer tournaments. Bobby Jones uses a 14-ounce driver. Abe Mitchell swung a driver weighing 15¾ ounces. Macdonald Smith's driver weighs 15¼ ounces. Yet Ducky Yates, a 220-pounder and a hard hitter, uses a driver weighing only a fraction more than 12 ounces, his wooden clubs being as light as those of Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare. Tutors say the average golfer should be able to get along with a 13-ounce driver, the brassie weighing the same, and the spoon a trifle less.

M'LARNIN IN POSITION TO REMAIN FIRM

Jimmy McLarnin is in a position to stick to his refusal to obey the mandate of the New York Boxing Commission that he sign within 30 days to defend the welterweight championship against Bep Van Klaveren or forfeit the title. Unlike many other fighters, McLarnin doesn't need the money. He has made a lot of dough in his 10 years of boxing, and has held on to most of it. Pop Foster, his manager, also is a wealthy man, and neither of them can be forced to accept an unwanted match just for the sake of the financial returns.

Jimmy McLarnin

So whether McLarnin's stand is popular or not, the fact remains that he does not have to fight unless it is worth his while, and he says that nothing less than a guarantee of $35,000 would be worth his while for a meeting with Van Klaveren, as he is convinced the fight would not draw much of a gate. And even a guarantee of that size would have to come from the right promoters, Manager Foster puts in, remarking that there are some promoters for whom McLarnin would not fight for $50,000. In the stand that a title match with Van Klaveren would have little to recommend it. McLarnin has the support of many fans. They would like to see the 147 pound title defended, but Van Klaveren is hardly to be considered an ideal challenger. Petrolle beat Van Klaveren, Ross beat Petrolle, so there is nothing to warrant the belief that the Dutchman would have a chance.

Pirates Strong in Reserves With These Replacement Stars

WALLY ROETTGER, Outfielder

They say a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, which means that if there's a weak spot anywhere you might as well toss the chain away. The same rule applies to baseball clubs and virtually every other organization or mechanism. Our Pirates as they face a new pennant campaign, opening next week, are well stocked with outfield reserves with Wally Roettger and Woodie Jensen to call upon, in addition to the regulars, the Brothers Waner and Freddie Lindstrom. In the infield, Floyd Young will be the first-string reserve man next to Tommy Thevenow. Behind the plate it's a toss-up between Hal Finney and Tommy Padden to back up Earl Grace and Art Veltman. The Pirates play the Senators at Forbes Field next Saturday. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

PENNANT POLL FINDS NATS FAVORITES

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP.)—Given a substantial vote of confidence despite their failure against the Giants in the 1933 world series, the Washington Senators are picked to repeat in this year's American League race, starting exactly one week from today in the national capital.

Tabulation of votes in the eighth annual Associated Press pennant poll, conducted among major league sports writers and editors, finds the champions the choice of 49 out of 97 experts. This is slightly better than 50 per cent for Joe Cronin and his well-balanced crew.

LIKE YANKS SECOND

The conviction that the New York Yankees are the only club with a real chance to upset the Senators echoes from the fact that they are the choice of 33 observers to win the pennant.

The rest of the clubs are picked to finish in this order: Boston, Red Sox, third; Detroit Tigers, fourth; Cleveland Indians, fifth; Chicago White Sox, sixth; Philadelhpia Athletics, sevent, and St. Louis Browns, eighth.

Some of the experts may wish to hedge if Lefty Grove doesn't produce pitching results in keeping with his $125,000 price tag but the Red Sox are the sensation of the poll, nevertheless, with majority support for their first division chances and no less than eight observers naming them to dash off with the pennant.

The Tigers and White Sox, the other two clubs benefitting from trades with the Athletics, are the only remaining long-shot choices to top the entire standing. In the consensus, however, Cleveland takes fifth place from the White Sox by a narrow margin, and the Indians may turn out to be the real dark horse of the race, if their exhibition performances against the World Champion Giants are a criterion.

OPINIONS VARY

As an illustration of the extraordinary range of opinion expressed in the poll, the Tigers and White Sox received votes from one source or another for every position in the final standing.

| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 |

| Senators | 49 | 36 | 9 | 3 | .. | .. | .. | .. |

SIMMONS' BAT BRINGS DEFEAT TO BUCCOS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 9.—The stubborn bugaboo of uncertain pitching worried Manager Gibson today as he re-assembled his baseball battalion in this New Mexico city. The Pirates and White Sox came North during the night from El Paso where yesterday the American Leaguers demoralized the Buccos in a contest featured by the de luxe hitting of Al Simmons. The score was 11 to 3.

Hal Smith, who looked great a few days back, was given a nice shellacking by the White Sox in the second clash at El Paso. Bill Harris, who followed Smith to the slab in the seventh, also was a victim of the Chicago bats.

CONTROL MISSING

Smith had a lot of stuff to show the White Sox hitters, but Hal's control was off far enough to penalize him. His fine curve was missing the corners of the plate and his sinker also was shy on accuracy. As a result, he had to come through the alley, and Simmons and the Fonseca lads teed off on him.

BIRKOFER TO HURL

Ralph Birkofer will attempt to stop the Sox this afternoon in the tenth game of the set. The American leaguers need a victory to

ELEY TO MEET SWEENEY IN FEATURE

By JESS CARVER

Topped by the lightweight battle between William Eley, Pleasant Valley A. C. Negro star, and Leo Sweeney, ace of the Pittsburgh Boys' Club, the annual Allegheny Mountain Association senior boxing championships will be concluded at the Keystone A. C. tonight, where the tourney got under way last Thursday.

The outlook for knockouts tonight is not very rosy. Eley doesn't figure to stop Sweeney, nor does Leo rate a knockout victory prediction over the Negro battler. The pair, both fine boxers and sharp hitters (Eley has an edge in socking ability, but is no better as a boxer) and likely will stage a whirlwind bout, which will wind up by putting the judges on the spot. From this point of vantage, Eley looks like the money.

OZNIAK FAVORITE

George Morgan, rugged Pittsburgh Lyceum 112-pounder, will have his hands full with Matt Ozniak. Morgan, the better boxer, does not hit as hard and can look forward to taking plenty in the midsection, where Matt likes to drive 'em home.

At 118 pounds, Frankie Dunst, of Erie, if he boxes as carefully as he did Saturday night in eliminating one of the tourney favorites, Gene Gibbons, should be able to hold off the rushes of Carmen Di Tata, of the Frawley A. C.

Walter Marm, of the Pittsburgh Lyceum, hardly can expect another break as he received Saturday night in his bout with Jimmy Clarke when he was awarded a decision that few, aside from one judge and the referee, thought he deserved. He will have a busy time with hard-hitting Joe Robinson, of Brownsville. Robinson knocked out Steve Walters in his semi-final bout when it appeared as if Steve was going to stow him away, which goes to prove that he has the old fight.

Louie Cerar, St. John's Lyceum middleweight, looks to be too hard a hitter for Steve Kobeda, of the Pittsburgh Lyceum. If he wins, he'll practically have clambered to the title over fallen Pittsburgh Lyceum foes, for he knocked out Jimmy (Red) Auth in the first round.

ANGOTT FACES TEST

Sammy Angott, who won the 118-pound crown a year ago and has moved into the 126-pound division since, figures to take down the featherweight crown by beating Johnny Giachetti, of the P. V. A. C., tonight. Giachetti is a clever boxer, but he doesn't hit as hard as Angott.

The light-heavyweights and heavyweights will swing into action for the first time tonight. The first light-heavyweight bout of the tourney will be the final in this division, for only Al Mancini, of the P. V. A. C., and Charles Douglass, of Meadville, Pa., are entered.

George Bittner, of the P. V. A. C., who won the 175-pound crown last year, has moved into the heavyweight class, where he finds Pete Landini, of the West Newton A. C.; Dan Pielan, of the Frawley A. C., and Emil Perlick, of the Mon Valley A. C., as opponents.

Scrimmage for Ball in West Penn Open Soccer Tilt

GALLATIN SET TO PLAY FOR OPEN TITLE

By TOM BIRKS

The Gallatin Soccer Club, of the Keystone League, will face Heidelberg in a three-game series for the Western Pennsylvania open championship, the upriver team winning the right by virtue of a 2-to-1 victory over Curry, defending champion, at Greenlee Field yesterday afternoon.

The game was preceded by the West Penn junior final game, Houston and Avella battling to a 1-1 tie in a thrilling contest that went into an overtime period.

Fans saw one of the most listless soccer games of the season in the Curry-Gallatin session. Both teams appeared over-anxious, and the contest was a slipshod affair. The outstanding feature of the game was the missing of two penalty kicks by Buff Donnelli, star Curry center forward. Buff was off his game, for both attempts had nothing of the zip that usually characterizes shots from the Donnelli toe.

Buff hit the upright on both tries, proving that he was trying to steer the ball into the corner of the net, something he rarely attempts to do.

Mike Bookie pulled a pretty play to tie the score, pulling the Gallatin goalie, Zernch, out of his net before lobbing the ball over his head. Time was nearly up when Truffa evaded the Curry defense to score the winning goal.

Don Valduga, the young Avella forward, was taken to the Mercy Hospital with an injured shoulder in the junior game. Zoubet scored for Avella, and McFalls evened up matters with a brilliant run and shot that fooled the Avella defense. The lineups:

| Curry—1. | | Gallatin—2. |
|---|---|---|
| Stanko | G | Zernch |
| Cimarolli | R.B. | Grandy |
| F. Donnelli | L.B. | Bailey |
| Powell | R.H. | Chisloglin |
| Chappell | C.H. | Sickles |
| Sustro | L.H. | Paterline |
| Kirk | O.R. | Zedoyne |
| Havnett | I.R. | Grilli |
| B. Donnelli | C. | Kevick |
| Bookie | I.L. | Harmon |
| Maiby | O.L. | Truffa |

Score at half time—Gallatin 1, Curry0. Final score—Gallatin 2, Curry 1. Referee—Robert Boyle. Time of halves—45 minutes. Goals scored by—Grilli, Bookie, Truffa.

| Houston—1. | | Avella—1. |
|---|---|---|
| Shuba | G | J. Kosarik |
| Testa | R.B. | John Sobensky |
| Minnenok | L.B. | A. Kosarik |
| Leskoski | RH. | T. Cepris |
| Nakinashi | C.H. | J. Valduga |
| Trezaska | L.H. | Carl Deco |
| Arnal | O.R. | Geo. Barwidi |
| Grudevich | I.R. | S. Penosky |
| McFalls | C. | A. Zubert |
| Guadagni | I.L. | T. Valduga |
| George | O.L. | E. Valduga |

RANGERS TIE SERIES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 9.—(AP.)—The Pawtucket Rangers evened the national soccer championship playoffs series at Pawtucket yesterday afternoon by defeating Stix-Baer-Fuller, of St. Louis, defending champions, 3-2. A third game will be necessary to decide the series. The cup committee of the United States Football Association met in Providence immediately following the game and decided to stage the third match in St. Louis next Sunday. The largest crowd of several seasons watched the game, 4,520 people paying admission.

BAZZONE BOXES JOE RANDALL

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Tiger Joe Randall vs. Joey Bazzone, 10 rounds; Patsy Hennigan vs. Charley Burns and Chuck Mullins vs. Jack Dalcherone, 6 rounds each, and Floyd Walcott vs. Curley Klaas and Teddy Movan vs. Tiger Joe Hughes, 4 rounds each, McKeesport.

Finals of Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. senior tournament, Keystone A. C.

Gordon Fortenberry vs. Eric Lawson, 10 rounds, West Palm Beach, Fla.

Sam Bruce vs. Carmen Knapp, 8 rounds, Albany, N. Y.

Twenty-year-old Joey Bazzone, of McKeesport, makes a bid for top ranking among the district welterweight boxers tonight when he meets the cagy Tiger Joe Randall, Negro star, of Elizabeth, in the 10-round main bout of a show in Jim McGirr's Palisades Rink, McKeesport. It shapes up as the most attractive match in the McKeesport arena in a couple of years, with a home town pride meeting an opponent who has been a favorite there for a number of seasons, and McGirr figures to draw one of his old-time crowds.

Randall has scored most of his spectacular knockout victories in the McKeesport ring, where he has met foes of varied reputations. Recently he has been boxing successfully throughout Ohio. Bazzone defeated Billy Holt in his most recent start in Motor Square Garden, and also numbers among the men he has beaten Jimmy Belmont, Jackie Holt, Dominic Mancini, Al Lewis and Paul Oger. The young Italian is getting steadily bigger and hopes soon to be a full-fledged middleweight in line for a bout with Teddy Yarosz.

Backing up this attraction is a preliminary card of two six-round bouts and two four-rounders. Patsy Hennigan, of Clairton, boxes Charley Burns, of Johnstown, and Chuck Mullins, of Beechview, meets Jack Dalcherone, of Springdale, in the six-round engagements, and Curley Klaas, North Side heavyweight, takes on Floyd Walcott, of Clairton, while Teddy Movan, of McKeesport, makes his professional debut against Tiger Joe Hughes, of Clairton, in the four-rounders.

MANOS KEEPS A. M. A. SENIOR GLOVE TITLE

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

Theos Manos, K. A. C. star, yesterday retained the Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. senior singles handball crown that has graced his brow for lo! these many years. His final victim in the man-to-man competitions just ended was Dave Olbum, powerful Y. M. H. A. luminary. The verdict read 21-15, 21-1. A large throng crowded the Keystone Athletic Club gallery court for the tussle.

The scintillant all-around game of the champion allowed Olbum no more chance than it had vouchsafed earlier opponents throughout the past week of competition. Passing drives and drops executed with equal facility from either right or left flipper scored frequently and, though Olbum enjoyed slight lead until the 15-stage of stanza one, it was manifest as the tussle progressed that the premier packed the punch to assume command whenever necessity might arise.

Olbum garnered the initial point of the second canto and never tallied thereafter, Manos monopolizing the counting, though it was interspersed with several breaks as the Bellefielder cracked through service.

Manos and his veteran Keystone partner, Curtis Clark, head a group of 14 teams entered in the Senior A. M. A. doubles event, which incidentally begins tomorrow instead of this evening, the site of hostilities being the Keystone A. C. Seeded second to the Manos-Clark combine are Lou Alman and Frank Altmar, speedy Y. M. H. A. outfit. Both select arrays have drawn byes.

Other dangerous duets include Olbum and Sam Gladstone of the Bellefield organization, Burgwin and Ashcraft of Westinghouse Club, Parker Smith and Frank Koubek of the Keystone, Carl Debberthine and Mike Hrycko of the Downtown Y. M. C. A., and Vin McGuinness and Eddie Roche of the P. A. A. The parrings:

First round—E. Curtis Clark and Theos E. Manos, K. A. C., bye; D. J. Richards, Jr., and Bob Caveney, K. A. C., vs. Dave Olbum and Sam Gladstone, Y. M. H. A.; F. E. Appleby and Rudolph Hofer, K. A. C., vs. S. L. Burgwin and E. B. Ashcraft, Westinghouse Club; J. Parker Smith and Frank Koubek, K. A. C., vs. William Muihern and Leo Petrarca, Downtown Y. M. C. A.; Carl Debberthine and Mike Hrycko, Downtown Y. M. C. A., vs. V. E. McGuinness and Ed Roche, P. A. A.; Steve Horvath and M. Y. Poling, Downtown Y. M. C. A., vs. M. P. Hinnebusch and Bob Clark, K. A. C.; Harry Kraeling, Jr., and partner, vs. A. D. McCabe, Jr., and William Rohaly, Downtown Y. M. C. A.; Lou Alman and Frank Altmar, Y. M. H. A., bye.

SHEARER TOPS LOCAL PINMEN

PEORIA, Ill., April 9.—Several Pittsburghers stepped out yesterday in the American Bowling Congress tournament, which closes today, and showed how to stack up money in the singles event.

The Steel City attack was led by Ed Shearer, who had a fine chance to ride into first place, but faltered in his final game. He opened with a 251 and came back strong with a 237, then dropped to 178 and a 666.

J. Verdi produced a 621; J. McGovern a 610; L. Wandel a 610 and W. Yaeger a 598 for the balance of the good figures. None shot into the doubles money.

GIRL SETS RECORD

BALTIMORE, April 9.—(AP.)—Miss Lorraine Gulli, of Washington, last night established a new duckpin bowling record in the women's all-events by scoring a total of 1,114 pins. The previous record of 1,081 was made last year by Anne Griffin, of Hartford, Conn.

Crawfords Victors In Double Header

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—The Pittsburgh Crawfords of the National Negro League, defeated the Caulfields, local sandlot nine, in both ends of a double bill here yesterday.

The Crawfords won the first game, 12 to 0, behind three-hit pitching by Paige, and then came back to take the second, 4 to 1, as Matlock hurled a five-hit game. The scores by innings:

FIRST GAME

| | | | | | | | | | | R. | H. | E. |

Garland to Meet With Sportsmen

Robert Garland, city councilman and father of the Daylight Savings bill, will meet with a committee composed of Steve Cox, William S Haddock, and Everett Sweeney today to consider ways and means to put over the daylight savings bill again this year.

This committee was named at a confab held in the Fort Pitt Hotel yesterday afternoon. The gathering unanimously voted to work on the postcard idea, seeing that Mayor William N McNair stated that a postcard poll would decide whether or not the daylight savings proclamation would go into effect again this year.

SPORT VIGNETTES

One of the athletic heroes of a past generation is being buried at Indiana, Pa., his home town, this afternoon . . . He is Murray Pounds, who died a few days ago, following a long illness . . . For years he had been employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad . . . Time was when Pounds was one of the best known athletes in Western Pennsylvania, and his death recalls many familiar names with which he was associated.

Pounds began his sports career at Indiana Normal School, where he played first base on the baseball team and was a tackle in football . . . He moved to Johnstown as first baseman of that club when its talent compared with the Class AA minor leagues of the present time . . . Later he played for Jeannette, along with such famous stars as Mal Eason, later a big league umpire; Pete Haggerty, Vic King, Jimmy Miller, Alex McMullen, Eddie Eicher, Tim Cowan, Eddie Householder and Ralph Seybold . . . In those days, Greensburg, Irwin, C. A. C., of Braddock, the Homestead Library A. C., Butler, Punxsutawney, Oil City, Franklin and Jeannette were the leading teams of the Independent circuit, and many of the old-time fans still maintain that these clubs were unexcelled in strength.

On the Greensburg team, for instance, were Eddie Cramer and Pittinger, the leading battery; Ed Abbatichio, Hafford, Moran, Jerry Bradley, George Barclay, Ed Mechling, Tom McTighe, Bill Theurer and Eddie Best . . . On the C. A. C. team were Jimmy Carr, Dave Shelby, Charley Hickman, Jakey Hewitt, Danny Shields, Mark Baldwin, after he had left the major leagues, and Tommy Quinn . . . Homestead had Charley McCloskey, Thayer Torreyson, Cap Mangan, Ike Francis, Cad Fisher, Josh Clarke, brother of Fred; George Grossart, Alex Jones and later the famous Rube Waddell, after the eccentric southpaw had jumped Punxsutawney and organized baseball.

Punxsutawney had a famous battery in Hodgkinson and Bert Blue, and also Charley Jones, later of major league fame; Teddy Radcliffe, Ben Lee and Spike Shannon . . . The best teams of the Pittsburgh district were D. C. & A. C. and P. A. C. . . . Ed Young, fresh from Cornell, was the star of the D. C. & A. C. club . . . He was a catcher. . . . Later his brother, Charley, a southpaw pitcher, also from Cornell, joined the team, which also boasted Don McNeil, Charley Lyons and Pop Eagey, infielders . . . P. A. C. had a lot of color and class with Frank and Dan Barr, Jim and Jack Rogers, Bill Coleman and Fred Bannerot.

Irwin had a more seasoned club with Bill Leamon, of Brownsville, who recently had his picture taken with Honus Wagner in California, as the captain and center fielder. . . . Bill was a typesetter on the old Irwin Republican . . . Frank LaPorte, of Uhrichsville, O., the catcher and a terrific hitter, was just breaking in . . . Jock Menefee, of Monessen, was another star, as was Cob Milbee, a pitcher, of Mt. Pleasant, who teamed with Menefee on the famous '89 Scottdale team.

Frank Haller, now of the Board of Reviewers of Allegheny County, was the first baseman of the Irwin team, for which Pounds also played for a while . . . Pinky Lindsay, Chick Cargo and Jimmy Harkins also played with Irwin . . . Pounds played football on the professional team of Irwin and also for the three As, of Allegheny, which preceded D. C. & A. C. on the gridiron.

Beggs Snyder, a former great local basketball player and later one of the best of the officials, is a candidate for the Legislature, and so is Eddie Ray, one of our boxing promoters of two decades ago . . . Not to mention Robert Cohen, who played fullback on the '22 eleven at Fifth Avenue High School and also was a basketball player there along with Moe Rubenstein, now a well-known district coach.

The real name of Teddy Movan, McKeesport welterweight boxer, who makes his professional debut in one of the bouts in his home town tonight, is Thaddeus Popoloski. . . . He is a Polish lad, 20 years old, and has had a brilliant career as an amateur. . . . He has the same build, nationality and first name as Ted Yarosz, whom he hopes to emulate in the matter of ring success. . . . The boys are betting 10 to 1 that Mayor McNair will issue a proclamation for daylight saving. . . . Pie Traynor, of the Pirates, is one of the players limned in a double page of sketches of big league baseball stars in the May issue of Cosmopolitan, which appears tomorrow.—HARRY KECK.

Notre Dame Men Honor Rock's Memory

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP.)—Alumni of Notre Dame University assembled yesterday to pay tribute to Knute Rockne.

The occasion was the second annual Rockne memorial communion breakfast, attended by about 200 graduates of the South Bend, Ind., school.

The breakfast was preceded by a mass in the St. Anthony Chapel of St. Francis of Assisi Church.

Before the breakfast, there was one minute of silent prayer followed by a record on which the late football coach's voice was reproduced in one of his "pep" talks to his gridders.

Brazil Withdraws From Cup Play

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP.)—Brazil will not send a team to the United States this spring to challenge the winner of the North American zone for the right to compete in the European interzone Davis Cup final, the United States Lawn Tennis Association's Davis Cup committee has announced.

WINGS REMAIN IN RUNNING

CHICAGO, April 9.—(AP.)—The battle for the Stanley Cup, professional hockey's world championship trophy, is still alive.

Detroit's gallant Red Wings, playing more like the team which won the National League championship, fought their way back into the ruuing last night overcoming two big obstacles to conquer the Chicago Black Hawks, 5 to 2, in the third match of the series. The struggle will be resumed tomorrow night in the Chicago Stadium and unless the Hawks win, the deciding game will be played on Detroit ice.

GREYHOUNDS WIN

KANSAS CITY, April 9.—(AP.)—Duplicating Saturday night's 2-1 score in another overtime game, Kansas City's Greyhounds jumped into a two-game lead over the St. Louis Flyers in the American Hockey Association championship playoff series last night. Art Merrill, Greyhound wingman, broke up the battle in the first overtime period when he recovered Wiebe's rebound and smashed the puck past Goalie Murray.

Eight Advance In Handball Play

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP.)—Eight players, led by the defending titleholder, Sam Atcheson, of Memphis, have gained the second round in the National A. A. U. four-wall handball championships.

Atcheson quickly disposed of O. Kramer, of New York, 21-7, 21-8, yesterday to advance into the second round along with John Endzevick, of Cleveland; Jack Srenco, of St. Louis; Ray Gallant, of Butte, Mont.; Dan Palazzo, of Bridgeport, Conn., and Edward Linz, Harry Cazarian and John Walsh, of New York.

ST. MICHAELS WINS

The St. Michaels quintet, of Homestead, won the Jednota national basketball title yesterday, defeating the St. Benedict five, of Cleveland, 53 to 26, in Turner Hall, Homestead. The lineup:

| St. Mich. | G. | F. | Pt. | St. Bened. | G. | F. | Pt. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Novak, f. | 2 | 0 | 4 | Beluscach, f. | 1 | 0 | 2 |

| Cascoe, g. | 1 | 0 | 2 | | | | |
| Veseleny, f. | 1 | 0 | 2 | | | | |
| Totals | 24 | 5 | 53 | Totals | 11 | 4 | 26 |

Young Welters Stablemates

JOEY BAZZONE

Bazzone and Movan box the main and first bouts, respectively, on the card at McKeesport tonight, the former against Tiger Joe Randall and the latter against Tiger Joe Hughes. Bazzone is established as a seasoned campaigner with victories over Jimmy Belmont, Billy Holt and others of note, while Movan, an amateur star, will be making his professional debut tonight. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture of the lads, both of whom are only 20 years old.

Net Stars Open Pinehurst Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C., April 9.—(AP.)—A field of more than three score tennis stars, including the leading candidates for the 1934 American Davis Cup team, came here today to begin first-round matches in the annual North and South tennis tournament.

Lester Stoefen, 23-year-old sensation from the west coast, who overwhelmed Wilmer Allison yesterday in finals of the River Oaks tournament at Houston, Tex., 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, was the early favorite to succeed Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, who will not defend the title he won here last spring. Stoefen was not expected to arrive until tomorrow.

George Dawson Wins Mid-West Golf Play

VARZI RACE VICTOR

BRESCIA, Italy, April 9.—(AP.)—Luigi Varzi yesterday won the annual 1,000 miles road race, automobile classic, averaging 114.307 kilometers per hour. Tazio Nuvolari, averaging 113.122, was second, and Louis Chiron, of France, averaging 104.9, was third.

QUATSE A FATHER

From Miami, Fla., comes announcement of the birth of a daughter last Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Jess Quatse. Quatse will be remembered as the All American football tackle at Pitt a few seasons ago.

OLD ATHLETE DIES

Herbert A. Reed, local insurance broker who died Saturday from a heart attack, was a former football star at Wash-Jeff. He starred at halfback from 1897 to 1900.

CHILLYSAUCE

Larry French not only has the first long-term contract issued by the Pittsburgh club in years, but has a two-year document that calls for a princely salary. It develops that the reason for the execution of the unusual contract lies in the fact that Larry asked for a boost of approximately $2,500 for his services in 1934.

Pirate officials, who have been very generous with French and other ace performers, could not see their way clear to hoist the ante to the extent of Larry's demand. Letters passed between the player and his employers and eventually the pay boost was adjusted in a compromising way. French did not get his demand, but he was given a nice advance and the new amount will cover this season and 1935.

Larry, it was learned on very good authority, will draw down almost $25,000 for the two-year period. The young lefthander is a good businessman, but it is only fair to state he has been treated well in such hard times.

Harry Lavagetto's mother and father both were born in Italy and the youthful Pirate's second sacker is very proud of his ancestry. Cookie is a soft-spoken lad with a smile, but he seems to have the pardonable cheekiness that is a distinctive asset in baseball. Already he has had words with another Pirate and the reports are that Lavagetto cooled off his tormenter in no uncertain way. The rookies often are subjected to a lot of teasing that could just as well be eliminated, and the youngster who talks back is generally better off.

Lavagetto has a nonchalant, almost sloppy way of fielding bounders. He gives the impression of an athlete of 30 rather than 19. I have yet to see him out of position to throw and he has a powerful arm. Arky Vaughan would be a smoother fielder if he could cut the ball underhand as easily as the rookie. Vaughan, by the way, is improving in this direction.

The fine hand of Honus Wagner is seen in the fielding development of the two kids around the middle of the diamond. Wagner stands behind the two in fielding practice and gives them pointers. Both Vaughan and Lavagetto are eager to hear what Honus has to say.

No member of the Pirate party is busier than Honus on and off the field. I watched him for a solid hour as he helped to run off a batting drill in hot Tucson. He was in constant danger in his spot behind the pitcher as he keeps the practice flinger supplied with balls. He never asks for relief and as soon as the game starts he is on the coaching lines.

Wyatt and Heving pitched the White Sox to the triumph in the perfect afternoon at El Paso. The former reeled off six fine rounds before giving over the task to his slabmate. Both righthanders were very effective.

President Bill Benswanger, of the Pirates, announced last night that he had received word from Commissioner Landis to the effect that the judge would attend the first Sunday game at Forbes Field, scheduled for April 29.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY OF GREATER PITTSBURGH

PUBLIC BUYING GIVES IMPETUS TO BUSINESS

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Irrespective of the vicissitudes of politics, gross business volume, stimulated by public spending, continues to move forward, justifying the expectation of a spring rise of at least seasonal proportions.

Mr. Rukeyser

Progress has recently been made toward the administration's goal of raising the price level. The raising of basic steel prices from $2 to $8 a ton was symptomatic of the trend. Incidentally, it represented a passing along to customers of the financial burden of recent wage increases. Coal price increases were also announced. Similar advances were made in the automobile industry, except by the non-conformist Henry Ford, who sharply raised the issue of the danger of discouraging gross volume by boosting prices. Mr. Ford held out the ideal of absorbing increased wage rates in more efficient labor performance.

It seems to me that Mr. Ford's position strikes a fundamental note. In doctrinaire discussions of the situation, it has erroneously been assumed that the productivity per man is more or less fixed. On the contrary, the ledgers of experience of American industry show that there is a very wide range in productivity, dependent on the skill of management and the character of workers selected. Obviously, if industry is to raise wage rates on a sound basis, it must be permitted to absorb the higher rates in heightened efficiency. Arbitrary restrictive rules tend needlessly to boost costs.

CONSEQUENCES DEBATABLE

Though their recent moves help to raise the general level of prices, the economic consequences are debatable. They do nothing to correct the paralysing disparities within the price structure, such as the inequality between agricultural and industrial prices. To the extent that industrial prices are relatively increased, the price gaps in fact will be widened, and the disparities increased, making it difficult for the great social classes to employ one another.

Accordingly, a further relative upturn in agricultural prices is needed. The program got slowed up last summer when the NRA began prematurely to raise industrial costs. Much of the success of the Roosevelt recovery program depends on carrying substantially further the agricultural relief plan.

Recent administration moves at Washington have been in the direction of conservatism. With millions of stockholders throughout the country and many millions more dependent on trade and industry, business baiting schemes, when thoroughly understood, are not really popular.

There are also reports that the administration recognizes the need at this stage of the new deal of strengthening the administrative efficiency of the government personnel. The movement is largely beyond the idea stage now, and success to an increasing extent depends on administrative capacity.

EMPLOYMENT IMPORTANT

The best minds of the administration are increasingly aware of the pivotal importance of stimulating employment. Various reform projects are being studied in light of their practical effect on employment. This question becomes increasingly serious in view of President Roosevelt's plan to taper off emergency expenditures and transfer millions from public payrolls to private payrolls.

Statistical indicators recently have made no striking change, but have continued their trend. Electric power production, adjusted for seasonal variation, has climbed to the highest peak since last summer, which incidentally marked the highest point thus far reached in industrial recovery.

In connection with the recent strength of commodity prices, it is important to keep in mind the fact that the purchasing power of farm products declined 1 per cent from February 15 to March 15, and will doubtless show another decline in the current 30-day period.

PETROVITS GOES ON ART STAFF

Twenty-seven years of experience in the Pittsburgh Photo Engraving Company, of which Petrovits is art director, is expected to prove of invaluable assistance to the students of the Art Institute, according to Willis Shook, director.

A consistent prize winner and exhibitor at Carnegie Galleries and in New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Washington, Chicago, and other cities, Petrovits was praised by Shook as representing the rare combination of artist and practical man of art.

Petrovits was a student of the College of Fine Arts, Carnegie Institute of Technology.

NRA Curbs 'Cracking Down'

By B. C. FORBES

NOTICE IS BEING very, very politely served on Washington by business leaders that recovery is assured without further revolutionary experiments, calculated to torpedo the Constitution.

Mr. Forbes

Until last week, industrial Napoleons had kept significantly silent. Now the head of America's largest automotive enterprise and the head of our largest steel corporation come forth with the public declaration that recovery forces are at work throughout the world and that America is in a condition to regain prosperity without additional political nostrums.

YOU CAN SAFELY assume that from now on business, industry, finance will become more articulate, that they will loosen the muzzle they have deemed it prudent to foster upon themselves, thus far during the many-sided activities and innovation of a new deal. Hereafter, criticism of the administration will be intermingled with the commendation hereafter exclusively voiced by men of important affairs, fearful of bringing down upon their heads the wrath of "crack down" Johnson or other bureaucrats now clothed with indefinite, if not infinite, authority.

THE LATEST underground intimations from Washington are that more conciliatory policies are to be pursued. Regulation of exchanges is to be very substantially modified and the securities act is to have some of its most forbidding teeth drawn—so that the financial world hears.

And, amazingly enough NRA Johnson announces that he will not insist that the autocratic power to compel any or all business to apply for a license be renewed after the date originally specified for its expiration, June 15.

THE WRITER for months has contended that business and employment could climb back towards normalcy only if a reasonable measure of co-operation were extended by Washington and the policy of high-handed coercion was abandoned. When such sentiments were first expressed in this column, they evoked storms of protest and denunciation; for anyone to dare to do anything but loudly and blindly applaud every spasm of the brain trust, every revolutionary outpouring from theoristic amateurs, was adjudged high treason.

At least mentally, some semblance of freedom is beginning to reappear among citizens carrying enormous responsibilities, citizens entrusted with the well being of scores of thousands, even hundreds of thousands, of wage earners.

SO IT MAY BE that the "cracking down" era is about to give place to a more rational, more fruitful, more American way of achieving economic and social results.

THE COUNTRY continues to make irregular progress, but progress.

Securities have been quietly creeping upwards, though at snail pace. The general commodity price level has exhibited a similar trend. Figures and other facts from basic industries, such as steel, motor, railway, power, are at least moderately encouraging.

Bank clearings are running 43 per cent above the abnormally low levels of a year ago. Commercial failures are at the lowest point of the year. The American Federation of Labor declares that more than ten thousand men and women returned to work daily during February, and there has since been absorption of unemployed.

THE RECENTLY inaugurated cycle of wage increases is making rapid progress. By the end of this month, several million individuals and families will have had their income expanded.

Such a movement, coupled with price advances for industrial products and unaccompanied by improved prices for agricultural prices, has fundamental economic drawbacks; but the sentimental effect has been distinctly cheerful.

DEFINITE NEWS that Washington will soft-pedal disturbing legislation would unquestionably stimulate a rebound both in securities and in major commodities. Uncertainty has been repressing activity and enthusiasm.

Given a fair chance, this nation should move ahead more impressively than any other on the face of the earth.

STOCK MARKET BETTER THAN 'AVERAGE'

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Last week the stock market averages gained nearly two points, and the bond averages rose each day, reaching a new high for the year.

The slight reaction in stocks on Saturday came on extreme dullness and merely shows the difficulty of arousing speculative interest, and the tendency of investment buyers to slow up as prices rise.

On the whole, the action tends to confirm opinion that (barring radical political developments) there is good demand underneath, and that buying will come in dips.

To a "chart reader" the action of the market is noteworthy. In fact, I find nothing quite like it since back in 1927. There has been a gradual, steady advance for eight days, with no "gaps" or spurts. All the time, the volume of trading had been low.

The market, as a whole, may be said to have somewhat better than the "average," as a sizeable majority of the issues traded in have gained, while there has been more or less irregularity among the "leaders." The number of different issues traded in has been fairly large, while the percentage of activity confined to a few favorites has been low.

BUYERS ARE CAUTIOUS

If any inference is to be drawn, it seems to me that it is the suggestion of a further rise. Perhaps the tendency to buy low priced stocks just because more shares can be acquired for a given sum, is too pronounced. This invites stocks, some signs of which appeared last week. But on the whole a cautious, selective buying is predominant.

The man who would buy stocks for investment should ever remember that it is the number of dollars he pays and the income they bring in which count. Better 10 shares of a good stock at 100 than 100 shares of a poor stock at 10.

I do not advise any less caution. One should keep in mind the following facts: The market has risen for eight days. It has shown some tendency to round off. This comes just as it nears the resistance level shown between February 25 and March 13. Business is hesitating a little on account of labor troubles, increased costs and consumer resistance. CWA and PWA expenditures are just now smaller than anticipated.

There is a bare possibility that upon the President's return from the Astor yacht, we may have more "cracking down" and laws with teeth in them.

NO SEVERE REACTION

But I note that stocks average only a little above the level attained in June last year, which is about the plateau along which they moved ever since. This fact, together with the further fact that the devaluation of the dollar has not yet become fully effective, gives me some confidence.

Furthermore, the new dealers are somewhat chastened by the independence shown by Congress, and Congress itself is paying more attention to the interests of those whom it represents.

It seems that the administration is inclined to wait a while to see if the business pump has been primed, and to allow existing inflationary measures to work.

So (barring unexpected drastic action from Washington) I look for no severe reaction. I advise an attitude of cautious investment in equities of the less spectacular sort, which both earn fair dividends and are likely to benefit by inflation, but think it well to retain part of one's funds for "averaging down" during a reaction.

Carriers Pay Less Damages in 1933

On the basis of the total number of cars loaded with revenue freight, loss and damage claims paid by the railroads in 1933 averaged 50 cents per car compared with 62.4 cents in 1932, according to complete reports for the year just received by the Freight Claim Division of the American Railway Association.

STOCKS DRAG, TRADERS TAKE SIDELINES

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP.)—The stock market again was in a rather non-commital mood today and most traders and investors appeared to be well satisfied with their seats on the side-lines.

A few of the metals, including some copper and silver issues, were fairly firm as futures prices for these staples pointed upward. Transactions were around the dullest levels of the year. The grans were virtually at a standstill, along iwth cotton. Rubber improved moderately. United States Government and prime corporate bonds were in scant demand, but secondary loans were mixed. International dollar rates were narrow.

While industrial activity was continuing to give a fairly good account of itself, some trade analysts appeared to be concerned over the recurrence of labor difficulties. It was feared that automobile production at Detroit may be retarded if the strike in one of the largest accessory plants there is not settled soon.

Congressional maneuverings were being watched closely, especially those having to do with the exchange control bill, the Wagner labor bill and the Dies silver measure. Final action on either one of these, it was believed, might cause markets to jump one way or the other.

The financial district was particularly interested in the announcement of Secretary Morgenthau that exchange subscriptions amounting to about $550,000,000 had been received up to the close of business on Saturday for the new series of 3¼ per cent 10-12-year Treasury bonds which are to be issued next Monday. Holders of the called Liberty fourth 4¼s who do not elect to make the exchange will of course, be paid off in cash.

Traders who usually take their cue from commodity indices were waiting for something more definite in this category before reaching a conclusion on stock trends. The wholesale commodity price index of the National Fertilizer Association advanced from 71 to 71.1 in the latest reportable week.

COTTON PRICES RULE STEADY

NEW YORK, April 9.—Cotton futures opened barely steady 4 to 7 points decline under May liquidation and on lower Liverpool cables. May, 11.98; July, 12.09; October, 12.23; December, 12.30; January, 12.37; March, 12.45.

In the absence of much demand prices sagged. After the call the market steadied up a few points on the appearance of a little support credited to the continent and Japan.

By the end of the first half hour, May was selling at around 12.00 and October at 12.24, with the general market about 3 to 7 points net lower.

Fluctuations during the remainder of the morning were confined to a narrow range with the undertone about steady. May liquidation continued but the trade was a moderate buyer of the near month at around the 11 cent level. May sold up from 11.98 to 12.01 and October from 12.22 to 12.25, with prices at around midday ruling within a point or so of these levels or 2 to 6 points net lower.

LIVERPOOL, April 9.—Cotton 2,000 bales, including 200 American. Spot moderate business done; prices one point lower; quotations in pence: American strict good middling 6.59, good middling 6.69; strict middling 6.54; middling 6.39; strict low middling 5.93; strict good ordinary 5.79; good ordinary 5.49. Futures closed quiet. May 6.02; July 6.03; October 6.09; December 6.00; January 5.99; March 6.09.

Lumber Business 29% Above 1932

NEW YORK, April 9.—New business received at the lumber mills in the first quarter was 3 per cent above production and represented a gain of 29 per cent from the corresponding period of 1933, says the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association. Output was up 58 per cent from the first quarter of 1933 and shipments increased 23 per cent.

West Africa Golds Booming in London

LONDON, April 9.—Boom conditions prevail in West African gold mining shares. Brokers report a large number of orders for the new account which begins today with further considerable appreciation in quotations.

Corporate Earnings

Tide Water Associated Oil Company and subsidiaries report for 1933 net profit of $7,625,301 after taxes, charges, depreciation, depletion, etc., comparing with $1,718,693 in 1932.

United Aircraft and Transport Corporation in 1933 earned .56c a common share against .54c a share in 1932.

Cuban-American Sugar Company and subsidiaries report for 1933 shows net loss of $452,225 after taxes, depreciation, interest, etc., which compares with net loss of $2,054,188 in 1932.

Coty, Inc., 1933 net profit was $222,776 after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., against $521,386 in 1932.

Foreign Exchange.

SURPLUS CARS DECREASE

Class I railroads on March 14 had 352,489 surplus freight cars in good repair and immediately available for service, the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association announces.

This was a reduction of 22,194 compared with February 28, at which time there were 374,683 surplus freight cars.

Surplus coal cars on March 14 totaled 85,850, a decrease of 8,042 cars below the previous period, while surplus box cars totaled 213,293, a decrease of 11,739 cars compared with February 28.

Reports also showed 25,923 surplus stock cars, an increase of 551 cars compared with February 28, while surplus refrigerator cars totaled 11,353, a decrease of 1,069 for the same period.

World Wheat Group Studies Price Plan

ROME, April 19.—(AP.)—The discussion of a minimum export price for wheat again occupied the attention of the delegates to the World Wheat Advisory Committee at a long session today.

All countries now have been heard on the question.

After the morning meeting, the delegates said informally that their study of the question was progressing uniformly. However, the exact method of arriving at a minimum remains to be chosen from among four different suggestions.

Waste Gold Ore May Make Riches

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col.—(INS.)—A new crop of Colorado millionaires may be made from material thrown aside by earlier mining men of the state, if promises of science are fulfilled. Science is said to have found a way to extract still more gold from the old dump containing 4,000,000 tons of dirt beside a Colorado Springs mill. Machinery has been installed by which promoters hope to extract an additional $20,000,000 worth of gold from the dump.

Rail Credit Unit Returns 13 Per Cent

The Railroad Credit Corporation has, at March 31, returned to the railroads $8,872,192 of the emergency revenues which were turned over to it for temporary use in protecting the railroad credit position. An additional repayment of approximately $735,000 will be made on April 30, which will bring the total liquidating distributions up to 13 per cent of the net contributions.

Gasoline Market Shows Firm Tone

NEW YORK, April 9.—With the exception of a few localities where markets are unsettled, the gasoline situation shows promise of attaining firmer ground in the near future, according to trade observers. The expected seasonal increase in consumption and various movements to check oversupply are counted on as stabilizing influences.

Heart Attack Kills Insurance Official

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 9.—(AP.)—Percy H. Goodwin, 52, former president of the National Association of Insurance Agents, died here Sunday of a heart attack.

He was a director of the Great American Indemnity Company of New York.

Chickie's Daughter

By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XXXIX.

"It's a bona fide proposal, Pippin. It wasn't because of the night and the stars. I've been thinking of this for a long time. We can get married. We can make a go of it. We'll have a grand life."

Pippin grinned.

"I'll tell you the rest when I come back."

He sauntered off after Jon who had climbed out on a flat boulder and, quiet as a statue, stood with his line cast. Jon pulled back the line taut; a big speckled trout made a bright arc through the air. A deep, sanctuary hush closed over the momentary flash.

It was evening. Shadows on the wild Sierra crags darkened to purple, and the lake—dropped like a silver urn and forgotten in the sheer precipitous chasm—dimmed as though dreams flowed over it to amethyst.

Gregg Serious

Pippin leaned against a straggly pine that grew like a forlorn rebel from the austere granite slabs. Gregg returned. He sat at her side, resting his head on her arm.

"Best time of the day. Almost profane to talk. Jon caught seventeen trout. I got none. Fishermen have to be born. Like poets. Certainly 'plumb full of hush' up here. You won't take me seriously, Pippin?"

"You've been warning me for two years, Gregg. You've been daring me to get hopeful of love and affection."

"Well, that phase is done. I want you to marry me. I can make you happy."

"I'm not the sort of wife you've dreamed about, Gregg. You want your woman to adore you. You want her on her knees."

"You're not madly in love with me, Pippin. I know that. But given a little time you might be. I've a lot of imagination. I'm better than you think I am. I can be awfully good to you."

She was touched by his ardor, by his young, obvious goodness and intrigued by the exciting panorama his breezy speech unrolled.

He said: "You admit it would be larky?"

"Yes, but it's not real. Life doesn't rollick along in that 'hail-fellow' fashion."

"Oh, there's such a lot of bunk passed out about life. 'Life is real, life is earnest, and the grave is not its goal'—all that. But life can be anything you want. The majority of people have no originality. Because their mothers lived within four plastered walls, they must do the same. No wonder it took millions of years to get out of the jellyfish stage."

"It's just too bad to waste the precious gift on paupers who are too mean to spend it. They die with all the years saved up and withered."

Glorious Vagabonds

"Gregg—you make me weep!"

"But there was a woman went to college with my mother. She was born in the snows on a mountain side. She had brothers and sisters all born on one wild trail or another. The parents were highly educated. They were glorious vagabonds. They didn't waste one hour wailing themselves in 'Darning socks! Scrubbing floors!'

"They must have had money."

"Didn't take much. The father wrote a bit. They had no overhead. No rent, no income tax; no gas and electric; no telephone; just one wide open space after another."

"But how would you like to be the mother and have your children born in the snows? They say it's not so hot under the best conditions."

Gregg snickered. "They could have chosen a meadow. But that's a mere detail. The fact remains, Pippin, that one or two people out of every ten thousand do appreciate life. They do LIVE. Look at Cornelia Stratton. She had no money. But she's wandered with three youngsters through all those lovely villages of England—the black forest of Germany, the beautiful Rhine, up the steppes of Russia, down the green hills of Ireland into Killarney Lakes!"

"I love you. I've got $300. In another year when we're ready to start I'll have a thousand. You'll never again meet a man who offers you such a free glittering life all your dreams coming true. Think it over."

He reached up and pulled her to him, holding and kissing her. His face, when he let her go, was sharply drawn and flushed.

"You care somewhat for me, Pippin?"

Wonderful Dream

"Yes."

"It's enough." He held her hand, saying tiredly as though trying to convince someone. "Love grows. Especially when there's a mental harmony. You and I look at things from the same angle. We stimulate each other; we're happy together. That's enough for a starter."

She linked her arm in his. They walked through the woods. He looked winning and young and pathetic.

She dallied with the picture of herself on the glorious vagabond tramp. When she read news from remote, colorful places, she thought: "We could visit there!" It didn't seem fantastic.

Yet the months passed. She gave no definite encouragement to Gregg.

But she didn't love him—not in the mad, complete, uprooting way she had dreamed about. She was steeled against emotion—afraid of it. Yet deep in her being was a hunger—a wild, secret yearning. She wanted love like that! Wanted this blind, dynamic, overpowering force to ride her down. Wanted a man, seeming above all other men, to own and claim her. Wanted to drop on her knees because of this beautiful, overmastering emotion. Sweeps you like music; drowns you like a tide.

Despairs of Love

"I'll never get that," she thought, aching. "Few women get it. We all long and long."

She thought of her mother. Helena's life was romantic; was exciting and enviable. Sophisticated, brazen and shocking as she often was, her thoughts about her parents—could they have read them—would have made both weep. Her mother, haunting and lovely; David, a great man. They loved, a complete, beautiful love. But they were two very exceptional beings. They were in a niche apart.

It would never come—that glorious thing—to her.

It was a Saturday morning toward the end of November. Pippin stood before her mirror. She was wearing her hair straight back, caught with a bunch of ringlets at her neck. It looked fetching and young. But nothing suited her.

She wanted to look her very best, so, of course, she had no color and the little black hat wouldn't go right. She took one glance at the smart black sport dress with its white collar and cuffs. Then pulled it impatiently off.

She put on a navy blue with a touch of red in the scarf. When Helena stood at the door and said mildly, "Why didn't you wear the green outfit?" tears flew to her eyes.

She was trembling, excited, with a feeling of apprehension as before a hard examination. She thought, "Why do I care? What is it to me?"

Kevin Returns

Kathleen whispered, "There's Jane Carew!"

"There he is. There he is!" Kathleen grabbed Pippin's hand. They ran down the tracks.

Everything was lost in the wonder of the moment when she saw him swing from the steps. He looked about, dazed. Then he saw his mother. Kevin caught Mary in his arms, seeming not to care for anyone else in the world. Mary dabbed at her eyes. She came along, bulky and middle-aged, but such a light, such a proud, brimming joy on her face as she clung to Kevin.

The little crowd surged about Kevin; they shook his hand, the girls kissed him. Pippin saw his face closely now, thin, the black hair swept back from his forehead, cheekbones prominent and his thick brows a little overhanging. But he looked wonderful to her; he looked magnificent. She was afraid she might cry.

Synopsis

Pippin, pretty daughter of Chickie, falls in love with Kevin McPike. Pippin and Kevin's sister, Kathie, are fast friends. Pippin is thrilled by the first real kiss she ever had—from Kevin. When Kevin goes to Europe to pursue his studies, Pippin meets Bill Lodge, a young ensign. At a friend's home, Chickie meets Barry Dunne, the man who caused her so much sorrow. Pippin goes to a party with Bill, but after returning seems unhappy. She tells her father what she heard about her mother, and that she thought him responsible. David explains to her what really happened and Pippin is again happy. Chickie tells Pippin the real story of her life. Pippin goes on hikes with Gregg McClintock, senior at college. She then returns to college and has Vivian Drake as a room mate. Vivian's love affair with Sherry wanes. Vivian disappears and sends suicide note.

Now Go On

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Do you know that, as a rule, the first tell-tale wrinkles appear just in front of the ears? Tissues are soft there and thin. When the adipose under-substance starts to dissolve, there are lines and creases. Keep this danger in mind when using your complexion creams at night. Give several brisk circular sweeps there. Another hide-away nook that requires attention is the place where nostrils meet the flesh on the cheek. It is a hid-away spot for blackheads. Bring in with the cream, dig vigorously with a soft cloth to wipe away deposits of atmospheric dust.

PONTIAC WAR—MAJOR ROGERS WARNED BY PONTIAC

British generalissimo Amherst sent Maj. Rogers, commander of the famous New Hampshire Rangers, with the request of submission to the French in Detroit. On the way (1760) around today's Cleveland, Rogers met Pontiac, the greatest Indian chief of the 18th Century, who warned him against taking lands, as these belonged to the Indians. Accompanied by Pontiac, Rogers, fullfilled his mission. Detroit surrendered.

Pontiac then decided to fight the British, fixing secretly May 7, 1763, as the date of a general attack of Indians, each tribe assailing the nearest British fort and settlement. Not before causing much bloodshed and destruction, the Indians were induced to enter into a treaty of friendship at Oswega (1766) three years after the British-French treaty at Paris had been signed. "DON'T DISTURB MY CIRCLES"

In the Second Punic War shortly after the Roman defeat at Cannae, Hiero, king of Syracuse, ally of Rome, died. His successor sided with Carthage against Rome.

Marcellus was sent with a Roman army to conquer Syracuse. This resisted long, due to use of war machines invented by Archimedes, the greatest engineer, who lived there. Archimedes was absorbed in calculations, when the city fell. "Noli turbare circulos meos" (don't disturb my circles) shouted Archimedes to an invading Roman soldier who killed him. Archimedes valued scientific work much higher than life. (Character Building)

SECOND PUNIC WAR—HANNIBAL CROSSING THE RHONE (218 B. C.)

After the First Punic War, Carthage, established a new empire in Spain, its army commanded by Hamilcar. His son Hannibal, succeeded him, determined to conquer Rome. Starting from Cartagena, Spain, he traversed Gaul, crossed the Alps, defeating Romans (Lake Trasimenus, 217 B.C., Cannae, 216 B. C., map above).

In 203 B. C. he was recalled to defend Carthage in Africa against the Roman Gen. Scipio, the elder Africanus, and was utterly defeated at Zama (202 B. C.). Carthage lost Hispania, Numidia, ships, war material and agreed not to enter any war without Rome's consent. Hannibal had to flee and committed suicide. Rebelling tribes on the peninsula were sternly punished. (World History)

COLLOID CHEMISTRY—BASIC FOR SCIENCE, INDUSTRY

Molecular dispersion of one material into another yields a solution; that of aggregates of molecules—not bigger in diam. than about 1/125,000 inch—produces colloidal suspension, colloidal state of matter. E. g.: smoke (grains dispersed in gas), fog (drops in gas), foam (gas bubbles in liquid), milk (drops in liquid), etc.

Colloidal particles have electric charge (+ or —); they are not retained by ordinary filters; by meeting particles of opposite electricity or salt solutions they coagulate, settle. (E. g. "salting out" soap; formation of river deltas at meeting seawater; also in processes of dyeing; tanning; sugar, paper, rubber, glass, cement-and ceramic-industries, metallurgy, agriculture, cooking, etc.).

Colloidal dispersion can be produced by mechanical disintegration (1, the colloid mill) and by electricity (2, by drawing electric arc); also by chemicals.

The ultra microscope makes visible particles of 1/125,000,000 inch diam. It shows a steady movement of colloid particles caused by collisions with invisible, vibrating molecules, the "Brownian motion," preventing settling of colloids, (right). As the only living matter, protoplasm, is in colloidal state, the laws governing colloidal dispersion, yet little known, are fundamental for life. (Chem.)

FERTILIZATION IN FLOWERS—DISTRIBUTION OF SEED

The complete flower of a seedplant (above left) consists of four whorls of modified leaves. 1, sepals (green) forming the calix; 2, petals (larger, colored) building the corolla; 3, stamens (containing pollen grains); 4, carpels (pistils, each comprising the ovule in a case; style and stigma).

The pollen grain—transfered to the stigma—germinates under influence of a fluid secreted by the stigma. The pollen grain bursts, issuing a tube which carries the sperm to the egg cell, forming with it the zygote in the ovule. The zygote develops into the seed, and the ovule case ripens into fruit. Some plants scatter their seeds (above).

AUTOMOBILE BRAKES

Moving bodies have kinetic energy (proportionate to their mass and to the square of their speed) to be converted into other kinds of energy in order to bring the body to a stop. Applied brakes convert the kinetic energy of the auto into heat by friction. Auto brakes consist of drums fastened to wheels, brake shoes inside drums and brake bands outside, arranged so they can press against drums by pulling a hand-lever (emergency brake) or stepping on a pedal (service brake). Emergency and service brakes must be independent (legal requirement) for safety. While drums revolve with wheels, brake shoes, bands, are stationary. Above: Automobile brake (wheel, drum ommitted).

Good brakes (emergency or service) should stop a car going 10 miles an hour within 9 feet on good, hard, level road by exerting a medium pedal pressure or hand-lever pull. At a speed multiple of 10, (say X), stopping distance in feet should not be more than 9xX/10 x X/10. E. g. If speed is 20 miles p. h., stopping distance should not exceed 9x20/10 x 20/10=36 feet. ## Looking Over the Books

Well, the President of the 48 states has his wages fixed the same way.

However, it seems that a bank official has always been more or less of an independent organism. He does things differently.

We ain't saying anything about what happened since 1929. That was bound to come. The bank presidents sat for years in their offices. Every time they swung around they read their names on the glass doors. But they read them backwards. Finally, they got to thinking that way.

Apportioning salaries in any industry depends on how many people know the business. Now, we know that a man must receive the equivalent of his value to the organization.

Therefore, when the board of directors meets for its weekly table nap, the chairman calls in the president and says, "Ed, you seem prosperous, even though we know you are underpaid. Therefore, we are raising your salary. But, in order to keep your income stationary, we are changing the combination of the safe."

That's fair enough all around and back again. Then, somebody down in the control room, who has little to do, starts complaining that bank presidents get too much money in ratio to their benevolent activities.

During the investigation the bank monarch has to sadly admit that he gets one million dollars a year during times of peace. And two millions a year during depression. That's because he worries more.

The public is worrying too. But the bank president has the advantage of strategic locality. He's doing his worrying right where the money is.

From now on, we have started life all over again. And, we don't care how much money the bank president gets, provided he gives us our share.

Make Yourself Heard in Opposition to Entangling Foreign Alliances

For more than a century and a half, this country has been able to get along independently of the politics of Europe.

During that long period, there has been no phase of national existence in which we have not advanced.

Economically we have utilized natural resources and established manufactures, until America is the greatest of producing nations, having the richest home markets, employing more workers, paying better wages and maintaining higher standards of living than any other country on the globe.

Culturally we have not lagged. The American people have developed a literature that is worthy as well as indigenous, and in architecture, music and the graphic arts they have learned to express themselves.

In sum America represents a well rounded national civilization, and, under our historic institutions, we have been spared the passions and tyrannies and persecutions visited upon so many less happy races.

Founded upon the maxims of Washington, the achievements of Hamilton and the philosophy of Jefferson, the American system has proved itself best for the American people; and Washington's farewell admonition still remains "the great rule of conduct for us."

Those ardent internationalists who have again raised the meddlesome and pernicious issue of the League of Nations and the League Court are simply blind to realities.

For example, the League of Nations Association is circulating a pamphlet in support of league membership. "Why raise the issue now?" the circular asks, and it goes on to say:

"Because the world is face to face with another 1914 . . . once more mass hatred and fear are breaking over the boundaries of reason."

"The earth today is set for a vast explosion, and there are plenty of sparks to set it off."

"War hysteria grows AS THE INFLUENCE OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS WANES."

"The threat of international conflagration INCREASES in inverse to the prestige of Geneva."

And such dire warnings of disaster, avouched by the internationalists, are called "reasons" why America should forego her advantages and sacrifice her diplomatic and economic independence—for what?

For the precarious privilege of joining a moribund Old World political organization which league advocates themselves admit is "waning" and futile—for the dangerous adventure of engaging ourselves in the wiles and intrigues wherein the league propagandists themselves perceive the dreadful portents of a new World War, more destructive than the last one!

And to what purpose that anybody can predict? So that we may be assured of peace? There is no such assurance. The League of Nations Association's bulletin confesses as much when it says, frankly:

"We do not claim that international co-operation is an easy method, or that it represents a sure escape from war."

At a time when our people have cares enough at home, and more than enough, it was neither wise nor proper for the League of Nations issue to be gratuitously raised again.

But the issue has been raised, and it must be squelched.

On this page appears the petition which the Hearst newspapers are publishing so that the American people may make themselves heard.

It is YOUR DUTY, if YOU believe in an independent America, so sign the anti-League of Nations petition, and to get your patriotic freinds and neighbors to sign.

Uniformity Wrong, Too

The Punishment of Criminals Should Be Adjusted To the Circumstances.

Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the State Police, says lack of uniformity in the sentences imposed on criminals tends to increase crime.

He suggests the establishment of a tribunal which would concern itself only with fixing the punishment. In this way, he thinks, a desirable uniformity in sentences could be brought about.

Maj. Adams' contention is not without merit. There is unquestionably wide disparity between the sentences imposed by different courts for the same offenses.

Uniprmity of punishment, however, may also be undesirable. For example, a fine imposed on a millionaire might be no punishment at all, while to a poor person the same fine would be ruinous. A Swedish commission to revise the criminal code of that country proposed to rectify this by regulating fines according to wealth and income of the transgressor.

Moreover, a prison term which to a person of very delicate sensibilities would be crushing might be little more than irritating to a man of a more callous type.

Punishment must be adjusted to the circumstances of each individual case.

The experience of the ages is that it is not the severity of the penalty but the certainty of it that most adequately prevents the commission of crime.

Speak Softly

But Carry a Big Stick.

From the Panama Canal comes further proof that preparedness for war is America's best policy.

Week by week the number of ships from the West Coast of South America bearing to Europe nitrates to be made into war munitions increases.

Even more significant is the also increasing traffic from east to west of ships bearing to Japan cargoes of scrap iron, steel, lead and cotton—all potential war material.

"Speak softly but carry a big stick," is still as good advice for this country as it was when another Roosevelt was President.

PETITION AGAINST PARTICIPATION In the LEAGUE OF NATIONS and World Court

If you want to save America from European entanglements and keep your country out of foreign wars, and foreign wars out of your country, sign this petition.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

We protest AGAINST the United States participating in the League of Nations or in the World Court of the League of Nations, with or without "reservations."

We petition our Federal Government to keep our United States "free from foreign affairs," as the Father of Our Country wisely enjoined.

We urge our Congress at Washington to keep our government from meddling in foreign affairs, and to keep foreign nations from meddling in our American affairs.

As loyal American citizens, we ask our loyal representatives to keep our country out of foreign conflicts and complications and to keep foreign conflicts and complications out of our country.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 9.—In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal: I like Kay Brush's term for the dilettante Lucius Beebe as "New York's most exquisite mug." At breakfast Col. F. said women and the Stock Exchange ruined more men than drugs and liquor. Inclined to agree.

At a dinner, sitting next to her, I found Mary Pickford of extraordinary charm, her conversational range wide and more than most actresses undeceived about the stability of the claque. Her emotions are typically Irish—in the clouds one day, the lowlands the next.

I finished Thomas Burke's "The Beauty of England." His darkling prose of Limehouse and its causeways better stuff. I'm ever promising to write vignettes of people I see in apartment house halls but always procrastinate. Sometimes I think I would muddle life even in Utopia.

Margaret Illington was not only a superb and adorable actress but how thoughtful always. We had a mutual gastronomic weakness — potato bread. Wherever she found it in her travels she sent a loaf or so. Her way with every one. It will be difficult for her Eddie to take up life again without her.

* * *

I tried excitedly to dial on the wireless Meredith Wilson's suite called "O. O. McIntyre," broadcast from San Francisco. The work is in three movements. The first "Thingumabobs," the second, "Thoughts While Strolling," and the third, "Local Boy Makes Good." Static prevented reception save for a few snatches and I was highly flattered. But I never "get" anything I want on the radio.

* * *

Irvin Cobb dropped by to read some clippings in the easy chair. He was in calm, lethargic humor, and when finished said something inconsequential and barged out. There were poeple here and I begin to suspect he has reached the point of shunning folk because they expect him to be funny. But little wonder! One story I've heard him tell of a Paducah character 50 times and each time funnier. Wisecracks die over night but a good story never stales. E. D. Coblentz's yarn of the Chinese wood-chopper, for instance. Or Charlie Russell's of mating the pumpkin vines. Or Montague Glass' of the Cockney doorman at Old Vic. Or Chic Sale's of the village hackman's new hack.

* * *

How capricious the average mortal's amusement taste. At one of those continental type of music halls I saw a turn I liked tremendously—a grotesque girl dancing with a comic sense of lazy rhythm. Something like Pugot at La Scala in Paris. I roared. No one else seemed to laugh and a lady suggesting Julia Hoyt eyed me through her lorgnette. The act laid an egg that night. Dawn Powell's "The Story of a Country Boy" establishes her in the top bracket of depicters of American life. Along with Sinclair Lewis, Charles G. Norris, Edna Ferber and Fannie Hurst.

* * *

Sunny days have a strolling urge. I like to saunter down Second avenue, the street pleasing me most in the Ghetto. Frequently I stumble upon a book. George Moore's "The Lake," par example. Reading exquisitely, but making no sense. I like the foreign smells, the dandies of the Yiddish stage who strut and tuxedoed head-waiters who stand in doorways at sundown, like George Rector in the old days at Olivier at Tour d'Argent. And that quaint bureau de tabac under the elevated where they sell tiny candle-like matches in hand-painted boxes and Voltaire's Candide in a yellow French paper back. I must take Hattie Belle Johnston there some time.

* * *

In the astonishing bizarrerie of theatrical first nights nothing intrigues me like the shirt fronts of Bernard Gimbel and Joe Moore, smooth expanses of white, stiffly crepitant. No matter how much they laugh, their shirt bosoms remain serene at the curtain drop. As though just taken out of the pink tissue of a French laundry. I never get beyond a smile and that drily at the theater, yet my shirt fronts after a play suggest a concertina designed by the mad King of Bavaria. Most amusing of the seasonal hilarities is the Hepburn girl, snatching at publicity Garbo-like, hiding from reporters and sneaking on a liner via third class. Apropos de rien!

It makes a woman mad for a man to pretend to believe her when she knows he knows she is lying to him.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

We've Forgotten How to Be Ourselves

I have never met Prince Iyesato Tokugawa; nor is there any indication that this important old gentleman has the slightest desire to meet me. But I'll tell the world right now that I'm for him a million. And if you ever need any little favors done, Neighbor Iyesato, here's one dizy blonde who'll leap to oblige. For, right at present, you control my entire vote—regardless of party or platform.

ALL BECAUSE YOU WOULDN'T "SMILE PRETTY" WHEN SO ORDERED!

Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, as you probably don't know, is a Plenty Important Person. For 30 years he was president of Japan's House of Peers, with side interests affecting most of the major problems in the entire universe. All of which has given him a grand chance to know how to play ball.

Recently he decided to take a rest—and another look-see at the rest of the world. Homeward bound, he stopped in San Francisco. Whereupon our camera boys descended en masse with the usual yelp:

Statistics are not immediately available, but it's a safe bet that many millions of important people have heard that request from newspaper camera men and responded immediately with the stereotyped grin. It is also a cinch that if anyone has ever refused to do so, it wasn't an American. For if anyone tells an American to "Look pretty, please!" he bares his bridgework without an instant's hesitation. But not so, the august visitor from Nippon.

"A nice big smile, now, Mister Toki," said Larry the lens fiend from the port side of his three-for-a-dime cigar, and prepared to shoot.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN AMERICAN NEWSPAPER HISTORY, N-O-T-H-I-N-G H-A-P-P-E-N-E-D!

Calmly, stolidly, Prince Iyesato Tokugawa surveyed Larry, and announced:

"I DO NOT LIKE TO SMILE."

And he didn't!

And if he'd dropped a bomb on the White House, he couldn't have handed this nation a meaner wallop in its sacred Status Quo.

For we're a queer people, we Yanks. We can exercise tons of ingenuity and originality if left alone on a desert island with nothing but a jack knife. But when it comes to social observances, we hold all world records for doing what the Other Fellow does — promptly, precisely and proudly. We're not only willing to Be Like Everyone Else, but we'd rather lose our shirt than not be.

Once the most rebellious and individual of nations, we have become the most stereotyped and conventional — regarding with suspicions, and humiliating and persecuting all those who do not conform to our petty "rule o' thumb." And each radio broadcast, each magazine advertisement, each popular fad, makes us more so.

We eat the same foods. We mouth the same opinions. We go the same places. Our houses are filled with identical gadgets for which we have really no personal desire. Our days are consumed by monotonous gestures, tiresome amusements, parisitic friends—all because we haven't the courage to discover and speak our own minds. As a consequence, our lives become as meaningless as the aimless whirling of a squirrel in its cage. We're all bored, discontented.

BECAUSE WE HAVE FORGOTTEN HOW TO "BE OURSELVES."

Banzai! Salute — and three cheers for you, Prince Iyesato Tokugawa! You knew what you wanted, and you had the courage to do it! How about sticking around for awhile and teaching the rest of us.

MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

When a Man Kids Himself

Whenever a popular celebrity of the masculine persuasion decides to take a flier in romance, or to trade his wife for a newer model there is always somebody ready to defend him on the grounds of "artistic temperament." He is "a Peter Pan, who just can't be tied down!" declares the sympathizer, "He can't HELP it!"

* * *

But, you'd be astonished to know how many men, with NO artistic temperament to alibi them, suddenly discover that they are "Peter Pans," just as they are reaching the dangerous age, when they begin to experiment with hair tonics and to contemplate letting their belts out a few notches.

Why is it, that the average man discovers that he is "a-boy-at-heart—and will never grow up," until the psychological moment, when he ought to slow down, cut out butter-fats and take the strain off his heart?

* * *

Why does he never suspect that he was born to be a lover, but never to be married, until it's almost time for him to begin worrying about his teeth and his arteries?

* * *

Why is he never aware that his wife is not all the inspiration he needs, until he has to put on distance glasses, when he goes to a show?

* * *

Why does he never discover that he has a "going foot" and is filled with the wanderlust, until it's almost time for him to settle down with a pipe and an old pair of house-slippers?

* * *

No man ever seems to feel "just like a boy," when he's twenty-five—he waits for that until he's forty-five. In his twenties and thirties, he takes life seriously and feels responsible and "aged."

* * *

Why does he wait until he ought to be setting a good example for the younger generation, to make the astonishing discovery that he's just "a butterfly playboy, in spirit?"

* * *

Women have been chided, lectured and laughed at, for centuries, for lying about their age, dyeing their hair and making up their faces, in the desperate attempt to be "sirens" forever.

* * *

But, while women do mourn the loss of their youth and beauty, no woman ever CLUTCHED at eternal youth as desperately as a man does! She may try to camouflage the marks of time and to fool others—but she doesn't attempt to fool HERSELF. No woman over 40 ever told herself that she was just a "little Alice-in-Wonderland." No full-grown woman ever thought of herself as a feminine replica of Peter Pan.

Peter-Panning himself is a man's way of kidding himself and trying to snatch a few more years of the glamour of youth—a-la-Faust.

* * *

Most of these "Peter Pans," like D'Annunzio, get over it eventually and come back to the Little Woman at home, chastened and subdued. But, by that time no other woman except a devoted wife would want to take care of their false teeth and rub their rheumatism.

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Chain

The debts I owe and cannot pay,
How more than strange it seems.
From many a distant yesterday
They come to haunt my dreams!

The counsel wise, the lifting hand,
The ebbing hope renewed,
The friendship that could understand,
The foolish pride subdued;

Ah, when have I these boons repaid
In coin of their kind?
My creditors from me have strayed
Down paths I cannot find!

Life's roads have borne them far away,
And death's roads farther yet;
But others plead to me today,
To them I pay my debt.

All life is linked; the hope and truth
From those I never paid
I give in turn to eager youth,
And thus the chain is made.

With the Dry Land Mostly Explored, Scientists and Adventurers Now Turn to the Sea's Bottom

By Edwin C. Hill

MAN has penetrated the secrets of the dry land and boldly ranged into the most distant and mysterious regions of the earth. There is little left to claim the adventurer on the five continents. But the old sea remains unconquered, hiding its secrets, veiling its mysteries. And the bottom of the sea, which covers six-sevenths of the surface of the globe, is the new wonderland which science and adventure are set to explore and to conquer.

One is minded of that when the news brings us the tale of remarkable discoveries made by the University of California. There is a double reason to explain the ocean's fascination for mankind:

A part of the sea is in our blood; and the resonance of the tides is the rhythm by which we were born. Biologists have analyzed blood and sea water and found in both, not only the same kind of water, but also the same salts in substantially the same proportions; hence, they have concluded that sea water is the mother medium from which blood descended.

Because part of the ocean is in our blood and its rhythm is the deep rhythm of our life-cycles, the surge and roar of the sea have always been music to human ears; but only recently have we begun to glimpse the wonderland beneath the waves. So Ransome Sutton reports in the Los Angeles Times.

* * *

Primeval Forests Are Found in Sea

WE now know that there are pastures in the seas, and deserts and primordial forests, which have hardly changed in a hundred thousand centuries. Because the waters did not change, the flora had no occasion to change. In the Pacific, off the shores of California, Curator P. S. Barnhart, of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, part of the University of California, found immense forests of kelps.

Standing on rock-bottom, some of the kelps rise, vine-like, higher than the tallest redwood trees. They throw out little bladders, filled with lighter-than-water gas, which uphold the trunk and support a vast intertangled array of branching foliage. A walk through one of these submarine jungles, beautiful beyond belief, would be like walking in a dream.

Here are uncaged menageries, almost unknown to zoologists, containing every fantastic antediluvian form of life imaginable, from anchovies to devilfish. There is also a Sahara in the middle of the Pacific, extending northward from the equator to the highway between this country and Japan. Within this immense desert, starved by lack of phosphorus, fishing does not pay; sensible fish frequent richer waters.

Light Fades Out At 200 Feet

PROF. BURT RICHARDSON has discovered that at two hundred feet the last rays glimmer out. Below two hundred feet the only lights are from the ghoulish denizens—generated electrically within their own bodies. It is the world's weirdest illumination, a cold light which man has not been able to produce.

Flower-like coral animals, dredged up by French naturalists, lighted the ship's laboratory "so that fine print could be read two hundred feet away." From coral creatures radiated ever-changing tones of purple, violet, blue, red, orange and green. At great depths the weight of the water is enormous—five tons to every square inch in Swire Deep.

The Venus Flower Basket is a deep sea sponge which a child could wreck, yet it flourishes under this tremendous pressure because, being porous, its whole body is permeated by water which presses out just as hard as it presses in. If this flower basket were raised instantaneously to the surface, it would explode. In like manner, if a land animal were dropped into the deeps, there would be an "implosion."

As neither light nor heat seeps deeper than a few hundred feet, the bottom is black and clammy cold—so cold that there are no bacteria, so the flesh rained down never rots; the ocean pickles it in cold storage until devoured piecemeal by the ghouls. Thus the sea is constantly giving life and taking life, in a cycle as old as the Creation.

President Badly Advised In Air Mail Action

By James T. Williams, Jr.

Truth will ever be unpalatable to those who are determined not to relinquish error.—E. W. Montague.

SLOWLY but surely the unpalatable truth about the series of blunders that have wrecked the Federal air mail, crippled American air transport and needlessly sacrificed so many of our heroic defenders who fly the colors, is coming to the surface.

The country-wide confidence in the high-mindedness and devoted intentions of President Roosevelt fortunately continues steadfast among the people.

But what the common sense of the plain people prevents them from forgetting is that no President is ever able at all times to protect himself from misinformation or from the bad advice of ill-informed or self-seeking advisers.

This is the rule of the Presidency. It is one of the reasons why no President has ever claimed to be infallible and why such a claim, if ever made, would not be supported by the people.

Critics Continue Loyal to President

THOSE Democratic Senators and Representatives in Congress who have ventured to criticize the cancellation, without due process of law, of all domestic air mail contracts, and to protest and deplore the blunders that have followed in the wake of the injustice, have not broken with the President and have no intention of breaking with him.

On the contrary, those sincere critics within the Democratic party are giving the President far more loyal and intelligent support than are those instigators of the administration's mistakes in regard to commercial aviation, who are now trying to "save their faces" and their political lives at the expense of the public interest and the President's leadership.

All this, the plain people are beginning to find out for themselves. They have not forgotten, for example, the opposition of the railroads to the enactment of those laws which fostered the development of commercial aviation.

As a result of the operation of the air commerce act and of the federal air mail act and its amendments, commercial aviation in this country became the eighth wonder of the world.

But this achievement was not due to the railroads. In fact, the record will show that the supremacy of commercial aviation in this country was achieved in spite of the railroads and in spite of the opposition their representatives were able to stir up in both houses of Congress against the legislation under which American air transport and the federal air mail were developed to a point where they surpassed all similar services elsewhere in the world.

Airways Opposed By Railroads

THE opposition of the railroad to the building and maintenance by the Federal government of the excellent system of Federal airways, which this country now possesses, is also a matter of record.

When the air commerce act was under discussion in Congress, the railroads insisted that building and maintaining these airways was not the function of the Federal government. The railroads would have preferred that the government perimt these airways to be developed by private enterprise under private control.

But the Congress took the contrary view. The Congress insisted that the seas and the sky belong to the public and as the Federal government provides and maintains lighthouses and other navigational facilties for ships at sea, so the Federal government should provide and maintain airways and the best possible navigational aids for ships of the air.

The fact that the railroads were opposed a few years ago to Federal aid for American air transport and for the Federal air mail, and the fact that travel by air was increasing by leaps and bounds until Postmaster General Farley cancelled all domestic air mail contracts last February, would seem to challenge the Congress to find out whether the railroads are involved in the reckless policy under which the Federal air mail has been wrecked, American air transports crippled, and commercial aviation dealt a staggering blow.
